1488. $ 5.

A N

ACCOUNT

OFTHE

EARL of Peterborow's

Conduct in SPAIN, &c.

ACCOUNT

Earl of Peterboron's CONDUCT

IN

SPAIN,

Siege of Barcelona, 1706.

To which is added the

Campagne of VALENCIA.

With Original PAPERS.

Fuisse patientem, suorumq; injurias serentem civium, quod se Patria irasci nesas esse duceret, HEC SUNT TESTIMONIA. Cum eum propter invidiam cives prasicere exercitui noluissent——eoq; errore eo esset deducta illa militum multitudo, ut omnes de salute pertimoscerent; desiderari capta est Epaminondæ diligentia.
Corn. Nep. in Vita Epaminondæ.

London, Printed for Jonah Bowyer, at the Rose in Ludgate-street. 1707.

ACCOLLY I Earl of Poor Darions CONDITION COLUMN fince the rating the Siege of Barcelona, 106 Campagne of the Sampagne of t

Enisse paiseness, subruma, injurius serentem einiam, quad se Patria irasei vestas else duceret

Hede SUNT TESTIMONIA. Cum eum propier in ridiam ciocs prascore enercitui nasuif fon—eng, errore to est tacdusta illa militum unitetudo, os omnes da salute pertimosceren: defiderari canta est Epatrinoudæ diligentia.
defiderari canta est Epatrinoudæ diligentia.
Cotta Nep in Vita Epatrinondæ.

London, Printed for Jones Brayer, At the enable of rough of the four Lordbin, some state of the st

CHARLES

En An Rolling of in of Peterborow and Monmouth, &c.

as Couragious Manaer, in which Tous conducted them. Had others enjoyed the lame opportunities I did, they must have had the food the MM. Tour I our I our for the for the law in the law in

A Mong the many Favours I received from Your Lordship in Spain, (which I am alike incurable of forgetting, and returning) that easiness of Access and noble Openness of Mind, which are so peculiar liar and engaging in Your Lordsbip, bave made the strongest Impressions upon me: for to these I owe the advantage of knowing Your Lordship; the only thing requisite to convince any one of Your great Capacity and Worth. By these means I was not only anear Witness of all those exis Hent Services that Tour Lordfield did for the Publick; but was also in some measure acquainted with the Motives, upon which You un-dertook them, and the Wife as well as Couragious Manner, in which You conducted them. Had others enjoy'd the same opportunities I did, they must have had the same in-ward Value for Your Lordship I bave: all attempts to obscure the Lastre of your great Actions would then have been vain and impotent; and the United I banks of your Country would eer this time have rendred any account of them unnecesfary.

their own case would care to see, It was for the Sake of those who bave been missed, and who, I hope, are not unwilling to be undecerved, that Tour Lordship was pleas'd to put some of Town Original Papers two my Hands. I now beg leave to return them to Your Lordsip with a few Observations; wherein if I have fail in doing justice to the subject, I shall not be much concern'd, since the subject is of such a nature, as to do Justice to itself. The Facts related in this Account are so important, and the Evidences of them so bright and glaring, that a bare representation of them (by bow unequal a band soever) must needs command the Esteem and Acknowledgment of every true English-man.

I do here therefore present Your Lordship with what few Men in their their own case wou'd care to see, but what Tour Lordship can respect upon with pleasure, A just and impartial Narrative of Your own Actions. Such I am sure I may call the following Account: which, desective as it is, Your Lordship out of Your natural Candour and Goodness will kindly accept from one, who is neither asham'd nor afraid to own himself,

Your Lordship's most oblig'd them to bright and glaving, that steeds immund the Bleene and Actionaledoment of every time Encernial fine the papell is of lieb a nature, as so do Fallice to itself. The and devoted Servant

1 bit | 20119)

John Freind.

riod't

i akkers at home, suppo

SIMO CONAN

ACCOUNT

OF THE

Earl of Peterborow's

Conduct in SPAIN,

Chiefly fince the raifing the

Siege of BARCELONA, 1706.

T was the constant Fate of the great Men of Rome and Athens, who had been eminently serviceable to their Country, to meet with very unsuitable Returns; and to find their best Actions abroad, traduc'd and set in false Lights by malicious and B unungrateful Men at home, who reap'd the Benefit of them. This has been remarkably the Cafe of the Earl of Peterborow; whose important Services in Spain, for which he deserves a Statue from the Publick, have in a most Barbarous manner been mis-represented, and consequently misun.

derstood here in England.

Such groundless and ridiculous Reports as have been spread on this Occasion, cou'd never have gain'd the least Credit, had his Lord ship's Friends been permitted to give the World an early Information of his Proceedings. But he was always extremely nice in that Point; and declar'd often, That if any Account of what had pass'd were necessary, he thought himself best able to give it, and wou'd not willingly be prevented by impersect Relations from from others. This filenc'd those who were otherwise well inclined to have done Justice to his Lord thip's Character, and were furnish'd with ample Materials for which has been actachodyng sant

Nor did they, who had been all along Eye-witnesses of his Lordship's indefatigable Application and unparallel'd Successes, and had closely observed all the Steps of his Conduct, think it possible that the idle Reports given out to his Lordflip's Difadvantage ; flou'd have prevailed fo fan, and made fo deep an Impression in the Minds of Men, as they find they have done fined their return to England do

My Lord Peterborow, looking back upon the great Advantages he had gain'd, and confeious of apprehensive that he shou'd sur-B 2 Wort fer fer in the Opinion of his Country-men. But at last, finding his mistake, gave his Friends leave to take all proper Occasions of vindicating his Reputation, which has been attack'd with so great Injustice; and in order to it, put into their Hands several attested Copies of Instructions, Orders and Letters, &c. with permission to make use of them, as they shou'd judge most for his Honour and Service.

I do therefore think my self at liberty to communicate some of these Papers to the World, and to accompany them with such Accounts of Things as my own Observation and Knowledge, and the frequent Opportunities I had of conversing with his Lordship, during my stay in Spain, have enabled me to give.

What

i fi

h

R

be

What Springs here in England gave motion to the new turn of Affairs in Spain, who were this noble Lord's Enemies, and upon what grounds, I think my felf not concern'd to enquire. My Business is only to do Justice to such Actions, as want only to be understood, in order to be valued; and to shew my Gratitude to One who has in the highest manner oblig'd me. And I choose to do it in such Points where Right may be done to my Lord, without reflecting any Dishonour upon any other English-man whatever.

I have often heard my Lord profels with that generous freedom which diftinguishes his Character, that he desir'd no Friend of his to embark in his Quarrels. And tho' I confess my Nature to be such, as to be wrought upon B 3 the the rather to engage for such a Declaration, yet my present De-fign will not lead me into any Disputes of that kind, were I never to much inclin'd to it. For the chief aim in this short Account, is to shew that his Lordthip, after he found all the great Things he had done were not able to procure Credit to his Advice, but that it was determin'd to change Hands and Measures, yet still perfished to do every thing that became him, towards forwarding those Defigns which he neither laid nor approv'd. And I think it will plainly appear from the course of this Relation, that nothing of that emulation and resentment, which his Lordship's Enemies objected to him, mix'd in his Conduct: Since he readily join'd and consulted with all that were in Command, after Foot; and endeavour'd to Support the Publick Interest in other Hands, with more diligence and more hazards, if possible, than when the Army and Fleet were under his own Direction and Government.

The Truth of this must be own'd by the Ministers of the King of Spain, the Marquess das Minas, Lord Galway, and the Count Noyaitles; with the last of which Generals my Lord Peterborow had an intire Correspondence in every Council and Confultation, from the time of the Count's coming into Spain, till he himself left it: Tho some have been pleas'd to produce this very General always for an Instance, that his Lordship could agree with none that were in Com-And whatever was the mand. B 4 occaoccasion of the change of our Fortunes in Spain, that it was not owing in any respect to the Earl of Peterborow, I am so thoroughly convinced, and can make it so clear to the World, that, considering my Obligations to his Lordship, nothing can excuse me from doing it. a dough odf

His Lordship's Qualifications for the great Enterprize he undertook, are too well known to be insisted on: They sufficiently appear from the Commissions with which he was entrusted; Commissions of as different a nature as Land and Sea, War and Peace, and which no Subject ever had yet at the same time. The only Thing I shall say more, is, That the Choice her Majesty made, was justify'd by the Event.

And whatever, was the -10000

first, and the preventing its being re-taken by the Enemy, were two Actions as Glorious in themselves, and of as great Consequences to the Common Cause, as any that have happened during this long and bloody War. The first of these was intirely and only owing to his Lordship's Personal Bravery and Conduct, nor had the latter been accomplish'd without it.

Tis not within the compass of what I propose, to relate the swift Progress and surprizing Success of his Lordship's Arms; this is a matter in which the World needs no Information. I shall mention only two Particulars that have not been rightly understood, viz. The Siege and the Desence of Barcelona.

has justly made so great a Noise Con-in the World, yet the Motives and Conduct of it, as far as I can fee, are little regarded, or perhaps known. His Lordship, upon Encamping before this City, found the Scene of Affairs quite otherwife, than what he was promis'd he shou'd meet with: Instead of 10000 Men in Arms to cover his Landing and strengthen his Camp, he faw only so many Higlers and Sutlers come into it; instead of a City in a weak condition and ready to Surrender upon the appearance of his Troops, he found an orderly Garrison in it, and a Force almost equal to his Army. In these Difficulties his Lordship, as he was oblig'd by his Instructions, call'd frequent Councils of War; wherein, Day after Day, for above a Fortnight together, it was often unanimously and always by a Majority agreed, That, conconfidering the weakness of our Forces, and the Brength of the Enemy; confidering our Batte-ries, as the Engineers declard, wou'd be almost as long a raising, on the lide of the Town we were Master's of, as the Fleet cou'd well stay: In short, considering the extreme Want of every thing necessary towards such an Attempt, the Siege was utterly impracticable. His Lordship indeed did twice give his Vote for the Undertaking; but from the following Councils of War 'twill appear, 'twas only out of the ex-treme Passion he had to comply with the King of Spain's Defires, and not out of any Opinion he had of fucceeding.

various, in Protence of riche la seppendiche de la

Maielly In Maiely des our Confident on whether confidering the weakness

At a Council of War, consisting of General Officers, held on Board her Majesty's Ship the Britannia, off Barcelona, Aug. 16th, 1705.

PRESENT

The Right Hon, the Earl of Peterborow, Major General Connyngham.

Major General Schratenbach.

The Right Hon the Earl of Donnegal.

Brigadier P. de St. Amant.

The Right Hon the Lord Vis. Charlemont.

Brigadier Richard Gorges.

Brigadier James Stanhope.

The Rt Hon the Lord Viscount Shannon.

Col. Hans Hamilton Qu, Master General.

Collonel Charles Wills, Adjutant General.

A Ta Council of War held on Board the Britannia, in Presence of his Catholick Majesty, it having been offer'd to our Consideration, whether the Siege of Barcelona ought to be undertaken, and the Opinions of every General neral Officer having been asked, they are come to this unanimous Resolution: That the said Siege could not only not be undertaken with any probable hopes of Success, but that the attempting it, would expose our little Army to such Hazards and Difficulties, as might make our Retreat impracticable. The General Officers supported this their unannimous Vote, by the sollowing Reasons.

Prince of Hesse, which makes the Garrison least, it consists of above 3000 Foot, and 800 Horse; that of all other Accounts which came to us, either by Deserters, or the People of the Town who came to join us, and expressed the most earnest Desire that we should attack the Town, none made it less than 5000 Men, but most say fix or seven. That our Army consists at this time of no more than seven thousand Men in Health, and sit for Service tack are in very good Condition, but the Ground thro' which our Attack must be carried, is for the most part a Bogg, thro' which it will be impossible to March our Cannon, and where our Trenches must be fill'd with Water

That the Engineers, whose Business it would be to manage this Siege, are fo fentible of this Inconvenience, and the insuperable Difficulties which would attend the regular Approach, that they gave up all thoughts of proceeding according to the usual Methods, and Forms of War; and if the Town is to be Attack'd, propose it may be by ere-Ging a Battery of Campon, at between 6 or 700 Paces distance from the Curtain, in which they propose to make a Breach, and when hich as Breach is made to ha weit Storm'daidw annoon A

This Project, which alone they think our little Number of Men cap enable us to attempt, they confess will be liable tack the Tossislusiffic Enivoles advos

That the Men who are regive the Affault, must Manch to it uncover'd about feven Hundred Paces Junder the Fire of three Bactions and of the co. ver'd Way, which they confess cannot by fuch a Bastery be defroy'd, no more than the two Flanks, thuo which this Affault must be given in That the Bromy will probably plant Palli Cadoes in the Ditch, which we shall never come to see with our Cannon; so that our Men to carry the Town by Storm, will be under a Necessity of gaining the cover'd Way, cutting down the Pallisadoes. and mounting the Breach at one time. under the Fire already mention'd.

For the working at this Battery, carrying Fascines for it, bringing up the Cannon and Ammunition, fo great a number of Workmen are necessary, as cannot be spar'd by our little Army, tho' no Guard were to be mounted to fupport this Battery. That of our Dragoon-Horses, from which some Assistance might have been hop'd for this Service, not one Hundred and Twenty are in a Condition to go. That if, by the Affistance of some Seamen, and of fome of the Country People, our Battery might be put in a Condition to make a Breach, we have great Reason to believe, that before we can be ready. to give an Affault, the Garrison may be confiderably Reinforc'd both from Madrid, where we know they have a thoul, and or twelve hundred Horse; and, from the Frontiers of France, which are, but 35 Leagues distant; and 'tis well known an Army five times as strong as ours, would not be sufficient to invest SHIV

16 The E. of Peterborow's

the Place, and to prevent Succours go-

When to carry the lown by stolunging That if our whole Army, which we must expect to be considerably diminished in three Weeks time, should in fuch Circumstances resolve to Attack an equal number of regular Troops, under the Difficulties already mention'd. and should be repuls'd, which is most probable, it would in fuch a Cafe be found Impracticable, not only to draw off our Cannon, but even to carry off the remainder of our Men, who would be pushed not only by the regular Troops, but even by those, who finding themselves desperate, by having join'd us, would in all Probability be very glad to make their Peace at Home by affifting to deftroy us. 100 ont 10 one

That the bold, and almost desperate Attempts, have fometimes been undertaken with Success, yet are they never by Choice, but the effect of Despair, and to get out of some great Difficulty; whereas these Troops are at this Time under no Necessity, which obliges them to desperate Attempts, since other very confiderable Services, and fuch as by Her Majesty's Instructions seem to be thought at least of equal Importance with

er

re E

th

Q

en

ne

ch

an his

Ge

Tr

to

with this of Barcelona, may still be purfued: Such is particularly that of Italy, and supporting the Duke of Savoy. The Earl of Peterborow has likewise propos'd and offer'd to his Majesty to March by Land, along the Sea Coast, where, with the Countenance and Assistance of the Fleet, many Towns of Confequence might be reduc'd, the whole Country disposed to declare for, and pay Obedience to his Catholick Majesty, as some part of the Neighbouring Parts have already done; and upon any reasonable Encouragement from this Province, and those of Valentia and Arragon, Winter-Quarters may be fecur'd, and a Body of Troops raised out of them, which might enable his Majesty to March to Madrid next Spring.

Either of these Services we do most chearfully offer to go upon, or indeed any other which may be proposed by his Majesty, which shall not expose both the Honour of the Queen's and States-General's Arms, and the Body of the Troops, which we are intrusted with,

to utter Deltruction.

bnood a car A true Copy c per A. Furly.

on ite

At a Council of War, confifting of General Officers, held at Major General Schratenbach's Quarters, in the Camp before Barcelona, Aug. the 22d, 1705.

PRESENT

The Right Hon. the Earl of Peterborow.
Major General Connyngham.
Major General Schratenbach.
The Right Hon. the Earl of Donnegal.
Brigadier P. de St. Amant.
The Right Hon. the Lord Vis. Charlemont.
Brigadier Richard Gorges.
Brigadier James Stanhope.
The Rt. Hon. the Lord Viscount Shannon.
Col. Hans Hamilton Qu. Master General.
Colonel Charles Wills, Adjutant General.

Aving well weighed and debated the King of Spain's two Letters dated of this Day, and upon a second Consideration (as his Majesty desir'd)

te

of his Speech on board the Britannia, and well examined all our Circumstances, and those of the Garrison :

It is propos'd to this Council of War to give their Votes, whether a real and vigorous Attack on this Place, by erecting a Battery of fifty Pieces of Cannon against the Courtain, in order to the bringing on the speediest Assault possible on the Breach, shall be undertaken, or can be made with hopes of Success? Which pass'd in the Negative.

Hen, Connyngham. Richard Gorges Charles Wills. Shannon.
P. de St. Amant. Charlemont.
Donnegal. B. de Schratenbach.
James Stanhope H. Hamilton

The Earl of Peterborow gave his Vote in the Affirmative, for the following Reasons.

Peterborow.

Because I am sensible that the Queen my Mistress, besides the Engagements of Treaties, and the Motives of publick Interest, has a most particular and tender Friendship for the King of Spain;

therefore, as I think it Expedient to pay him the utmost Respect, in complying as far as possible with his Desires, in any Attempt wherein there is the least hopes of Success, after having, as in Duty bound, with all Sincerity and Plainness represented to him the Difficulties and Hazards to which he exposes his Interest, and the Troops of the Queen and her Allies.

Because that his Majesty persisting with so much sirmness in his Opinion about Barcelona, upon a belief the Town would surrender it a Breach was made: This may create some Dispute in the World, what might have been the Event, which nothing but Experience can demonstrate, what-ever Reasons some may have to judge the contrary, and it may be thought by some our Duty to have tried the Experiment, tho at the greatest hazard.

Lastly, because no other Reason but plain disobedience to her Majesty's Orders, should have hindred me from complying with any Commands, that came from his Catholick Majesty. But the Queen has repeatedly commanded me, in all my Instructions, to be guided in Councils of War by a Majority, even

in

п

0

n

be

in express Words, in those Cases where the Kings of Spain and Portugal or their Ministers should offer any thing in Writing to me; which Orders I communicated to his Catholick Majesty, as all my other Instructions, and I had often opportunity of repeating them before the Ministers of the King of Spain, the King of Portugal, and the English and Dutch Ambassador and Envoy. Being thus fetter'd by fuch politive Orders, which I must comply with, this has again made me offer the Kings Propofals about Barcelona, and use my utmost Efforts to gain the confent of a Council of War, declaring then, as I do now, that I would most willingly engage in any attempt which could have been agreed to in a Council of War, having received his Majesty aboard the Fleet, with a Resolution to serve and obey him in all things in my Power.

1

e

e

e

n

per A. Furly.

C ;

At a Council of War, August 25th, 1705.

Am of Opinion that attacking of Barcelona for eighteen Days is throwing away Time and the Troops, and therefore give my Vote against it.

Hans Hamilton.

I cannot agree with the Kings Propofal in Attacking Barcelona for eighteen Days, for that I think is to beliege the Place in Form, and I have already given my Opinion to the contrary in Writing.

Shannon.

I am of the fame Opinion

Charlemont. Rich. Gorges. Charles Wills.

Je subsigne Je suis d'Opinion d'accorder ce que sa Majeste Souhaite, pour les dix buit Jours qu' on travilleroit d' attaquer Barcelone le 5 de Sept. 1705.

P. de St. Amant.

I am of Opinion to agree with the Kings desire for carrying on the Attack against Barcelona for eighteen Days.

P. de St Amant.

I suis du meme Sentiment.

of

is s, q

James Stanhope.

I am of the same Opinion.

James Stanhope.

Whether the Siege of Barcelona shall be undertaken or no,

I give my Vote in the Affirmative.

Peterborow.

I am of Opinion that the Siege of Barcelona ought not to be undertaken, for the Reasons I have already sign'd to, and that the Armies remaining here eighteen Days, may make a good Retreat Impracticable, or at least so far waste the Army and Time, as to render all other Attempts impossible; but am ready to obey all such Orders, as

24 The E. of Peterborow's

I shall receive from my superiour Officers.

August 25th

Hen. Connyngham. Donnegal.

Je me tiens a mes primiers Advis de ne point s'attacher à la Place de Barcelone, voyant que c'est une Chose impossible de reussir ayant besoin le 18 Jours que sa Majeste souhaite pour commencer, et que je ne hassardera pas les Troupes de leur Haute Puissances; Mais simy Ld. Peterborow me l'ordonne de son Chef, Je m'y trouverois au Camp devant Barcelone. Ce Sept. 5 1705.

W. Baron de Schratenbach.

I continue in my former Opinion against Attacking Barcelona; thinking it impossible to succeed, since the time of 18 Days, which his Majesty desires, is barely sufficient to begin the Siege; and I will not hazard the Troops of the States. But if my Lord Peterborow will take it upon himself, I will assist him in it.

W. Baron de Schratenbach.

per A. Furly.

At a Council of War, confifting of General Officers, held at the Earl of Peterborow's Quarters in the Camp before Barcelona, Aug. 26th Q. S. 1705.

PRESENT

The Right Hon. the Earl of Peterborow.
Major General Connyngham.
Major General Schratenbach.
The Right Hon. the Earl of Donnegal.
Brigadier P. de St. Amant.
The Right Hon. the Lord Vis. Charlemont.
Brigadier Richard Gorges.
Brigadier James Stanhope.
The Rt. Hon. the Lord Viscount Shannon.
Col. Hans Hamilton Qu. Master General.
Collonel Charles Wills, Adjutant General.

Since the King of Spain is resolved to lay the whole Stress of his Affairs upon making an Attempt on Bargelona for eighteen Days (specified in his his Letter to us) notwithstanding all our unanswerable Arguments to the contrary at three several Councils of War, and the we have Reason to sear the Result will too much justify our Opinions, yet in regard that our General, the Earl of Peterborow, has comply'd with the Kings Desire, as likewise the Brigadiers St. Amant, and Stanbope, and that we are extreamly pressed to do the same by the King and his Ministers, who still continue to give positive assurance of their Intelligence from the Place, being resolved that no blame be imputed to us:

We are willing to comply with the Kings Desire for the abovemention'd Attempts; tho' at the same time we must express our Concern, that this Undertawill debar us of all suture Services for this Campaign.

It is evident to this Council of War, by the Demands from the Engineers, and the Opinions of all the General Officers, that this attempt cannot be made with less than five thousand Men on Duty every Day, to Work and Guard the Trenches; that of this Number our Army, not exceeding seven thousand Men, including the eleven hundred Marines, rines, besides the Dragoons and Guards, cannot furnish above two thousand five hundred; that this Service absolutely requires two thousand five hundred Men daily out of the Fleet and Miquelets, and we desire the Admirals (having promis'd their utmost Assistance) to let us know whether they can surnish sisteen hundred Men per Day. And whereas they have promis'd to assist this undertaking with sisty two Battering Guns, it is understood all things thereunto belonging must be surnished with the Gunners and Men.

per A. Furly.

At a Council of War, consisting of General Officers, held at Major General Connyngham's Quarters in the Camp before Barcelona, Aug. 28. 1705.

PRESENT

The Right Hon, the Earl of Peterborow.

Major General Connyngham.

Major General Schratenbach.

The Right Hon, the Earl of Donnegal.

Brigadier P. de St. Amant.

The Right Hon, the Lord Vis. Charlemont.

Brigadier Richard Gorges.

Brigadier James Stanhope.

The Right Hon, the Lord Visc. Shannon.

Col. Hans Hamilton Qu. Master General.

Collonel Charles Wills, Adjutant General.

Aving overcome the highest Difficulties in submitting our Judgments, declar'd in three Councils of War, supported with undeniable Reasons fons, to His Majesty's Pleasure, and the Inclinations of our General, provided we had been assisted as in the last Council of War we desir'd, we are consident His Majesty will allow we gave even a most unreasonable mark of our Respect, having consented to expose the Troops under our Care to visible Ruin, without any prospect of Success, and against all the Rules of War.

We have been delay'd by Disappointments in all we were made to expect, wanting Men and Time to carry on the Siege, and diverted by feveral Refolutions intimated from His Majesty, sometimes for a March, sometimes for a Siege, fo little provided with Intelli-gence from the Place, that we were oblig'd to Land the Forces without the least Advice, and that made an Argument for an Attempt against a Town, with a Garrison near as strong as our felves, without any Correspondence in it fuitable to what has been told, which Siege must require more than two third parts of our Men on Duty every Day, by the demand of our Engineers.

And having notice from Admiral Wassanaer of the positive time of the departure of the Dutch Ships, some Days before before which the Dutch General assures us he will embarque his Troops, and the Engineers not undertaking to make a Battery even in that time, fince the Fleet, besides the Marines, which in all our Computations of the Strength of the Army, we had reckon'd upon to compose a part of it, are notable to furnish towards carrying on our Works above nine hundred Men, of which, only three hundred can work each Day, instead of 1500 for daily Service, as we had defird; fo that the whole affiftance that the Fleet can give, being added to the number of effective Foot we have now fit for Service, including the Battalion of Guards, will make in all but 8515 Men, out of which 5000 Men must be daily employ'd, either to work at or guard the intended Trenches and Battery.

And, fince eight Deputies of the Catalans did declare to the Earl of Peterborow, that they would not promise any number of Men to work at our Trenches and Batteries, or in any Place where they shou'd be expos'd to Fire, which they faid cou'd not be expected from undisciplin'd Country-People:

And, whereas we express'd in our last Council of War, that our highest Concern was, that we should be disabled from pursuing any other real Service, by staying to endeavour to make a fruitless

Attempt:

And, feeing our general Instructions are explained, and the first Services intended so plainly directed anew in several Letters signifying Her Majesty's Pleasure: It is the unanimous Opinion of this Council of War that the propos'd Attempt on Bancelone for eighteen Days cannot be made, but that the Forces be immediately embarqu'd for the probable Service, and the Support of the Duke of Savoy.

paied not a taper A. Furly in emol guid doing to me a dence a virthour doing to me.

thing, choferather to truft to the good nature of his Genery, which he hoped would predom his factoreding in to containable and Adrion, the motent fit his under-

Action, the fact in thy under-

Arther Love now made use on-of his over droughts; and by

Thus we see it was resolved to embarque all the troops for Savoy, which indeed was the first design of his Lordship's Expedition. But the King of Spain taking a sudden resolution to stay by his Catalans, his Lordship faw himself reduc'd to this Dilemma, either to go Home without attempting any thing, or take this attempt upon himself, contrary to the opinion of the General Officers and consequently to po-fitive Instructions. His Lordship, who never car'd for being a General without doing something, chose rather to trust to the good nature of his Country, which he hop'd wou'd pardon his fucceeding in so considerable an Action, tho' not strictly undertaken by a formal order. My Lord therefore now made use only of his own thoughts; and by an an uncommon artifice made that never to be forgotten attack upon fort Monjuick, the very foundation of all our footing in Spain. This, I know, some wou'd attribute to the late Prince of Hesse: That brave Prince indeed had too great a share in the danger of this undertaking; but as he had no Command in the Army, so he was not in the least concern'd in the forming of this Design.

Those that remember matters of fact so well known in soreign Parts and to so many thousand then present, cannot but read with surprize in Annals p. 146. year the 4th of Her Majesty's Reign, taken (as is pretended) from papers of publick authority, representations so salfe and so injurious to the reputation of this Noble Lord: As if a diminution of his indif-

D

putable fervices were to be the only reward of fuch hazards run, and fuch fuccess obtain'd for the publick of months

The injudicious, or rather impossible, proposals made by the Prince of Helle, and infifted upon by him to the last, were the occasion of those unanimous Councils of War against an enterprize which promis'd fuch certain ruin : and the freedoms taken in discourse by that Prince had prevented any correspondence, for some time, between him and the Earl of Peterborows. So far was this Project against Monjuick from being propos'd by that Prince to his Lordship, that gin truth the Earl of Peterborges was forced to make it an fecret even to the Court; where refentments were very publick and remarkable, upon . 0 orders -UG

ry hi to th

for ad

hii pe En

fur ter wa

ca:

up ow

had uni

rag

Po

orders to embarque the artillery and the King's baggage, which his Lordship gave out the better to disguise his real design. Nay, the excuse the Earl of Peterborow made to the Prince of Heffe, for inviting him to affift in an action he cou'd not yet acquaint him with, was, that the indifpensible necessity of deceiving the Enemy had made him resolve to surprize his Friends in an attempt, which however desperate, was yet the only possible way of carrying on the Siege with success. All I shall observe further upon this Head is, That 'twas own'd by all who were there, that had not his Lordship shewn an unexampled Vigour and Courage, and expos'd himself more than perhaps became one in his Post, the Efforts of the Enemy and the mistakes of some of his own own people had put this important enterprize beyond all retrieve. So that 'twill be the least justice that can be done to his Lordship on this occasion to say, That sew Generals cou'd have accomplish'd what he did, and that sewer, considering his circumstances, wou'd have attempted it.

They who were fo ready to attribute the Honour of taking Barcelona to any rather than to the Earl of Peterborow, wou'd with equal justice deny his Lordship to have had any share in the relief of it, imputing the intire preservation of that place to the timely arrival of the Fleet. This no doubt was very feafonable and fortunate, and what his Lordship was indefatigably industrious in hastning: But confidering that the Enemy had for two DIVID on real fau was take eat got fur qui ver Lo fhi

taş

an

C

tik

th

bn

tw

pra

pre

the

or

or-

re-

aft

his ıy,

IC-

at

med

to ng

to

'd

d-

ne

re

ne

is le

is

1-

-

r

0

two days before this made a practicable Breach, let any unprejudic'd man judge, whether the appearance of our Fleet upon the Coast, cou'd be the only reason of preventing their asfault; nay, mather, whether it was not a reason for them to attack the Town, as they might eafily have done, with more vigour and dispatch. The Terror fure must come from some other quarter: And I think we may very impartially affign it to my Lord Peterborow's being posted in the Mountains with a few Troops of his own, and a good number of Miquelets; which his Lordship disposed of to that advantage, as to cut off the Enemy from any communication with the Country, hinder all their parties from fallying out, and give them continual alarms and unbns eafieafiness in their Camp. If they had made an Attack upon the Town, they had good reason to fear they might be Attack'd themselves at the same time from the Mountains : And they were unwilling to venture the diforders that might have happened to their Army, which they defign'd for other Services as 1 too plainly appear'd foon after welt must be confess'd, that my Lord had but a very few regular Troops with him: But those who have had a thousand opportunities of being acquainted with his dexterity in furprizing, and his peculiar Art of managing weak Instruments to elude and confound the force of a strong Enemy, will eaftly be convinc'd that the Appearance he made and the Alarms he gave from the hills, was not the effect of Chance and

Filet

hey

the

to k'd om

ere

or-red

de-

00

It

rd

lar

ose

or-

th

hd

ng

id

ığ

d

le

le

e

d

and Hurry, but the pure result of a good Conduct: And that to his unwearied Vigilance and uncommon Stratagems, we owe, in a great measure, the Infatuation our Enemies were then posses'd with.

Perhaps it may be no difagreeable entertainment to the Reader, if I shou'd make a short comparison of these two Sieges of Barcelona: The Actions being both of em extreamly remarkable for the difference not only of the Event, but of the circumstances the Armies were in when they enter'd upon the Siege, and of the Methods which they us'd in carrying it on.

When it was attack'd by Her Majesty's Arms, the Success was every where despair'd of; and the Attempt oppos'd by many Councils of War: nor without reason, since the Garrison was double our number in Horse, and almost equal in Foot; And the English Army, unprovided of Artillery and all things else which are thought necessary where a Siege is in good earnest intended, was in a manner supply'd with

D 4 reason,

C

b

Cert

was in a manner supply'd with nothing but from our Fleet.

But when the French attack'd it, they had a Royal Army, encouraged by the presence of a King, led by a Mareschal of France, and counteranc'd by the France, and countenanc'd by the Fleet under the command of the Lord High Admiral, The Success was presum'd certain all over the World, and insur'd by the most famous Engineer of France; not without very good grounds, for their preparations of all kinds were equal to such hopes: Their Army was numerous, not less than 24000, their their reafon, D 4 their Troops in good condition, and the quantity of Warlike Stores with which they were furnisht for that Siege, almost incredible. We may judge of the rest by the Artillery they lest behind em upon their Retreat, which was upwards of 100 Brass Canon his for Battery, and mount-ed, upon the proper Field-Car-

The circumftances of the two Armies that Leverally fat down before this place being founlike, the Methods by which they attack'd it must needs be very different. The very Works thrown up by the French wou'd have destroy'd the Earl of Person terborow's Army in labour and fatigue alone. For they begun their Trenches from the bottom of Monjuick-hill at the distance of twice Musket-shot, and continued the Fort with 50 pieces of Cannon, and lost 3000 of their best men in taking that Citadel, which the Earl of Peterborow secur'd with little loss in less than an hour. And besides these Works at Monjuick, they carried on their Intrenchments to a vast length, all along the West-side of the Town; and finish'd them with such regularity and exactness, as if they had design'd to secure them against the infilits of the strongest Army.

When the English belieg'd the City, they were scarce more than 7000 in number, and 'twas necessary that even this little Body shou'd be divided into two Camps, so situated as not to be able to relieve one another under three Leagues march, round by the soot of the mountains: so that the

the Garrison had double the Force of either part of our Army. This was the only contrivance by which the sitting down of such a handful of men, not capable of surrounding the Town, could have had the effect of a regular Investment.

The disposition of these two small Bodies was thus happpily order'd: That on one fide in the plain was cover'd by a Fort just on the edge of the Sea, and great retrenchments were carried on to a little Village, where the walls of fome Gardens and a River gave fecurity to the right of the Camp; and the Waters upon occasion might be made use of to render the flat Grounds between them and Barcelona almost unpassable. That on the other fide was plac'd in a little Valley betwixt Hills fo that the within small-shot of the walls, the Enemy cou'd only incommode us by the random-shot of their Biscayne musquets. The Works leading from the little Camp betwixt the Mountains to the Battery were so inconsiderable that two High-ways supplied almost the use of Trensches; which were reliev'd with those different faints and diffigures, that we lost very few Men in changing the Guards.

To conclude, the day before the Capitulation the whole Army had orders for a general Attack, and no one Man was exempt from his share in that hazardous action. The the Garrison, upon a view of this desperate resolution, prevented it by an immediate surrender.

in a little Valley betwixt Hills oit

All Europe wonder'd at this Event, and what opinion they, who were the nearest Witnesses and most concern'd in the consequences of it, had of my Lord's Bravery and Conduct, may appear by the following Letter of his Catbolick Majesty; a Letter, which I take leave to Reprint here, since it is not more remarkable for the matter of it, than for being so soon forgotten.

is vely because this happy success is the effect of your drins always plots out, so the paire more vely the focus of the focus you have doring velocity contribute to the advancement of the advancement s must do this justice of all the Ore floors and Corangon Souldies, and particularly to my Lord Personal, that he has they me this whole Expedition a Confiance, Bravery and Conductivity thy of the choice that your Magester by has made of him, and this he could King Charles's Letter to the Queen of Great Britain.

Madam my Sister,

Should not have been fo long e'er I did my felf the Honour to repeat the affurances of my fincere Refpects to you, had not I waited for the 'good Occasion which I now acquaint you with, that the City of Barcelona is furrendred to me by Capitulation. I doubt not but you will receive this great News with intire Satisfaction; as well because this happy Success is the effect of your Arms always glorious, as from the pure motives of that Bounty and Paternal Affection you have for me, and for every thing which may contribute to the advancement of my Interest.

'I must do this Justice to all the Officers and Common Souldiers, and particularly to my Lord Peterborow, that he has shewn in this whole Expedition a Constancy, Bravery and Conduct worthy of the choice that your Majefty has made of him, and that he could 6 t

6 4

"(

40

6 t

6. je

· I

· I

(p

C E

6 h

6 1

· V

(

, 0

60

' ti

. 0

6

P

6B

'd

no ways give me better Satisfaction than he has by the great Zeal and Application which he has equally testified for my Interest, and for the Service of my Person. I owe the same justice to Brigadier Stanbope for his great Zeal, Vigilance, and very wife Conduct, which he has given proofs of upon all Occasions: As also to all your Officers of the Fleet, particularly to your worthy Admiral Shovel, affuring your Majefty, that he has affifted me in this Expedition with an inconceiveable Readiness and Application, and that no Admiral will be ever better able to render me greater Satisfaction than he has done. During the Siege of Barcelone fome of your Majesty's Ships, with the assistance of the Troops of the Country have reduced the Town of Tarragona, and the Officers are made Prisoners of War. The Town of Girone has been taken at the fame 'time by furprize by the Troops of the Country. The Town of Lerida has 'submitted, as also that of Tortosa upon, the Ebro; fo that we have taken all the Places of Catalonia, except Roses. Some Places in Arragon near Sarragoffa have declar'd for me, and the Garrison of the the Caffle of Denia in Valentia have maintain'd their Post, and repuls'd the Enemy; 400 of the Enemies Cavalry have entred into our Service, and a great number of their Infantry have deferted. This, Madam, is the State that your

6 it

th

fo

th

· VC

M

or

'th

'ag

" W

'in

'th

· M

at

· Ca

an

'ab

dil

'ag

as

· ble · Ca

'tv

Dr

wi Br

' ma

Ar

Arms, and the inclination of the People have put my Affairs in. It is unnecessary to tell you what stops the course of these Conquests; it is not the Seafon of the Year, nor the Enemy, these are no obstacles to your Troops, who defire nothing more than to act under the Conduct that your Majesty has appointed them. The taking of Barcelona with fo small a number of Troops is very remarkable, and what has been done in this Siege is almost without example. That with 7 or 8000 Men of your Troops, and 2000 Miquelets, we should furround and invest a Place, that 30000 French could not block up.

After a March of 13 hours, the Troops climb'd up the Rocks and Precipices to attack a Fortification stronger than the Place, which the Earl of Peterborow has fent you a Plan of: Two Generals with the Granadiers attack'd

e

y

2

e

r

)-

e

e,

y

f

f

1

it Sword in Hand, in which Action the Prince of Heffe died gloriously after fo many brave Actions: I hope his Brother and his Family will always have vour Majesty's Protection ... With 800 Men they forc'd the Cover'd Way. and all the Intrenchments and Works, one after another, till they came to the last Work which surrounded it, 'against 500 Men of regular Troops which defended the Place, and a Re-'inforcement they had receiv'd; and three Days afterwards we became 'Masters of the Place. We afterwards 'attack'd the Town on the side of the 'Castle, We landed again our Cannon and the other Artillery with inconceiv-'able Trouble, and form'd two Camps distant from each other three Leagues; 'against a Garrison almost as numerous 'as our Army, whose Cavalry was double the strength of ours. The first 'Camp was fo well intrench'd that ''twas defended by 2000 Men and the 'Dragoons, whilst we attack'd the Town with the rest of our Troops. Breach being made we prepar'd to 'make a general Assault with all the 'Army: These are Circumstances, Abas obsmis and Er sarited Madam, Madami, whichidistinguish this Action perhaps from all others. To some I on 1

Y 4 B

C

6 e

' n

· lo ti

· y

Y · k

4 ne . 1

" CC

'y

tl.

" fn

· 01

, bc

m

'ne

P tl

W

· Here has happen'd an unforefeen Accident: The Cruelty of the pretended Viceroy, and the report spread abroad, that he would take away the Prifoners contrary to the Capitulation, provok'd the Burghers and fome of the Country

People to take up Arms against the Garrifon, while they were bufie in packing up their Baggage, which was to be fent away the next day; fo that everything rended to Slaughter; but your Majeffy's Troops entring into the Town with the Barl of Peterboron instead of seeking Pillage, a practice common upon such Occasions, they appeas'd the Tumult, and have fav'd the Town, and even the Lives of their Enemies, with a Discipline and Gene-Folity without example. Van A 1100

What remains is, that I return you my most hearty Thanks for fending fo great a Fleet, and fuch good and valiant Troops to my Affiftance. After fo happy a beginning I have thought it proper, according to the Sentiments of your Generals and Admirals, to support by my Prefence the Conquelts that we have made, and to ' fhow no

en

ed

d.

TS

ď

ry

he

in

as

at ut

to 910 ce

D-

he ir

eu

d

f.

re

ne

1-

e

0

how my Subjects, fo Affectionate to my Person, that I cannot abandon them. I receive such Succours from your Majesty and from your Generous Nation, that I am loaded with your Bounties, and am not a little concern'd to think, that the support of my Interest should cause so great an 'expence. But, Madam, I sacrifice my Person, and my Subjects in Cata-'lonia expose also their Lives and Fortunes upon the assurances they have of 'your Majesty's generous Protection. Your Majesty and your Council knows better than we do what is 'necessary for our Conservation. We 'shall then expect your Majesty's Suc-'cours with an intire Confidence in your Bounty and Wisdom. A further force is necessary: we give no 'fmall diversion to France, and without doubt they will make their ut-'most Efforts against me as soon as 'possible; but I am satisfied, that the same Efforts will be made by my Allies to defend me. Your Goodness, Madam, inclines you, and your Power enables you, to support those Tyranny of France that the would oppress. All that I can insi-E 2

The E. of Peterborow's

nuate to your Wisdom and that of your Allies, is, that the Forces employ'd in this Country will not be unprofitable to the publick Good, but will be under an Obligation and Neces-fity to act with the utmost Vigour 'against the Enemy. I am,

With an inviolable Affection, Respect, and most sincere Acknowledgment,

From the Camp at Senia before Barcelona, the 22d

Madam, my Sifter, of October, 1709. Your most Affectionate

PARTY WITH DUR

Land World Chic

Brother,

the

find

con

the

tle

as this all

thro

fters

foor that on . the

and

Kin

WOL

upo tho

was celor ficie fron

1111

So the fabour par CHARLES.

I well in the land of the week If of 1-

e

it

f-

11

*

If we go on now to confider the relief of Barcelona, we shall find the Earl of Peterborow's conduct as steady, as it was in the taking it, and perhaps as little understood For in this, as in most of the Events of this War, his Lordship overcame all the Obstacles that cou'd be thrown in his way by the Ministers of the Spanish Court. As soon as his Lordship perceiv'd that the Enemies Defign was upon Barcelona, he order'd some of the Troops in Lerida to march and reinforcethat Garrison: The King, who was perfuaded they wou'd rather make an Attempt upon Lerida, countermanded those Orders of my Lord, and was so little apprehensive of Barcelona's being in danger, tho fufficiently warn'd of it by Letters from his Lordship, that when HINT the Enemy was within 5 Leagues of the Town, his Majesty had but 500 Men in it la My Lord, in like manner, was follicited by the Court to abandon Wateh cia, in order to secure Catalonia; and by the most pressing Letters and Commandsp he was urg'd to fuch unthis and slamboffible At cempts that the thave provide the dertain rain of the Forces under his Gommand and ithe lofs of the King's Performen Burlinsall thefe diffracting dand defperm Cafes, his Lordship nor only took the proper Resolutions burning a Prudence fortunate to himself, as well as the Publick; brever omitted to fecure, the unanimous Contene lofy allting Councils of War, and gave in Writing before handothe Realons which mever failed logd being justifyedy by the from his Lordinip; thatemelven the * While

d

1

S

-11

A

M

th

P

C

Fi

M

de

While Baroelona was encompass'd by Land and Sea (after the loss of Fort Monjuick) his Lordthip found methods to thing 590 Men into the Town, which was thought humanely impossible: And he brought the Forces which so much contributed to the velief of the City, without abandoning Valencia, or any foot of Ground that he had gain'd in Spain He maintain'd his Post upon the Hills, for near a Fortnight, with about 3500 Men, ne-Mer aboye a League or two from the Enemy; which he kept in perpetual Alarms. And by the constant Vigilance he usid, and the exact Intelligences he procur'd the continued in the Neighbourhood of fugh an Army to the last; till he made a March of about feven Leagues with fo critical a Disposition, that alderab ies ad

in by en-

ia;

ers

TO

At-

thè

der

of all

atte

odk ith el.

vět

dés

orbf

ne.

ver

the

ort

hile

56 The E. of Peterborow's

that all his Foot came in a Fleet of Boats he had prepar'd to the number of 3 or 400, and landed at the same time with the Troops that were on board the Navy.

10

V

A

fe

al h

-ti

as

S

i

n

C

The throwing in of for feafonable a Reinforcement into Barcelona, under fuch circumstances, was as great a Difgrace as happened to the French, except that of their rifing from before the Town immediately after; for the Garrison, even with this addition, was not stronger than when my Lord Peterborow took it with Title more than a third part of their Arthy. In order to fecure this great advantage, when it Thou'd happen, the East of Peterborow, notwithstanding all the hafte made from Valencia to Barcelona, had vifited, fortify'd and fecur d all the Passes behind him, fo as to oblige (with an inconfiderable ie

d

os

s,

t

r

n

derable number of regular Troops and the Country-People) the whole Army of Mareschal de Teffe intirely to abandon Spain: into which, had my Lord's Advice been follow'd, they had never to this Day return'd, as I shall presently shew. Nothing will appear more wonderful, if People wou'd impartially confider it, than how it was possible for the Earl of Peterborow, with about 8000 Men (for he never had more) to gain ground, and defend every lnch of it, against thirty thousand as good Troops as any in Europe, and at last to disperfe and drive them out of the Spanish Dominions. Those that have been too willing to find imaginary Faults, and that cou'd not deny some notorious Services of his Lordship, have however represented these Actions as effects disda-

VÍ

th

0

d

d

effects of Spirit and a bappy Temerity; but fuch effects of lucky Chance and Courage feldom produce above one fortunate Event, and are too often paid for by an after-reckoning. Whereas the whole War, while the Earl of Peterborow had the Conduct of it, feem'd nothing but a quarte of -prodigious Success, without one disappointment or loss by Land or Sear: And every Action argured before-hand with all his Officers, and the Reasons upon all greate Emergencies v fet odown in Councilsof War, prove that Fortune had little flare in fuch confrantyregular, and forefeen Events; and that his Lordship was Prodent enough to provide against the evil Hour, both Abroad and net deny fome notogiomo Hats particulars relating nto Bancelona, than I at first intended; and shall now dgo on tow what I chiefly aim'd at in these papers.

The Siege being rais'd, and the Enemy advanc'd into Roufillan, his in Lordship clearly foreshiw what deligns they had to put in execution towards the reconery of Spain: and therefore he downediately made all the preffing in-Stances to the King and Court to draften cheir departure from Buncelonas and to we the unmost dispatch to get possession of .Ma-drid; for it was beyond all contradiction that the King's presence at his Capital wou'd have made all the chief places in his Dominions declare for him; and an ordinary force upon the frontier of Navar wou'd have fecur'd the passes there against any second entrance of the French into Spain. These motives and arguments ments urg'd by my Lord had their proper weight with the Court and the Army and accordingly it was unanimously twice refolv'd, in a general Council of War, by all the Ministers and Officers, that the King should with all diligence imaginable march towards Valencia; and that my Lord Peterborow with 6000 Men shou'd go thither before, and prepare every thing, in order to carry on his Majesty to Ma-Fatch to get posicinon of datadoids for ar was beyond alleon. tradiction that the manges pre-- find at his Capital wood have Amadecall the chief places in his Domi History of the for him; and in ordinary force upon the fron-(ief of Anser would have fecur'd the paffes there against any seand entritive applied breaching -ugraphtra revitorir and This At eluga

T

E₄

Co

Co

A

A

Li

Pr Pa

M

B

14

D

At a Council of War, held in the Presence of his Catholick Majesty in Barcelona, May 18th, 1706.

PRESENT

The KING. Ambassadour of Portugal. Earl of Peterborow. Prince Anthony Lichstenstein Count Noyailles Marsbal de Camp. Count Ultelt Marshal de Camp. Admiral Leake. Admiral Wassenner. Lieutenant-General Windham. Prince Henry Landgrave of Hesse. Paul Methwin, E/q; Envoy to Savoy. Mitford Crowe, E/q; Brigadier Stanhope. Admiral Bing. Admiral Jennings. Don Francisco Zinzerling.

II IS Majesty having proposed, that feeing God was pleased to bless his Arms with such Success, and it being

ing necessary to pursue the Advantage before the Enemy should have time to gather fresh Forces; he had called together the Persons present in Council, to deliberate with them about the most important Operations, and the easiest Method of putting them in Execution: defiring all their Opinions in a Matter of fo great Consequence, as likewise in the following Proposals.

1. 'Whether the War shall be carried on in the Kingdom of Arragon, or · Valencia.

2. 'Which and what Troops ought ' to be employed in the Campaign, and ' what will be sufficient to leave in Catalonia for its defence.

3. 'What Train of Artillery is proper, and how the Baggage is to be regulated.

goi'

4. How and what Places will be most proper for Magazines.

5. 'What Operations may be pitcht upon with hopes of Success.

6. 'Where his Majesty shall be.

a ma with Juck Secrets, and It be-

7. 'Where the Army shall Rende-vouz. zada zanitza za zak
 zada zanitza za zak
 zada zanitza za zanitza zani alaid at the soin some best goish a His

H

ons (

lour rals,

mol

mon

I

disp

Flee

tho Na ply

to

Pov

VICE the

on . his

his

· I

cou

mo

the

WO

in t sho of

WC ble

to.

to 0-il,

ft

ft

1:

of

n

r

His Majesty concluding with expressions of his Considence in the known Valour and Application of all the Generals, by whose Conduct he expected a most advantageous Progress to the Common Cause.

dispositions for the Operations of the Fleet, were of a different Nature from those by Land, but that he assured in the Name of the rest, that they would comply with their Obligations and Services to his Majesty, to the utmost of their Power, in what belong'd to the Sea Service; and having shown his Majesty their Opinions in a Council of War held on Board, he referr'd himself to that as his Sentiment, seeing no reason to alter his Opinion.

His Majesty having heard the discourse of every one, it was the unanimous Opinion of all, That considering the present circumstances of Affairs, it would be best to carry on the Operations in the Kingdom of Valencia, where we should not only enjoy the Advantage of the assistance of the Fleet, which would save great Expences, and Troubles, which the Army would be liable to in a March to Arragon; there being no other Body in Spain, that could em. barass the speedy Conquest of that Kingdom, but that fmall one of the Count de las Torres: Routing this, the King. dom of Valencia would be free, Murcia would submit, and the most convenient way would be open to proceed with the Army towards the Capital of Madrid, besides the Advantages gotten by inclining towards the Portuguese Army, be. ing able to refift any Force the French can make, in order to hinder the entire Conquest of the Continent of Spain.

64 The E. of Peterborow's

2. As to the fecond Point: It being of the highest consequence to preserve this Principality from the Insults, and the Invasions of the Enemy, leaving to this end a confiderable Garrison in Girona; altho' it is thought that the Enemy is not in a Condition to beliege any other place this Summer, nor to effect any thing against Barcelona, whilst the Fleet are in these parts of the Meditewhich is a row would be debt shied aren't there are a thought in a one the additional or the Flo ranean;

energy in a soon speciment mong was 1 3. It

Itas int

ੌe'

Mari Brete The

Of C

oid

Engl Hami St An

Dons The Don

M Mora

Palm

Sobia

It is thought fit to make a dispo-sition of the Troops as followeth.

Forces to remain in Catalonia.

0010		Hantiy
Ostor Darly	In Barcelona.	Charles
	Ps, English	1000
Breton's Engl	lish	500
The City Re	giment, his Maj	efty's 1000
Of Clariano's	Horse	150
an dan mar	reditations	2650 symmetrical Lab	mGirona.	1
Facish Fuzil	liers	5.00
Hamilton's F.	nglish moberies	500
St Ament's D	urch anongois	500
Don Toloph Da	utch guera's, his Ma	iefty's 400 Doe Rafael	Nehor's Horse	his)
Majeltu's	Nebor's Horse, Majesty's	7 400
Moraga's, his	Majeffye	300
muingas, mis	Majerty 5	300
A 10 10 10 10 10 10 10 10 10 10 10 10 10
Palms Dutch	to Tarida	3100
Palma Dunch	/40% 4 Erias 10	Hally M. L.
Salina Dutch	Tubent -	1,00
Supras's Kegir	In Lerida.	150
· intermedia		0
0019	70	850
1 .5	F	173

and the second of the second o	ortofa. 's, his Majesty's 500
Don ANIONIO E MUET	s, instrialcity s 300
Total for the Gar	risons of Catalonia.
Infantry Cavalry	6100 1000
000 5 8 (1) (M/s) (1)	7100
Infant My Lord Peterboron to Valencia Engli In the faid Kingdor	fends by Sea 1800 Thmen In there are in- ment of Ahu- 1200 Castillion's Re- 1000 t 500
Car The Guards of Zin: Morras's Regiment Killegrew's and Can	500
Total	6500 3. It

the Pictor Ne ing cell that the that the that the Difficult of the cell ing that of

fho Mi of pro

3. It was agreed to take into the Field the following Train, fourteen Pield Pieces, four half-Cannon, two Mortars, with Powder, Shot, Bombs, and other Necellaries proportionable; and it being of Confequence to regulate the necellary Baggage, it was left to some Generals to regulate, and concert a Contract, at the most moderate Rate it can be perform'd for. About the 4th Propolition of the Magazines, and Provifions, my Lord Peterborow declared he had in the Fleet. Wheat enough for three Months, for twenty Thousand Men, and it was propos'd to make another Contract for Bread and Barley, that should be necessary for the Campaign, always providing Magazines in the most convenient Places. Operation by Sea and Land, ought to be accommodated to the Motions and Dispositions of the Enemy, endeavouring always to frustrate his Deligns, that he may not have any Opportunity of Advantage against us.

4. Where the Residence of his Majesty should be, although he declared his Mind, that he would be at the Head of his Army, it was thought more proper by this Council, that His Majefly would proceed to Tortofa, that he may be on the Borders of Arragon and Valencia, to Animate with his prefence, the general Inclinations of his Subjects, in putting them under his Obedience, and to forward the difposition for the Campaign, towards the speedy bringing the Army together, and when so, and fit for Service, that they may be in the Neighbouring Towns, that they may have immediate Notice, and that his Majesty may with more ease issue out those Orders that any Occasion may require.

F 2

5. Touching the last Proposal, where the Army ought to join: 'Twas the common Opinion that the most convenient place for the Rendevouz would be nigh Valencia, for the ease of sending by Land or Sea with greater Conveniency all necessaries for the Camp, and for being the more at hand for the preventing any Attempt of the Enemy.

V ...

His Majesty agreed to all the fore-going Discouries and Opinions, and refolved they should be put in Execution with the utmost dilligence, giving my Lord Peterboron the care

and

leno

Ho

S

S

re

e-

e

1-

d

10

e.

10

5,

in

e, re to to distribute the Troops, as agreed, and to send the Horse towards Valencia, leaving about four Hundred Horse for his Majesty's Guard.

By his Majesty's Order

ment affective to Siege of the ato been sittle and me of the ad or virunes and has be Los biogram, coerts hon mingipus and cink the danger continuity in In Valencia, "I Therefore a refresh to the White I fairly source I soulle

Franc, Adelfo Zinzerling.

as brook you F.3s The

The Reader will observe, that in this Council of War there is a disposition of all the Troops we had on this side of Spain: a number perhaps that will be surprizing to those, that remember how vigorously and early the Parliament, after the first Siege of Bar. celona, voted a strong reinforce. ment to be fent immediately to those parts; and that accordingly the London Gazette of June 24th 1706 did his Lordship the ho nour to put him at the head of an Army of 25000. But however his Lordship, contrary to his ufual fortune, happen'd to be magnify'd in this particular; Forces his Lordship cou'd muster up in Valencia, (his Majesty having been pleased to remand, after my Lord was aboard, about 2000 of the 6000 order'd thither) were somewhat above ab tw th his ly cor teri tier In fett celar his fhir con bag at beti

His mak stay

shat only above 4000, and wanted of the twenty five thousand little more than the odd twenty.

at 32 ve

er

ng

11.

ia.

17-

ce.

to

ly

th

10-

an

rer

ube

r;

nip

his

to vas

00

hat

This Council of War which his Lordship obtain'd, so solemnly agreed upon and a second time confirm'd, shews the Earl of Peterborow's earnestness and impatience for the march to Madrid. In order to which, the day being settled for the King's leaving Barcelona, nay, and the very route of his journey adjusted, his Lordship having sent all the Cavalry before, went on board the Fleet with the Foot, who were in no condition to march for want of baggage-necessaries, and landed at Valencia the beginning of June. His Lordship thought he cou'd make no better use of his short flay here, than to recruit his hatter'd Cavalry; which he not only did, but mounted a new Regiment of Dragoons, draughted out of the companies of Foot; there being always in this Country, and especially in our circumstances, which requir'd dispatch, a necessity for a good body of Horse. In which single Regiment I can't but remark what may feem a Paradox to some, that his Lordship sav'd the Queen near 20000 l. the Horses, one with another, cofting not above 101: a piece, which if they had been transported from England or Ireland, wou'd have stood Her Majesty at least in 60 l. as we found those actually did which first went upon the descent into Catalonia. Indeed it may justly be faid of his Lordship, That however liberal he was of his own, no one was ever a more frugal manager of the publick Stock: his Lordship having given several ra

W

m

ne

Ot sh

m

C

th

m

fa

p

of

k it

tr

tr

ai

F

tl

tl

b

10

n-

n-

h,

of

1-

at

e, n

ne

re

ld

nd

er

re

h

2-

e

-

1,

ral instances in this extraordinary War, that he cou'd sometimes maintain an Army without money, as well as take Towns without men. And this Regiment, to shew his Lordship had no great mind to delay his march into Castile, had their route given them, the very same day they were mounted.

And here his Lordship's indefatigable pains, in procuring and purchasing Mules for the baggage of the Army, deserves to be taken notice of: which, though it may at the first view seem a trifle, yet, considering the extream want we were in for them, and our incapacity to take the Field without them, as well as the difficulty and trouble to get them in a Country just exhausted by the Enemy, ought to be look'd upon as no ordinary piece of fervice; I am sure it was a service that no one there but his Lordship cou'd at that time have done. At least those that saw his Lordship for three weeks together, from morning to night, satiguing himself in this manner, and submitting to the drudgery of the lowest Officers, did not at all suspect that his Lordship had so little inclination to march, as some have since pretended to discover.

To facilitate our entrance into castile, his Lordship immediately sent Lieutenant General Wyndbam with a body of 1500 men to befiege Requena; a strong and troublesome Garrison, and indeed the only one in the road to Madrid, and the first frontier Town of the Enemy: the enterprize succeeded to our wishes, and the way lay open for his Majesty's profits as the from he mich be th fil

n

ry W la fi

h

t

jesty's march. For his Lordship prov'd to the King by the constant passing of Deserters as well as Expresses, that there was nothing now to hinder his Majesty from reaching Madrid with a small party of Horse only; and he thought a King needed not much persuasion to take possession of a Crown, when 'twou'd be rather a journey of Pleasure, than a March, and this to be easily perform'd in a fortnights time.

My Lord having made all the necessary prepartions for the carrying on the King and the Troops, was surprized to find such a delay in the Court: and the by frequent Messages and Letters he had urged the necessity of the King's departure from Barcelona, his Majesty did not think fit to set out from that place till near near a month after the time agreed upon. Twas yet a greater surprize to his Lordship, when he had notice that the King, upon his arrival at Tarragona, had intirely alter'd all the scheme of his march, and was refolv'd to go round by Saragosa. The Earl of Peterborow reprefented, with all the earnestness he cou'd, the danger of the least delay in so critical a Juncture; the hazard as well as the great inconvenience of fo tedious a march through fo barren and mountainous aCountry, and where his Majesty might run the risque of being intercepted and furpriz'd by the Enemy. His Lord-ship shew'd a more than ordinary Zeal in soliciting this affair: sent Letters every day to dissuade his Majesty from his defign'd journey, dispatch'd a Deputation lity Cou milb affil pre man by pos

. 14

..0

.

E C

(10

110

putation of the Valencian Nobility, transmitted the Opinion of Councils of War where the Spanish Ministers as well as English assisted, unanimously desiring and pressing the King to continue his march the easiest and nearest way by Valencia, as was first proposid.

warms has Capitulited, the Soldiers Fr. impres of War. The Inhabits ats with out Terms to be disposed of at you Ficulare. Your Majesty will find the flords and soco foot near March, he way to March. the Spanishes and Ger
way to March. the Spanishes and Ger

Laria, that the Deferters pais three or four in a Company; Your Majesty one past to your Capital this way, as in a most protound thace, and with what hapedings you count in to make.

have write at large to Mr. Timerless, and have represented to him dia present g Reafons which fin my Opinion) expaires your Walseliv's presence in your Capital. On this fide there are no diftenties, 'tis properly but a journey of Extracts of Letters from my Lord Peterborow to the King of Spain.

Valencia 5th July, 1706.

Carrison consists of 500 Men. Requena has Capitulated, the Soldiers Prisoners of War. The Inhabitants without Terms to be disposed of at your Pleasure. Your Majesty will find the Horse and 2000 Foot near Alarcon, half way to Madrid; the Spaniards and Germans are on that side.

The way is fo free betwixt this and Madrid, that the Deferters pass three or four in a Company: Your Majesty may pass to your Capital this way, as in a most prosound Peace, and with what Expedition you think fit to make.

I have writ at large to Mr. Zinzerling, and have represented to him the pressing Reasons which (in my Opinion) requires your Majesty's presence in your Capital. On this side there are no disficulties, 'tis properly but a Journey of a few Bufii and mean dang Opin the labore to y Fleet jefty drid, read the think T comi an C Troc gon, that pable ance in th

Cap

ry O

toex

a few Days; but by Arragon it is the Business of six Weeks, or two Months, and all the Affairs of Europe in the mean time in suspence; the March also dangerous and uncertain.

of

ic

į.

1-11

e

If

.

d

1

2

t

Who can offer to your Majesty any Opinion upon the Affairs of Italy, and the Indies, recommended to Mr. Standope and my self? All that we can say to your Majesty, is, that the Grand Fleet is not arriv'd, but that your Majesty may in a Fortnights time be at Madrid, secure of the Spanish Monarchy, ready to give the necessary Orders for the Interest of Europe; and that by that time we shall be in a Condition to execute all that your Majesty may think Necessary by Sea and Land.

The Resolution of your Majesty's coming in Person this way is in no wise an Objection to the March of the Troops necessary by the side of Arragon. On the contrary when it is known that your Majesty is at Madrid, and capable of giving them the proper Assistances; there will be no Difficulties made in that Kingdom. Sir, it is only in your Capital, where the Proper and Necessar ry Orders can be given.

If your Majesty passes directly by Requena, without losing one Moment, which feems to me the necessary Reso. lution, it will be proper for me to stay here to put Matters into such a disposi. tion, as to prevent any delay. If your Majesty does not take this determination. on, you will be pleased to give me Advice of it, that I may immediately take Post and come to you.

your they d

please fence

they

la. I

Comr

that t

Campi

from

Lord (

Moras.

Chasti

who h

of An

those that y Valence made

Horfe

wantir

would

Majest for wa

I have borrowed the Mony necessary to put your Majesty's Troops in March, and it feems to me there is nothing wanting but your Person at Ma. drid. God Almighty bring your Majefly thither without delay.

intendential your Maielly may think Nocellary by Sea and Land, a The Relolation of your Majeffy's consing in Perforthis way is in no wife an Objection to the March of the Goops necessary by the ide of Arraaionale on the contrary when a isknown able of giving them the proper Affiftsees : there will be no Difficulties made in that Kiegdom. Sa. ic is calving voice Critical, where the Proper and Necollary Orders can be given.

tave received Letters from the

r

e

.

n

.

Valencia July 6th, 1706.

THE City of Valencia thought themselves obliged in Duty to let your Majesty know, how extreamly they defired that your Majesty would be pleased to Honour them with your Presence; they have Advertised me that they were fending an Express to Torto-(a. I have nothing in particular to Communicate to your Majesty, but that they have stopt in the Town of Campillo, a Courier fent with Letters from the Marquess Das Minas and my Lord Gallway to your Majesty; Don Pedro Moras, who is March'd that way, shall Chastise those People as they deserve, who have fent those Letters to the Duke of Anjou towards Navarre. It is faid those Generals solicited your Majesty that you would be pleased to pass by Valencia towards Madrid, that they made offers to your Majesty to send Horse to reinsorce ours, if they were wanting, and to inform you that they would not enter Madrid without your Majesty, where every thing languish'd for want of your Presence.

I

82 The E. of Peterborow's

I have received Letters from the Admirals: neither they, Sir, nor I know what to fay in this Conjuncture. It feems as if every thing were at a stand, till your Majesty gives Life to the whole, by your Presence in the Capital. If I may offer any thing to your Majesty, from the Queen, from the Allies, or from my felf, it must be my most carnest Prayers, that your Majesty would not lose one Moment in going to Madrid: All fuffers by your Absence. I expect your Orders, Sir, that I may go to Tortofa, or to prepare every thing for your shortest way by Requena, or what else your Majesty thinks necessary. I hope the Count Savella is arriv'd near your Person: I refer my felf to his Zeal, and to his knowledge of his own Country, affuring your Majelty on my part of a diligence to ferve you, and of a most earnest defire to fee you the greatest Prince of the Age.

INOV INCHIEW MY IN July

YOU

do

hav

plie

to y mil

the

pref

the .

Cou

Vous

edtl

he m

Were

were

by the has be which has plain of Af

I (ho)

July 10th.

SIR.

W

It d,

٧,

or

ft

ot

III

10

10

eft

la-

int

re-

W-

100

to ire

he

uly willers of the

TF it is no more proper to speak to your Majesty upon the Resolutions you have taken, it is now my Duty to do all in my Power to fustain what you have refolved upon, having already complied with my Obligations, in offering to your Majesty (with all possible Submission) mySentiments, when I thought they might have been of use. In the prefent Circumstances, I am afraid that the Enemies Cavalry may burn all the Country to the Gates of Sarragofa; your Majesty doubtless will have received the Express which came from Madrid; he made us highly fensible how much it were to be wished that your Majesty were already there. You will fee, Sir, by the Queens Letter, that her Majesty has been pleased to increase my Burden, which was but too weighty before; she has fent me Orders and Instructions, plain and clear upon the present State of Affairs: if I had received them before, I should have represented (if possible) with more force the Necessity of passing G 2

The E. of Peterborow's

with the utmost Diligence to Madrid by an

afi

for

ing

fel

yo

5th cei

fen

ing

pro

the

You

ma

mo

con

but

the secure way of Valencia.

I must Advertise your Majesty in the Name of the Queen, that not only she is making the utmost Efforts for the Interest of your Majesty, in all places where her Troops can Act, but that also the English Nation suffers extreamly by the zealous Endeavours for your Service, The French have ruin'd some of our Co-Ionies in America : St. Christophers has fuffer'd more than the rest, the Enemy having fent confiderable Forces that way, which made them fo weak before Barcelona. They endeavour'd to fecure the possession of Carthagena, and the Havana. I have the necessary Advices and Instructions upon that great Article, which fo nearly concerns your Majesty and all Europe: and yet the precious time is lost by a dangerous March out of the way, when your Majesty might Remedy all at Madrid.

I obey your Majesty's Orders with relation to the Regiments of Ahumada and colbatch: tho' I must take the Liberty to fay they are so far advanced in Castile, that their March by Madrid, would prove the shortest and most practicable way to go to Saragofa.

I see by Mr. Zinzerling's Letter, how much your Majesty is in want of Mony. I have some little come from England, and will send it immediately to Saragosa, after having given the necessary Orders for the March of your Troops according to your Command; esteeming my self most Happy when I can be useful to your Majesty, whose Glory and Establishment I desire above all things.

Gr.

Part of a Letter from the King.

My Lord,

he

he

n-

re

he

he

ce,

oufny nat ore

re he

es

łe,

ty

ne

he

e-

·end

to ke,

ild

ole

I

Owe you Answers to Four of yours of the 30th past, of the 1st, and 5th of this Month, which I have received in different places. You represent to me the Importance of my arriving as soon as possible at Madrid, and propose to me the way of Requena, as the shortest and securest from Insults. You tell me the Dispositions you have made to accompany my Person, and moreover offer me to come in Person to concert the rest, which might contribute to our good Success; for all which

G 3

I am very much oblig'd to you, but being upon the Road to Arragon, and engag'd to pursue my March that way, Oc.

I consider that the Journy you must make to Saragofa to meet me would be too long, and difficult; and fince the Fleet is expected each moment, I conceive your Presence very necessary where you are, to direct that important Affair of the Duke of Savoy, upon which I have fo fully expressed my self in some of my former Letters.

her all the roots per in the if he is -en cond. I doubt, the plant is not original an inflerence placed. You repreger idda as politica un Blading, and Pict campal to you will sim or - Ly . S assistat modelless a but hat harted as You cell mo the than the ans you have that to ascompany on Perion and Street at a Per me to came in Per on to thing is not released hors are and odine

CHARLES. The four Annual to Four of Star

of

app

Mi

and

to

fav

po: to

as

fec

his

ve

ing

fre

hi

-maloo silgna dadar salos sal What

be-

enay,

flu

be he

n-

ry

nt

ch

ne

What Opinion his Lordship had of this journey will yet further appear, by a Letter to one of the Ministers in England, where his Lordship has fet down the natural consequences of so strange a resolution in such a manner, as hews he was no ill Prophet, and could not therefore neglect to prevent (if in his power) mischiefs he so well forefaw. For, how can he be fuppos'd to have been fo far wanting to his own reputation and interest, as not to have follicited, and preffed for the carrying the King to his Capital; which wou'd have given him the entire glory of finishing the War, and prevented others from any pretence to a share in the honour of placing the King upon his Throne?

G 4

Ex-

Extract of a Letter writ by the Earl of Peterborow to a Minifter, from Valencia in July 1706.

THAT torrent of good Fortune which overcomes all Difficulties, and that infatuation which feems in every place to have feiz'd the Enemy, diffipates those fears I might justly have of Shipwreck in the very Port: But it is a cruel circumstance, that after so many escapes and so many dangers overcome, to see all so injudiciously expos'd by the most unaccountable Resolutions that ever were taken.

You may have receiv'd by Italy, before these come to hand, some Letters which I writ in the uncertainty of what the Portugueses might do. By all Accounts, the least opposition wou'd have made them turn back: It was hard enough to make them walk to Madrid, tho' meeting no resistance. And by the Express that pass'd two Days ago by Valencia to the King, we are inform'd that the unfortunate Delays to which his Majesty is advis'd in his Journy to Madrid, may cause the most fatal changes; since, if any Foot can join their Horse, which is retir'd from Madrid to the number of 6000, I doubt we may see some extraordinary Revolutions.

the

ni-

ly

ne

es,

re-

if-

ve

it

12-

'd ns

ers

at

C-

ve

d, ie

y

h

Judge of my Mortification and Grief, to fee fo glorious and fure aGame expos'd to what I am going to represent. If I were at the Head of the 6000 Spanish Horse, which are very good, I would be accountable with my Life, that instead of the King's coming by Saragofa to Madrid, when his Majesty was in that Capital, I wou'd burn and deftroy all that Country, even to the Walls of that City: That nothing less than the march of the whole Portugal Army and the harrafing their Foot, if they cou'd take the Field, shou'd make it possible for the King to get to Madrid: That I wou'd at least delay his march till perhaps the French Poot and Horse might from Navar come into Arragon: And then give me leave to fay one Battle wou'd decide the Fate of Spain.

Notwithstanding all these advices, remonstrances, and warnings, the King continued firm in his resolution: 'tis needless to shew how fatal a one, since it not only cut us off from all the opportunities of gaining further advantages, but occasion'd some time after the loss of what we had been with so much pains, and I may almost fay with so many miracles poffes'd of. The King thus persisting in these measures, his Lord (hip had no other hopes left but that, fince he perceiv'd there was a correspondence between his Majesty and the Portuguese Army, who were now, as he was told, masters of Madrid, those that had the command there wou'd make all the advantages of so happy a conjuncture: and not only fecure that Capital till they had safely conducted the King thither, but take ta pa ob Ki

qu

th ni ex be

> cu Jo in

th wi

pr

ab

take care to seize and fortifie the passes in Navar; the only and obvious expedient left, since the king was resolv'd on these new methods, to keep him in the quiet possession of his kingdom.

I shan't inquire into the motives of his Majesty's Conduct in this particular; 'tis a matter too nice, and perhaps improper to be examin'd here. But I can't forbear saying it has been with no little astonishment that I have heard my Lord Peterborow accus'd, as being the cause of this Journey through Arragon: tho indeed it has been his Fate more than once, to be charg'd even with those miscarriages, which he us'd his utmost endeavours to prevent.

There have been reports spread about, and but too much encourag'd, rag'd, that the King having demanded Mony for the necessary charges of his journey, my Lord Peterborow in a very peremptory manner refus'd to send him any; and that upon this denial, the King was resolv'd to make his progress thro' Arrayon, where he hop'd a fresh Province, that had lately declar'd for him, wou'd be inclin'd to supply his present necessities.

tl

ſi

th

pa ih lu

Q

Ki

acc his

ady

the

han tho

van

at t

The story indeed is very plausible: and with this additional report, that his Lordship had received 103000 l. remitted for his Majesty's service, and wou'd give no pay to the King's Troops then in Valencia, shews the true spirit of Calumny; which to carry on a malicious design, must not only raise suspicions, but deny sacts. For his Lordship was so far from refusing the King upon this is

y

ie

e

d

d

it

1-

1

r

15

e

t

y

0

n

this account any Mony which he had in his power to give him, that his Lordship not having received any part of the pretended 103000 l. was forc'd to order for that purpose a very considerable ium, appropriated to other uses. And itis well known to all those that were acquainted with what pais'd in Spain, that his Lordthip being inform'd of these Calumnies, brought Mr. Mead, the Queen's Paymaster, before the King and Mr. Stanbope, who in regard to these points gave this account to his Majesty; That all his I roops had been paid ten days advance, for which he produc'd their Receipts, That no part of the 102000 / Was come the 103000 l, was come to his hands, but that however forty thousand Pound had been advanc'd for his Majesty's service, at the earnest sollicitation of the Earl

94 The E. of Peterborow's

Earl of Peterborow, which was defign'd and appointed for other fervices.

mat

se.

to

S

as

th

A

Nay, when upon his arrival at Saragofa, his Majesty was in want of a Supply, and sent to my Lord Peterboraco for it, his Lordship immediately dispatch dall the mony of his own, or what he could get upon Credit and had his Majesty's thanks dit, and had his Majesty's thanks return'd in a very obliging Let-So far was my Lord Peterborow from refuling the King mony towards supporting the march that was at first delign'd, and so much with'd for by his Lordship; that he took care his Majesty shou'd not want it even in a journey, which his Lordship cou'd by no means approve of.

ancid for his Majetty's fervice; if the surnet follicitation of the

er

ity

nd

or ſ.

n,

e-ks

t-

0-

0-

h

lo

;

y

1-

y

It is a hard circumstance of my Lord's Fortune, that he must at home be put to prove himself unconcern'd in a matter, which if he had laid any claim to abroad, his pretences wou'd have been utterly deny'd. For a Spanish Grandee, a Minister of great Influence at that time, the Conde de Cifuentes, took all the merit of this journey to himself; as he profess'd in a Letter he wrote to ingratiate himself and the Court with the People of Arragon, to this effect: 'I have us'd my utmost endeavours, and at last succeeded, in bringing the King by the way of Arragon: which his Majesty comply'd with the more easily, being fa-'tissied that fince the services 'you offer'd were free and vo-'luntary, not like those of the "Catalans and Valencians, out of any any fear or compulsion, you had a better Title to his Maje.

96 The E. of Peterborow's

fty's presence among you.

The Valencians, who had so distinguish'd themselves in their good services to the King, resented this Letter so far, that they printed it and dispers'd it about the Country: To shew how ill they had been represented to his Majesty, and how all that the Nobility and Gentry of that Kingdom had done and suffer'd for the Austrian Cause, was now overlook'd, in compliment to this Noble Counts new savourites and correspondents, the Pears TheLet Jants of Saragofa.

ter was By this it appears plainly what directed, A los La-a turn the Court then gave to bradores de Zarago-this Expedition. What other fa. motives they might have for it,

van 3

si delan and Palencians, out of

is l

his

hai

ren

gat

by

the

tha

fect

And

Pep

terb

Kin

to S

folli

roac

did

fer'c

back

Lor

Fren

guefe

0

r

t

is besides my purpose to inquire; his Lordship having not the least hand in this dark and unfortunate affair. Only it may by the way be remark'd that his Majesty always gave it as a reason of his going by Saragosa, that the Generals of the Portuguese Army wou'd move that way, and had promised to secure his march to their Camp. And 'tis certain that when Col. Pepper was fent by my Lord Peterborow from Valencia to the King, who was then on his way to Saragofa, with the most urgent follicitations to return into the mad first propos'd: his Majesty did agree to what my Lord offer'd, and dispatch'd the Coll. back again, with orders to his Lordship accordingly. But a French Officer from the Portuguse Camp arriving at Saragosa, refleton orth the King recall'd Col. Pepper, and was resolv'd to pursue the route he was in.

98 The E. of Peterborow's

But to return to Valencie We have feen the reason of his Lordthip's flay here : and fure no one will accuse him for it, as long as he was, tho very unease, in expectation every day of the King's coming, which he was oblig'd to wait for by the fundamental Council of War at Barcelona; or will imagin he ought to have march'd himself, and left his Majefty to have follow'd him alone, thro' a difaffected Country to Madrid. His Lordship as soon as he found there was no further hopes of prevailing with the King, or diverting him from his resolutions, immediately order'd all the Forces to advance into Castile, except 900 men which were left for the necessary security of

K

of the Kingdom of Valencia, and in a few days join'd them him-

And in this he was forc'd to have the Opinion of a Council of War of both Spaniards and English, to release him from the obligation he lay under of staying for the King: his Lordship having been always so cautious as to act by a Council of War, ever fince that (he hopes pardonable) action of taking Barcelona without one. Mamilion of the whom set I defecting we.

as irouth flather Lappen im try on

br

te

Ve

d-

ne

as

X-

to tal

or

ve

his

A W Office arriving the self-to the ner de the second tree has to design the the When letterally the King, and Tring his A High site and combined and the state of the r'd 1864 $60 S I on that years a first a work of the athe book of which Army challed the comic of their County than the or The ere ity

of

RODDING

MY A iria mations of great D'fordels commarkety action of inches

At a Council of War, held at the Vice-Roy's Palace in Valencia, June 26th, 1706.

PRESENT

dr

m lu

th

Fo

th

for

as he

Ki

his

be

His Excellency the Conde of Cardona.
The Conde of Savella.
The Conde of Elda.
His Excellency the Earl of Peterborow.
The Honble Brigadier Killegrew.
The Honble Brigadier Hamilton.
The Honble Collonel Pepper.
The Honble Collonel Southwell.
The Honble Collonel Allnutt.

A N Officer arriving Express to Valencia from the Earl of Gallway with Letters for the King, and Prince Lichtenstein, and none for the Earl of Peterborow, who never had received from the Generals of that Army the least account of their Circumstances, or Designs; this Gentleman however giving informations of great Disorders committed mitted by the Portugueses, and great Discontents and Uneasiness among the Officers, with Discourses of their Intentions of retiring towards their Frontiers:

Upon due Consideration and Debate of these critical Circumstances, notwithstanding the fundamental Council of War at Barcelona, which obliges the Earl of Peterborow to attend the Kings Motions, in order to his March to Madrid, notwithstanding the Queens Commands to follicite preffingly the King of Spains Confent to embark some Fores for Italy; notwithstanding the Invasion threatned from Murcia, and Andalusia on Valencia; yet it is unanimously the Opinion of all present (Subjects of the King of Spain and others) that the Earl of Peterborow do March all those Forces that are (not near Altea ready for embarking but) at Requena, and in the Frontiers of Castile, either directly for Madrid, or to join the Portugal Army, as Occurences shall require; and that he fend an Officer immediately to the King to renew the defires of all, that his Majesty without loss of time would be graciously pleased to March towards H 3

Madrid by the safe and bearen Road, passing directly by Tirruel and the upper way of Valencia to Requena, where such a Disposition is made of the Forces by the Earl of Peterborow, as may secure the Kings Person, his Baggage, and the Troops with him, without any possibility of danger, or requiring any March of the Partugal Army surther from Madrid, which might give some uneasiness or prove of Prejudice to the Service.

per A. Farly.

pre to

thre

Pet

flar

in ,

war

mu

ship

app

cate

Lo

of

refi

Contact to the later of the lat e of contact of Cappe at Lee directly and contact Active, and contact and cont on on which and residence and and the sk va smis is all modrive dejsThefe

Those who know that two Expresses from the Portuguese Army to the King did actually pass thro' Valencia, where my Lord Peterborow was, may perhaps be flartled at the mention made here in this Council of War of the want of Intelligence from those parts : but whether it was thro' multiplicity of business, or the difficulty of finding out his Lordship with a body 4000 men, it appears by the following Certificate, that they did not favour his Lordship with the least account of their motions: if that word benot improperly apply'd to their resting 40 days at Madrid.

Thefe who know that this Bas

The Copy of a Certificate.

Being dispatche from Madrid on the Marques Das Minas, and my Lord Gallway, with Letters for his Majesty King Charles the 3d: These are to certifie that I paffed through the City of Valencia this Day without having any Letters for the Earl of Peterborow, from either of the above Gentlemen; and so proceeded on my Journey to the King. Valencia 6th July 1706.

Don Juan de Franques y Luego rate, that they did not have her Lording with the leaft account of sirgis reotions : in that word advisor by lane vireper A. Furly.

to ! his out

any

my con

my

19 wh

def

it

be 1

15 11

the

trac

drie wil the

not fini Suc

I have heard it often objected to his Lordship, that he delay'd his march to Madrid on purpole, out of an unwillingness to have any dispute about command with my Lord Gallway, or to act in concert with the Portuguese Army. A Calumny as radiculous falle, and contrary to the whole tenor of his Lordship's defigns and actions. But I reckon it a happiness to his Lordship to be traduc'd not only where there is no colour for it, but where the matter of fact directly contradicts the aspersion at to mist

An immediate march to Madrid was what his Lordship wish'd and labour'd for, with all the Zeal and Sollicitations possible, as well knowing there was nothing else wanting to put a finishing stroke to his glorious Successes, and secure the Spanish

Mo-

Monarchy to to the House of Aufine, against any efforts that could aprobably be made by Frances Juft before this Lord thip marchid, the received spectrers from the King to informing being that now his Majerty was fatisfy'd every thing was fecure in Spain, and that the Portuguese Army would be dufficient to protect him from any Attempts that the Enemy could be lable to make against him: and therefore His Majesty presid this Lordship to send the -Florces under his command to the relief of the Duke of Savoy purfilant rothe Queens inflructions, car to adduce the Mands in the Mediterranearly woods bas b'alive the Zeal and Sollicitations noth. ble, as well knowing there was nothing elfe wanting to put a specifies firoke to his glorious -ON

The

B

of A lo ha parin ragon Capi tunit rous fifted

of the

Sacri whof the C

my It Circu

Enen ble o

The King of Spain's Letter.

balas (mana) by Abau garmen for Capital, and to Confer at Skin

My Lord St. 39 al renogen) Agrant Lat.

Eing affor'd by all hands of the glorious Progress of the Arms of my Allies in Castile, and that the City of Suragofa, and almost all the Kingdom of Arragon have submitted to me; as alb having advice that the Army is preparing to approach the Kingdom of Arrigon, to conduct me from thence to my Capital: I would not lose this Opportunity to affure you a fresh, how desirous I am to fee the Duke of Savoy affifed with the Fleet, and a Detachment of the Troops: That a Prince may be aved from the last Extremity and Ruin, who with fo much Steadiness and Glory Sacrifices himself for the Publick, and whose Destruction would be so fatal to the Common Caufe, and particularly to my Interests in Italy.

It is almost apparent in the present Circumstances, that the Troops of the Enemy remaining in Spain, are incapable of preventing me the Possession of

my

my Capital, and in Consequence the whole Continent of Spain.

Therefore my Lord I am extreamly desirous, while you expect the Fleet coming under the Command of Admiral Shovel (who perhaps may be actually arriv'd) that you take the necessary Measures upon the arrival of the Fleet to embark all the Troops with the mmost dispatch, which near the Sea side were employ'd in the Expeditions on Alicant and Carthagena, that they may be made use of for the Succours ef the Duke of Savoy, referving what Admiral Shovel may bring for the Services in Spain.

Or in case that the said Succours are not necessary, to make the Attempts upon the Islands of Majork and Minork: Which Service, after that of Savoy, would be most acceptable to me, and most uleful to the Common Cause, and most advantageous to my particular Af-fairs; where having left Garrisons necesary for their defence, you might conduct the rest of the Troops to Barcelona, Current fauces, that the Troops of the

July the 3d stand Stand CHARLES. 201

per A. Furly.

Hi had a any C form' and c ces as retur and t Mad ftom fty's > his r was any Troc adva it, That cont

defir ately he

ity

eet

ni.

ury

it-

de

on

he

i-

es

re

ts

k:

y,
id

d f-

4,

His Lordship, who perhaps had as good Intelligence as ever any General had in any Country, believ'd his Majesty missinform'd of the true state of affairs: and concluding nothing fo necesfiry in our present circumstances as to prevent, if possible, the return of the French into Spain, and to fecure the Country round Madrid, desir'd to be excused from complying with his Majehy's directions, and continued on his march thro' Caftile. So far was his Lordship from shewing any unwillingness to carry his Troops thither, or refuling to advance when he had orders for it, as some wou'd infinuate; That when he did march, twas contrary to the King of Spain's desires, who urg'd him immediately to pursue the orders he had receiv'd from the Queen, and embarque the Succours for Italy.

And indeed his Majesty was quickly convinc'd, that his Lord. ship had judg'd right: for instead of being able to go on triumphantly from Saragosa to Madrid, his Majesty saw a necessity now of writing pressingly to my Lord, to come up to him with all the dispatch imaginable, to fecure his march to the Army at Guadalaxara. This his Lordship immediately complied with, join'd his Majesty near Pastrana; and had at last the honour of conducting him to the Confederate Forces: and this within a fortnight after he had receiv'd the advices mention'd above, that his Majesty had no further occasion for the presence of him, or his Troops.

By

J

Rea

hou

rela

his '

ftill

this.

for

grou

rit,

the

ral,

june

thin

this,

Lord

to th comi

as h fion

Indie.

any

h

1.

25

1.

n.

m

to

ely

m

e, ris

ed

ar

0-

he is

ad 'd

no

ce

By this time I doubt not but the Reader is thoroughly convinced, how falle the matter of Fact is in relation to his Lordship's delaying his march perhaps he may be still better satisfy'd, if, besides this, he finds the reasons alledg'd for that aspersion altogether groundless. His Lordship's Spirit, they say, wou'd not submit to the command of another General, or so much as act in conjunction with him. Some may think it no improper answer to this, if it be reply'd, that my Lord Gallway did actually offer to the Earl of Peterborow. the command of the English Forces, as having had a Prior Commission as General to the West Indies. However, to prevent any possibility of dispute with either either the Lord Gallway or the Portuguese General, his Lordship propos'd how a partition of the Command might be made, so as to satisfie all Parties.

be underthe regions alledged

-igs eqidibro. Laiki and the flan in more in the state of the state is at to be reply'd, that my with hint? Some roay ist of Peterborous the offiny of difference with

SI

jelty, t upon t offer al yourM withou found English

But, folved may an Service to the and I thing, t

The fers, th

A Proposal to the King Spain.

August the 8th, 1706. in the Camp at Guadalaxara.

SIR,

71TH all Submission I take the liberty to represent to your Majefty, the Difficulties which may arise upon the present Circumstances; and I offer all the Expedients possible to serve your Majesty with the Character I hold, without exposing my felf perhaps to be found fault with, by the Queen or the English Nation.

But, Sir, above all things I am refolved to make no Difficulties, which may any ways bring Prejudice to the Service, or give the least uneasiness to the Portuguese or their Generals; and I will take care to propose nothing, that can give them the least Scru-ple.

The Treaty with the Portuguese inlers, that the Troops, furnished by the Queen and the States, should be commanded in Portugal by a General of the Country. Supposing this in the most favourable Sence, it can extend only to the Troops upon that Establishment; my Troops are independent, and are appointed by Parliament to particular Services, and the Queen has done me the Honour to choose me for her General.

Your Majesty has done me the great Honour to trust me hitherto with the Command of your Troops: though in these Circumstances I will pretend no Command over the Portuguese Generals, yet on the other fide I can receive no Orders, but from your Majesty. Our English Troops are upon two Establishments, which with the Portuguese and Dutch, make up our Army. The Partition between the Count de Noyelles, and my Lord Gallway, and My felf, will be equal; the Count de Noyelles taking all the Dutch Troops into his Care, your Majesty giving me the Spanish Regiments, my Lott will be near equal. We shall thus have our particular Charge, and may concur in every thing to your Service. Your MaMaj Fountervi and fhur Conduct in Spain. 115

m.

he

fic

to

t; re ar

ne

e-

at

he

in 10 ls, 10 ur aefe

ne 25,

a-

is le)e

r-

n

11

Majesty may give the Word to all Four at once for Forms fake, and afterwards to those that are present, and every thing may be adjusted to fhun any Distinction, &c. 1 of ...

fore a greater infrance of refignarion court not be expected, from one that then bore the characters General and Admiral and had crossentials for being Emballiden so its was his Lordhie olt to Luciania per A. Furly.

thicker . he would have centrar with any other for i.e. or in lead to have been ed to monori sito cita hand the but of guilf at guille Co.

pital featiful a fort of a Right is longing to his Lordflip, and hel one would think a Gene would not eafily refign, je

And in case this proposal shou'd not be thought proper, his Lord. ship offer'd, if there was any occafion, to serve as Voluntier: and fure a greater instance of refignation cou'd not be expected from one, that then bore the character of General and Admiral, and had credentials for being Embassador. So far was his Lordship from any refentment or emulation in regard to the command of the Forces, or carrying the King himself to Madrid; That provided his Majesty wou'd have gone thither, he would have been content with any other fervice, or indeed to have been out of all. And the' the honour of conducting the King to his Capital feem'd a fort of a Right belonging to his Lordship, and which one wou'd think a General wou'd not easily resign, yet his

hi ga he bit

the ev

wh

to.

probefi

was

1-

ad

a.

m

of

ad

a-

ip

on he ng

-0 ve

ve er-

out

of

Ja-

be-

ind

ne-

vet

his

his Lordship, long before this, gave a remarkable instance, that he could submit any private ambition to the publick good; and that he cou'd not only brook, but even contrive, that another General shou'd enjoy that Glory, which his own labours and fervices in a manner entitled him to. That fuch a method was propos'd, even before the French befieg'd Barcelona, and that it was not perhaps ill projected, may be seen by the following Letter.

ingrepressing for that purposes form ranged an agrees end in a surrelated and with a last Wind end a Vote while to the dead of the lexit which are in a good concessor, only Tishow . But causarkin long tish Sign partlers of Possegul. The Energy have but too this soft for naid oon; tud Arms; affairs well onang die our le A

As Lettter of the Earl of Peterborows to the King of Spain aufrom Valencia. March 112.

his Lordibip, long defore this Cannot help offering to your Majeffy an advice, which will appear extraordinary. I find many that would propose ways to lose all in our present circumstances, which is to march part of our Troops towards Catalogia. I confess, Sir, I would have your Majesty in the present conjuncture takes resolution as extraordinary, as that which brought you before Barcelona.

I would not have your Majesty go to Lisbon; but embark in some clean Ships I have prepar'd for that purpose, some careen'd at Argiers and in other places, and with a fair Wind endeavour to gain the first Land in Portugal, putting your self at the head of the 25000 which are in a good condition, on the borders of Portugal. The Enemy have but 5000 Men on that side of Spain in Arms; affairs well chang'd in our savour

EI

fly w apper nia to perfo no Coal for y body fador touch

leave of Ca Advithe Cand f finess Catalo the v

that a

your vour, I doubt not but your Majefly wou'd foon arrive at Madrid.

d

2

t

0

e

0

Sir, at first this has an extraordinary appearance: but the Voyage from Denia to that part of Portugal, may be perform'd in a Week without hazard, no Vessels of France being upon this I fee nothing fo great, fo fecure Coast. for your Majesty. But, Sir, the urmost Secrecy is necessary; and I wou'd have no body trusted but the Portuguese Embas fador, whose Vanity wou'd perhaps be touch'd, to fee the finishing Stroke from his own Country. If your Majesty wou'd leave the Prince of Heffe Vice-Roy of Catalonia, with Orders to follow my Advice in what concerns the War, and the Council of the Count de Savella, and some others properly chosen in Bufiness, I wou'd undertake to maintain Catalonia and Valencia, and perhaps open the way to Madrid. This, Sir, perhaps were the finest Stroke in Politicks that any Age has produc'd, and the least expected; and which might even give the quickest relief to Caratonia, which wou'd not be so vigoroully attack'd, if your Majesty were in Person elsewhere.

swied the County round A

We now find the Earl of Pe. terborow near Madrid, and join'd to the Portuguese Army, as soon as he cou'd break through the impediments, which obstructed his march, with any pretence or fafety: and what cou'd bring him thither but his own inclination and judgment, fince he was fo well furnish'd with excuses, that would have justify'd his not coming at all? His Lordship expected to have met a flourishing Army, ready to carry the King in triumph to Madrid: not questioning but in those 40 days, wherein his Lordship not only made preparations to march into Castile, but took Carthagena, Cuenca, Alicant, and Requena (places of great strength, and consequence) that the Portuguese Generals had with like caution and activity secur'd the Country round Madrid.

fide opposed of or for har ty in with the take dri

arr and Ar

ho

the 25

'd

on

n-

is fe-

m

on

fo

at

n. I.

rin

e-

S, ly

to

n.

es

4-

fident, that had he had those opportunities in his hands, he wou'd soon have driven the Duke of Berwick beyond the Ebro: or at least cou'd never have been so destitute of information, as to have suffer'd an Army of twenty thousand men to come within two hours march of him, without the least intelligence of their approach, or to have given them the opportunity of retaking Madrid without a blow.

Yet this was the State in which affairs were, at his Lordship's arrival in the Portuguese Camp; and he found the Consederate Army, not prepar'd (as he had hop'd) for a glorious entrance into Madrid, but retreating before the Enemy: and every body did that justice to my Lord Tyrawly, as to own 'twas in a great measure fure owing to his Conduct, That, upon such a surprize, they were capable of making any retreat.

To recover the difgrace of this almost fatal miscarriage, the general opinion inclin'd to fighting: the Earl of Peterborow too well knew the consequences of a loft Battle, and the great advantages that wou'd accrue to the publick by acting Defensively, and therefore oppos'd this motion, our circumstances being then the most improper for hazarding the whole of what we had in Spain. Yet at the same time his Lordship made an offer to attempt, with 5000 men, the recovety of Madrid; and the methods he defign'd to take were allow'd fo likely to fucceed, that it was approv'd more than once by the King and all the Generals. But now confultations were tedious, and 9111

and two define war littling pur Littling pur Littling ed I ship rep had

diat

Que

rati

the by friv

tha

and executions flow: so that after two or three days debate, the defign was laid afide meerly for want of Bread; there being as little preparations made for staying here, as there had been for purlying the Duke of Berwick

His Lordship, after a few days continuance here, where fo little was to be done, refolv'd immediately to put in Execution the Queen's orders, that commanded him to Italy. Upon his Lordhip's leaving Guadalaxara, 'twas reported here in England, that he had quitted the Army in difcontent and upon his own head, rather defigning a Voyage of pleasure to Italy, than going thither either upon any bufiness, or by any orders. But so false and frivolous were these imputations, that he had the Queen's positive commands for going; and not only only the consent, but even the most pressing sollicitation of the King himself, of his Minsters as well as the Queens, and of all the Generals at Guadalaxara. The plainest and best answer to this accusation against his Lordship, may, I think, be taken from the following papers.

acts to putt in Execution the secrist or iers, enter community

-broll and modifications or rain h the les out of audal more patients and fair (badyles) that he in quinted the Army in diflo agago / se go os seb sodie.

with grains and tracket of rachole or citizen on any liminals, or the orders believed the control of in olous were their imperations, o withing a court of and a control of · Vigo

sort brist gring retrabalant Part

the

vou

shall lick

out

migl

fent whe

as m

Nego the thin

leav

Sir (

Occ

Ship

tho

ons

Part of the Instructions to the Earl of Peterborow, and Sir Cloudesly Shovel, dated 4th of May, 1705.

Aving given You, the Earl of Peterborow, a Liberty to serve on board our Fleer, or on Shore, by Virtue of the Commissions and Instructions to you given, as in your Judgment you shall think most convenient for the Publick Service; and confidering that, without our special Licence express'd, it might not be proper for you to be abfent from either of those Commands, where with you are entrusted; yet for as much as many Occasions may offer, wherein you may be of Service to us in Negociations of Importance, apart from the aforemention'd Commands, think it therefore expedient upon fuch Occasions, to allow you the Liberty to leave the Fleet under the Command of Sir Cloudefly Shovel, and to embark, as Occasion shall require, on some clean Ship for the greater dispatch, towards the more speedy setling and adjusting those Services, to which our Instructions refer.

Part of the Instructions to the Earl of Peterborow dated 3d May, 1705,

YOU shall upon all Occasions, upon any Conferences, or Consulta-tions with any Princes, or States, in Confederacy with us, with any of their Ministers or Commanding Officers, endeavour to procure in Writing, what they propose, and require on our part, what they offer on theirs for carrying on any defigns against the common Enemies.

ni su or convint la od cam nov ni sus or writed Today you work or ground dip for the greeter different, countds enthuits has anish ybesqt soon ob

The le Services, to which our infracti-ibu armo I includanto a in May

Inft

rc

Ju

three affift Turin ting t inftru Spain vices have in ou tocor ons fo poffit to the be ce Turin that]

to the

the w lected

ing re nt the Pleas ander the Command of th

Instructions to the Earl of Peterborow and Sir John Leake, dated June 12th, 1706

THereas by our Instructions of the 2d of April, and the 14th of May last, we have directed you to fend three or more of our Regiments to the affistance of the Duke of Savoy, in Case Turin should be besieg'd; and for putting that Service in Execution, you were instructed to concert with the King of Spain; fince which we have receiv'd advices that Turin is actually befieg'd. We have thought fit hereby to require you in our Name to press the King of Spain to confent to the putting those Instructions forthwith in Execution, and if it be possible to fend five of our Regiments to the Duke of Savoy, in Case you shall be certainly advised that the Siege of Turin is carrying on: The relieving of that Prince being of fo great Importance to the King of Spain himself, as well as the whole Confederacy, as not to be neglected; fince the Consequence of his being reduced will necessarily be the puting ing an end to the War in Italy, and leav. ing the French Forces in that Country to be employ'd in Spain or elsewhere. And to induce the King of Spain the rather to concur in this Service, you are to represent to him that so long as the French Troops are employ'd in the Siege of Turin, he will have the less Occasion for our Troops in Spain, and especially fince we have already taken Measures for fending our Forces now in Portugal to the King of Spain's affiftance, in Cafe the Portuguese should, contrary to our expectation, make further Difficulties in Marching forward to Madrid. And that in Case they are going on, you are to observe to the King of Spain he will then have less reason to detain in Spain, the Troops we propose for the Duke of Savoy's Assistance. And you are to understand this Instruction, as what we extreamly defire to be put in Execution, leaving it to your Care and Prudence to proceed therein fo far as is pra-Cticable, confidering the present posture of the Affairs of us and our Allies in Spain: of which you can better judge, being on the place, than 'tis possible for us to direct positively at this distance. ced will nocefficily be the par

200

And

on fro

toma

it flia

thei D

fieg'd

Troop

and t

as the

ppon,

with c thefe 1

not be both ti

Duke

dron to you pe

SATION

Neptes king a

Endea

tho' We

Service

ve do

will fer

for the bere.

And whereas you have an Instruction from our Dearest Confort, the Prince. makes Detaroliment of our Fleen and to repair therewith to Naples: In Cafe Hall be agreed to lend affiftance to the Duke of Dever upon his being be-fied in Turin, you are to take fuch our Troops with you for his Affiftance, and and them at Uneglia or fuch other place, as the Duke of Savoy and you shall agree opon, and afterwards you are to proceed with our Ships to Naples, according to not be found practicable to comply with both these Services, that is, to affilt the Duke of Savay, and to go with a Squafron to Naples: It is our Pleasure that you perform the Service for the Duke of woy preferible to that of going to Naples: We being very defirous of ta-Endeavours to support so good an Ally, the weare very earnest that both these services should be comply'd with. we do not doubt but the King of Spain will fend such Powers and Directions for the Government of Naples, as are equilite in Cale of your fucceeding Sign of o'll estable: We do list

And wiscreas you have an Infruction from curDearest Confort, the Prince formal and the start of carolinary and the prince in the curdear start of the prince in the curdear start of the conformal c and them at Oneglia or fuch other place,

Thereas by our Instructions of the 2d of April, and the 14th of May last, we have directed you to send three or more of our Regiments to the affiltance of the Duke of Savoy, in Case Turiz should be beliefed. Copies of which Instructions are herewith sent you, and by our surther Instructions of the 12th of this Instant June, we have order d three of our Regiments to be sent to the succouring the Duke of Savoy, in Case the Siege of Turin is carried on, of which you have herewith also a Copy; since which time we have received Advices from the Duke of Savoy, and from our Minister residing at his Court that the Siege of Turin is pusht on with the utmost Vigour, and that there is an indispensible Necessity to relieve the Prince, if it be possible: We do hereby requi to fer to his found rea fo Affair the f Troo are to more, And a three to the do not cers o cur w able n Conju of our ders t by thi therein tageou War, fuch o per, a mer In

And gence i require you? upon the receipt hereof. to fend at least three of our Regiments: whis Affiftance, as far as it may be found practicable. And as we have reason to hope that the King of Spain's Affairs are in To good a Condition, sthat the fending three Regiments of our Troops can be no Prejudice to him, you are to press him to Consent to so many more, as can conveniently be spared. And as you are hereby directed to fend three Regiments at least of our Troops to the Duke of Savoy's Assistance, We do not doubt but you will find the Officers of the States General ready to concur with you, in fending a proportionable number of their own Troops, in Conjunction with the faid three or more of our Regiments, pursuant to the Orders they will receive from the States by this Pacquet; and you are to proceed therein as shall be judged most advanageous for the Service by a Council of War, and to Land them at Oneglia, or such other place as shall be judged proper, as you are directed to do in our former Instructions.

10

of

id

he

ie of H of ve be

7

F 7 5

ha

b

re

And though you shall receive intelligence that Turin is taken, you are nevertheless to proceed in sending the K 2 Duke

Duke of Savoy the said Succours of three or more of our Regiments, with a proportionable number of Troops of the States General, for his Support, in Case he shall be retir'd to Quieras, or Comi, and shall still stand upon his Defence.

enim of outside Confert to for a series of as can conveniently by traced.

Edingston and Their to Telling Stora . Test bistonici iliv oc. il

20 Ser . Incolour, Chicago is appears to most everyouth a co

-navia flom houber of Hadi can

To just the Secretary is the Control of and a control of and a control of a control on hard to the figure and a second to งาร์ว กร. โล อริ ซม โอมิ อสิโก สิโก สิโก สิโก สิโก

per A. Furly.

Size Love and ideot ? ...

White

A Lei

My

the r count Capit under duced her M in her an AH though Day to (which is fent upon forcer

theAr

least to Dukes praction fo full have of

A Letter from Sir Charles Hedges, Secretary of State, to the Earl of Peterborow.

Whitehall, June 19th, 1706.

My Lord,

A Courier being arriv'd from the Duke of Savoy with Letters of the 13th Instant, N.S. giving an account of his being very hard prest in his Capital of Turin, by the French Army under the Duke de la Feuillade, and reduced to the greatest Extremities; and her Majesty being defirous of doing all in her Power for the support of so good an Allie, and judging it an absolute necessity in order thereunto, that a Reinforcement be immediately fent him, from the Army under your Command: She has thought fit by her Instruction dated this Day to your Excellency and Sir John Lake (which as the most certain conveyance is sent to Sir John Lake) to require you upon the Receipt thereof, to fend at healt three of Her Regiments to that Dukes assistance, as far as it shall be practicable. The States General are fo fofully convinced of the Necessity and Importance of this Service, that they have dispatch'd their Orders, which are fent herewith to their General and Admiral

K 3

miral, and there is no doubt but they will concur with your Excellency, in fending to that Prince, a proportionable number of their own Forces.

There is reason to believe, that even the loss of Turin will not induce the Duke of Savoy to desert the Common Cause, but that he will retire first to Quieras, and afterwards, in Case he shall be pusht, to Coni; and there do what he can to keep up the Diversion he has hitherto with so much Constancy and Resolution given to the Enemy: in which Case as your Excellency will see in the Instructions, you are to succour him, provided he be still upon his Desence.

His Royal Highness is so sensible of your Excellencies great Courage and Conduct, and the success that still accompanies your Person, wherever you go, whereby you have more than once restor'd our Assairs, when under Intricate Dissiculties, that he has desir'd you might your self bring the Succours to him: to which her Majesty has given her Consent, but leaves it wholly to your Excellency, to go thither or not, as you shall judge it most suitable to her Majesty's Service, and your own Conveniency. I am, etc.

C. Hedges

of J licit Saup ly a King ferv Lord gain of Ja most from fure Lord mucl

high

instea

for th

Read

were

ftru&

for

n

e

n

le

of

d u

e i-

u

er

At the first orders of the nath of June from the Queens to fold licit Succours for the Duke of Saupy, by their being for chtires lyapprov'd and enforc'd by the King of Spain, (as is before obferv'd) shew that neither his Lordship's Troops nor Person were thought necessary at Madid? So the orders repeated again and enlarg'd upon the 19th of June, and accompany'd with the most bearnest brecommendations from the Secretary of State, were fure fufficient motives for his Lordship's Voyage: a service so much censur'd at home, and so highly valu'd abroad. His Lordship instead of wanting any Apology for these proceedings, has, as the Reader sees, such Authorities for every step he made; that were he now to draw up new Infructions on purpose, and adapt K 4 them to justifie what he had done, he wou'd not defire them to be in one tittle different from the Instruments just now produc'd. Thefe orders were communicated to the King: and the approbation of all the Generals and Ministers so fully express'd in the Council of War here annex'd, give occasion of Astonish. ment to People abroad, how, or by whom fuch objections against his Lordship cou'd be rais'd.

Saloga eng minasy 19,150 graduation declared thing as the contractors states, eschaped the state of the that all wear in warb of weeking any

A sections on purpose and adapt Ital to (cou the ever nior exec vior ceiv

atte

tho ons agn

Fle mit

10 n

els

r

A Council of War held at the Palace of Guadalaxara the 9th of August, 1706.

HE Earl of Peterborow having communicated to the Council the politive Orders, which he had received from the Queen his Mistress, to arrend the Fleet with some Troops to ledy; and offering at the same time to contribute, of his part, all that could most conduce to the benefit of the Common Caufe, and desiring that every body should explain his Opinion in a Case of such Importance, they executed it accordingly, all of them giving the Intimations which they thought most proper: and the Opinions were generally alike the same, in agreeing,

That my Lord should go with the Fleet to Isaly; procuring that the Admirals should leave a competent number of Ships on the Coast of Andalusia, to hinder, by that diversion, the Enemies mies Troops, designed for the desence of Cadiz, and other Frontier Places, from joyning with the Duke of Anjou's Army, to the very great prejudice of the Common Caufe.

That, my Lord Peterborow, having put in Execution the Queens Commands in Italy, should without delay, return with the Fleet, and attempt the taking of Port Mahon, judging this Conquest of the very highest Importance, in the present posture of Affairs; the Coasts of Catalonia and Valencia remaining ever expos'd to the Invalion of the Enemy, unless protected by the Neighbourhood of the Fleet. For which end, it is indispensible, that the Fleet be ordered to continue during the Winter in the faid Port, and that the necessary Instances be repeated to the Queen of England, that She would please to Command, that Her Fleet have such Orders for the enfuing Winter, without which, the conservation of Catalonia and Valencia must be despaired of,

The Earl of Peterboron Charges himfelf with the Care of fending light Frigats to Lisbon, to transport the Mony which might have been provided in that Court for the Pay of the Army, as well

wel

maj

pre

Mai

Lor

Em

Cou

Her

well as to bring the Intelligences, that may be Important to the Success of the present Engagements.

PRESENT

Marquess das Minas. Lord Gallway. Embassador of Portugal. Count Noyailles.

Her Majesty's Envoy, Mr. Stanhope.

Prince Antonii de Lichtenstein.

per A. Furly.

Besides these Powers to authorize his leaving Spain, his Lordship had withal very strong and prevailing reasons from the pofture of affairs there. For very miserable was the present condition of our Army, for want of mony; and the prospect still worse, unless effectual means were us'd for a speedy supply. In this necessity the Ministers and Generals earnestly recommended the affair of mony to his Lordship, the Marquess das Minas and the Portuguese Embassador gave him Bills to transact for them at Genoa: and the King, to shew both his want of mony and his confidence in my Lord, gave his Lordship power, rather than he shou'd fail in his Negotiation, to morgage any part of his Dominions.

CHARLES,

19 0

UX

Earl Troo

Quec

mano

der'd

to th

our S

rope;

tion a

Arra

pear:

ceffe

part:

our d

just

of p certa

Wor

Hav

Corn

flug

CHARLES, By the Grace of God King of Spain, &c. Whereas the Earl of Peterborow, General of the Troops of the most Serene Lady the Queen of England our Sifter, and Commander in chief of our Forces, is order'd to go with the Fleet of the Allies to the Coasts of Italy, to advance the Common Cause, to the great Benefit of our Subjects and of the Princes of Europe; having by our assiduous application and the affiftance of our Allies, deliver'd our Subjects of the Crown of Arragon from the French Yoke, as appears by the great and prosperous Successes which we have obtain'd in those parts by the Divine Affistance: Finding our felves at prefent at the Head of the Army in Caftile, to put an end to our just Undertakings, and standing in need of proportionable means for the more certain accomplishment of that great Work, which by the late extraordinary Expences we are at present destitute of: Having therefore reflected upon the good Correspondence, which the Republick of Genoa has always held with our August House, which leads us to promise our selves the continuation of the same at so important a Juncture for the quiet and Peace of Europe; and the great confidence, which we ought to have in the known Zeal, Activity, and prov'd Experience of the Earl of Peterborow in our Service: We have refolv'd to give him, befides the Military Powers and Authority, which we have invested him with, Commissions Power and Authority, as we do by these Presents, to Solicite, Treat and Concert in our Royal Name. with the faid Republick, and its Inhabitantsin Common or in Particular, a Loan of 100000 Pittols, or any greater or smaller Sums, at fuch Interests and upon such Conditions as shall to the faid Earl feem proper; with express and ample Power, not only to Sign the Obligations, Writings, and the Necessary Cautions in our Royal Name for the Security of Sum which shall be lent, but also to grant and give such Assignments as shall feem convenient to the Persons concerned, upon our Royal Rents and Patrimonies of our Kingdoms and Dominions, or of any of them. Wherefore, we grant unto the faid Earl of Peterborow, the proper Powers and Authority to execute the fame, as largely largel and a ment longu us. thele

Roya Seal.

pro plant o,oc

Dyon

a an resc reac

yand nitti e fate

> noq mid-

11 31

largely and amply as above express'd, and as if the said Obligations, Assignments, and other Writs thereunto belonging, were Granted and Signed by us. In Testimony whereof, we order these Presents to be passed with our Royal Firm, and sealed with our Royal Seal.

or Given at Guadalaxara, 10 As-three our felves from your great Condail.

Directes the throubles of Grana and in the Republics of Grana and you find that the main grace and efficact out from the form of in form wante Bushest leaving to your directions, the way and the convenient to the way and the dollars which most convenient to fond us the whole, or note of the factors.

clearly reclusived how much it import to the wellere of the hoblick, particularly reclingly your fell for feeling tupport and remedies to the preferent

 E_{∞}

historian ovode se vigine ban plage of the first of the last of the Instructions give the Last of Peterborous by the King of Spain, to be executive of the last of

I Sing the Commission and Power, by particular Letters Patents, we promise our selves from your great Conduct, effectually to obtain the Loan of 100,000 Pistoles from the Republick of Genoa and its Inhabitants, using such Measures as you shall think most proper and efficacious to succeed in so important a Business, leaving to your directions, the way and time you shall think most convenient to fend us the whole, or part of the faid Monies; being convinced you are fufficiently perfuaded how much it imports to the welfare of the Publick, particularly to apply your felf for feeking fupport and remedies to the present urgent Necessities.

What

W

his I

of go

found fion For confe

Gene but t

file ,

there

them

I mu

in th

Suppo

but t conce

appea

ces of retrea

much

his C

nion

.lsad

What still further confirm'd his Lordship in this resolution of going to Italy, was, that he found at this juncture no occafion for his presence in Spain. For the Campagne was now confessedly at an end, and our Generals propos'd nothing else but to go into Quarters in Ca-file, and maintain themselves there, till the Season would give them leave to retake the Field. I must observe here by the by, that his Lordship was mistaken in thinking the Forces wou'd support themselves in Castile; but that this was the defign concerted, when he left them, appears by the loud remonstrances of all the Spaniards against the retreat into Valencia: and how much posses'd the King and all his Officers were with this opinion of keeping their ground in

146 The E. of Peterborow's in Castile, the Count Noyailles has in the fullest and most sensible manner explain'd, in a Letter he wrote to my Lord Peterborow, while they were retreating. of the Campagne was and the day and and our

Danie

AL

to 1010

My 1

fince yo

Our M

othing Towns

es thre

oven y he Spa

ot pre

rretar Sea for er for

Vinter

Caft nd Ga

mbed

M kia;

hat P muc

ves o

enculs recoesed whing ellip or to go mio Quarters in Co it, and maintain theirdelver ere, till the Seaten would give can leave to retake the Field. and observe here by the by thinking the Forces would port themselves in Caffile; at that this was the defigu secured, when he left them, pears by she loud remonitranof all the Spaniards against the treat into Valencie: and how ach postered the King and all is Officers were with this opiof keeping their ground

A Letter of Count Noyailles to the Earl of Peterboachie conjunctor of to remedy word menforce Connconfishenc with the Brigger Au Co Ber Biffit A. Hal orls have

My Lord, and contrar, brot w OUR Excellency must excuse me, oif you have not heard from me mee your departure from Guadalaxara. our Marches, which are remarkable by othing but the burning of all the lowns, and the Pillage of the Plasthro' which we passed, would have even you little farisfaction. With all e Spaniards of thy Opinion, I could ot prevent our March from Chincon, retard the passage over the Tage, in season so little advanced, and so profor Action! We were flatter'd, that Inter-Quarters should be established Caftile, between the Rivers Xucar d Gabriel, whiere we are now Enmped; but it is plainly feen, that we March into the Kingdom of Vaia, fo contrary to the King's Defire. At Precipitate March that we made, much refembling running away, es our Monarch infinite Chagrine I. 2 and

and the last Affliction. Our happiness is, our Enemies show so little Vigour, and they feem to content themselves with following us. In my Opinion there is but one refolution to be taken in this conjuncture, to remedy (if poffible) measures so inconsistent with the King's Interest, and contrary to his Intentions. What is left us to do, is to possess Cuenca with the Spanish Troops: perhaps this Resolution of his Majesty will oblige the Generals of the Allies to support it, at least it is undeniable, that this motion of our Troops will manifest to the whole World the Aims and Intentions of this Prince As I am inform'd, Cuenca is a great City, recommended by its situation, the places in this Country having no other Fortification The taking possession of it was a considerable Service, tho' you were oblig'd to divide the few Troops you had: we are now under the like Necessity to fe cure it, this Town being one of the best in Castile, after Madrid. I cannot suppose that the Allies will so far oppose themselves to the King's Desires, and draw upon them the whole Spanish Na tion, as they would inevitably do, i they should expose their Troops alone to fect Rules of the them ever, time Enem must Post they figns.

doubt

one O feetly feem'd Intelli
us, I fame
other which this C Perfon
fion.
Modefi
true, th

been o poffible oppo 9

г,

n

n

e

1-

O

s:

to

i-

d

n-

is

n.

d

Ve

e ı

P

nd

1

ne

Rules of War. But it is hard to judge of their Actions, after all we have feen them do this Campaign: We hope, however, the Troops may retire, and have time sufficient for so doing; since the Enemy cannot naturally doubt, but must believe, that we shall sustain this Post with the utmost Vigour, unless they are perfectly informed of our Designs. A little time will clear all our doubts.

The greatest satisfaction that I have, my Lord, is, that we have always had one Opinion: and that we have fo perfelly comply'd with what the Queen feem'd so earnestly to defire, in that good Intelligence which was ever between us, I have endeavour'd to keep up the ame good Correspondence with the other Generals; for a certain proof of which you know, my Lord, I have made this Campaigne, attending the King's Person without Command or Pretension. I think it is hardly possible that Modesty could go a greater length. It is true, those Councils of War, where I have been oblig'd to assist, it was often impossible for me to be of their Opinions, opposite to mine and those of the L 3 Spa-

Spaniards, who should best know their own Country.

Your Fate, my Lord, is more agreeable and happy than mine; you are a Witness in Italy of nothing but good Fortune, owing to good Conduct, so much wanting with us. Your presence is wished for here, and unless you bring us Money, our affairs are in such an ill Condition, that we must despair of Remedy. Nothing would be more useful to the King, or more agreeable to your Friends, than your coming. Do me the Honour to place me in that Number, and believe me with a persect Esteem,

My Lord,

te is limited political at at

Your Excellencies, &c.

Villa Verde, Oct. 23, 1706.

C. NOYAILLES.

His to think and those of the Spare His left new nigh had gage in V Mul with for the Pou joyr not Sou did fer'c Lor 100 lum mar not

wel

was

H

d fo

ce

ng ill

e-ul

ur he

Ii

His Lordship soon after he had left Guadalaxara, receiv'd the ill news, that the Enemy, the same night they recovered Madrid, had likewise seiz'd all his baggage, which he had left at Huete: in which his Lordship lost all his Mules, Horses and Carriages, with all his Equipage prepar'd for his Embassy at Madrid, to the value of eight thousand Pounds. The City and the adjoyning Villages, which indeed not only might have hinder'd the Souldiers from plundering it, but did actually affift them in it, offer'd publickly to repair his Lordship's loss, by a payment of 10000 Pistoles, or any larger sum that his Lordship wou'd demand. This his Lordship wou'd not accept of; but knowing as well the plenty of Corn there was in this Country, as the ex-L 4 treme treme want of it in the Confederate Army, chose rather to take this opportunity of supplying the present necessities we were in for Bread; and obliged the Magistrates of that District to lay in fuch Magazines of Corn, as were sufficient to maintain 20000 men for two months. In fo generous a manner did his Lord-Thip provide for an Army, which he had left under the command of another: and fure he won't be thought the worse General for this extraordinary conduct of taking so much care of the publick interest, and so little of his own.

His Lordship upon his arrival at Alicant, found peremptory orders from England for a Squadron to go to the West Indies: so that the defigns propos'd for the Fleet upon Port Mabon, in

the

the

wei

onl

do

for

cur

Va

the

the

the wa

int

the

ly

the cil

ill

the

fit

to hiş

lit

G

0

)-

e

e

0

IS

0 o

i-

h

d ıl

of

)-

ıl

r

n

the Council held at Guadalaxara, were intirely prevented. The only thing his Lordship had to do more, before his embarking for Italy, was to fortifie and fecure the Country and Coast of Valencia, against the Insults of the Bishop of Murcia: and therefore, though press'd the King and the Lord Galway to fend up the Forces there into Castile, his Lordship had the unanimous Opinion, not only of all the Gentlemen of the Country, but of a Council of War, that confidering the ill circumstances of our affairs in those inland parts, and the necesfity of keeping a fure footing towards the Sea, it was of the highest consequence, that the little number we had then in Garrison at Alicant, shou'd still con-continue there; as well for securing the Kingdom of Valencia, as preserving the communication with Castile: as is more fully express'd in the following Council of War.

or against the intelestor or and thoron, though prefet districted the

A

haif

The

The

The

The

The Lie

Lie

Lie

Lie

Ma

Ma

Ma

tic

Aing and the Lord walls that semistrock and political had in Country, per of a countries cocumitances of our arrowing televing indend party, and the necession keeping a functionating constitute Sea, it was at the

A comber we had then in

- 101

e

At a General Council of War, held at the General's Quarters in Alicant, Sept. 6th, 1706. O.S.

PRESENT

The Honble Brigadier Richard Gorge. The Honble Brigadier Robert Killegrew. The Honble Collonel John Pepper.
The Honble Collonel Joseph Stopford. The Honble Collonel Thomas Allnutt. Lieutenant Collonel Archibald Hamilton. Lieutenant Collonel George Whitmore. Lieutenant Collonel William Steward. Lieutenant Collonel Ellis Cooper. Lieutenant Collonel Josline Mead. Major Charles Steward. Major Salomon Rapine. Major Thomas Phillips. Major Theodore Collier.

Pon several heads proposed to us by the Earl of Peterborow, relating to the Publick Services on this critical Occasion: We the Officers compoling posing this Council of War agree unanimously in the following Opinions:

That, Whereas the King to Sir John Lake, and the Earl of Gallway to the Earl of Peterborow, has signified their Defires, That the Forces employed in the Siege of Alicant should forthwith March into Castile; We most folemnly declare, That we are fensible the least diminution of the Forces here, would lose immediately all the Country from Alicant to Tortofa; and not only fo, but that the Army and the King's Person would be exposed to the utmost hazard, by the communication being cut off to the Sea, the only hopes of fupporting this War, or fecuring any part of her Majesty's Troops: besides the number here not exceeding nine hundred Foot, is fo small, that it would little encrease the force of the Army, but entirely lose all this Kingdom. Lastby, It would be the highest Folly to quit the impregnable Castle of Alicant, we have taken, and the Troops here are hardly fufficient for the Garrison of that on We the Chicers com-

gaillog

Upon

op

W

ly

to

lef

in

by op

th

th

or fu

mi

hi

to

m fo he

fa

ta

ir

0 d

1d

st

e

st st ysel

Upon what good reasons the opinion of this Council of War was grounded, and how exactly they foresaw what was likely to happen to the Army in Cafile, appear'd but too visible in less than two months after. And indeed if his Lordship had not by this prudent forecast kept open the communication between the Sea and Castile, whither cou'd they themselves, that desir'd these Forces, have made their retreat? or where cou'd their Army have subsisted till the Battle of Ala but his Lordship cord? Sinem

Twas for the same reasons, that his Lordship resolv'd not to carry any of these Troops with him to Italy: and that he thought it more expedient to take the reinforcement defign'd for Savoy, if he shou'd find that service necesfary, out of the Garrisons of Catalonia. But,

But; his Lordship having been fome days at Sea, had the good fortune to meet with the Mary Galley, which brought him the welcome news of the great Victory obtain'd at Turin: fo that now there was no further occafion of carrying any Forces to Italy. However, the Negotiations his Lordship was charg'd with for mony, besides the necesfity of having his Squadron clean'd there odetermin'd his Lordship to pursue his Voyage to Genoa. And that none but his Lordship cou'd tranfact this great affair of the mony, was as evident, as the extremities we lay under for the want of it; and this was not only the fense of all those that affisted in the Councils at Guadalaxara, but of all the ANO out of the Garrisons of Ce.

Off left and nec

in I reprilement

liw

Officers too that his Lordship lest behind him in Valencia: and the usefulness, or rather necessity of his Lordship's going in Person can't be more forcibly represented, than itis in the following Council of War.

TREERNT.

The Har Briganier Richard Gorge, " The Monte Brazadio Robert Killigrew. The Healt Coll. Joint Peppers and Coll The Hone's College Scoptorde cares The there Coyl. I house Allmore him Lagrange Call. Am ubald Handson.

Brates on Coll. Wilham Steward & S. La without Coll Estis Cooper. 1550 Lieu engy Cin. follow Mend. Major Charles Stoward. Major Salomon Rapine. Major Vhomas Pinthes. Alator Theodore Colher, he since

HE harl of Veterboron liaving laid before us the Commission from the king of Spain, to treat with the Genseles about Mony, and the Bill

Officers too that his Lordfhip

At a general Council of War, held at the General's Quarters in Alicant, Sept. 6.

PRESENT

The Honble Brigadier Richard Gorge.
The Honble Brigadier Robert Killigrew.
The Honble Coll. John Pepper.
The Honble Coll. Joseph Stopford.
The Honble Coll. Thomas Allnutt.
Lieutenant Coll. Archibald Hamilton.
Lieutenant Coll. George Whitmore.
Lieutenant Coll. William Steward.
Lieutenant Coll. Ellis Cooper.
Lieutenant Coll. Josline Mead.
Major Charles Steward.
Major Salomon Rapine.
Major Thomas Phillips.
Major Theodore Collier.

HE Earl of Peterborow having laid before us 'the Commission from the King of Spain, to treat with the Genoeses about Mony, and the Bills of the thou the uf dition of Mo by th jesty's the ill comn be ke ing la been the A the Fo hithe Difci tellige of th ame] Troop dence For redier hoped endea bringi thence forced by the ate if 6.

ng

n

th

19

of

of the Marquess das Minas for a hundred thousand Pounds to be Negotiated for theuse of his Troops, and the present Condition of the Army without a farthing of Mony to pay the Troops: and finding, by the Murther of fo many of her Maefty's Officers and Soldiers in Caftile, the ill effects of the Rapine and Plunder committed by the Army, which cannot be kept in Discipline without Pay, having laid before us likewife, that he has been forced to give the King of Spain the Mony destined for the payment of the Forces upon his Establishment, which hitherto having liv'd under the feverest Discipline, and with the utmost good Intelligence with the People, we judge it of the highest Consequence that the ame Regularity should continue in the Troops, and the fame good Correspondence with the People.

For which there being no other Expedient, but Mony, and no Mony to be hoped for but by the Earl of Peterborow's endeavouring to obtain it at Genoa, and bringing it down in clean Ships from thence upon this Coast, we have been seed to approve the Resolution taken by the said Earl to go in Person, to obvithe is possible the fatal Necessity: having

Mpofed to by Sea

no Objection, but the hazards, to which we doubt his Lordship exposes himself for the Publick Service.

His Lordship having intimated to us likewise the hopes of a considerable Body of German Horse, which may be brought difinounted with their Accoutrements, having already settled something of that kind with the Duke of Savor, which we are fenfible would be the highest Service to the King of Spain in the present Circumstance; considering also that his Lordship has left the Armi upon positive Orders from the Queen i relation to Italy, the Services being foo to end in these Parts till after the Rains and there being no Troops that can b fent from hence to the Army, or tha are of that Consequence as to requir the Prefence of a General, his Lordshi having given to Brigadier Gorge all th necessary directions for the Fortifyin the Castle of Alicant, and providing with Provisions, which when in Cond tion, we hope may be defended again any Force what foever. For these Re fons we agree of the Important Service that the Earl of Peterborow may effect t the Voyage to Italy: not being comp tent Judges of the hazards, to which the General may be exposed to by Sea.

nec and in diff this

leer

miss Ear

Gua

of with his Italy ch elf

us

30-

be ou-

ne-

Sa-

the e in

ing

m nii

001 ins 6

tha vid fhi th yin ng ond ain Re ice 2 t np

h th

By this it appears under what necessities they were in Valencia: and that the Army, which was in Caftile, labour'd under the same difficulties, and was as eager for this supply from Italy, may be feen, not only by the Commission and Powers given the Earl of Peterborow at his leaving Guadalaxara, but by this Letter of Her Majesty's Envoy then with the King of Spain, sent to his Lordship, while he was in Italy, who simplifies the same of the same same

M 2

Ex-

Extract of Mr. Stanhope's Letter, dated October 12. 1706.

I Can only tell your Lordship in a few Words, that since you lest us, our affairs have gone de mal en pire. Our whole Army is quarter'd in the Kingdom of Valencia, except a Garrison in Cuenca, and another in Requena, the only two places we maintain in Castile, and for those we are not without apprehensions. Our Horse is ruin'd. Your Lordship knows, how well stock'd with Mony you lest us, and will consequently judge how impatiently we expect your return.

Wha

11

Di

my

for tha

pre

107

of

voy,

pol

que

Wa

thei

Italy here extr

Gene ded to bove

by 1

et-

us,

dire.

the

rri-

ena,

out

n'd.

ck'd nfe-

ex

ha

What other Negotiations his Lordship carried on in Italy, for believe he was not idle in the Duke of Savoy's Court, is out of my way to relate: but it was ometime after discours'd abroad, that a Defensive War in Spain, as press'd by the Earl of Peterboiow, and approv'd by the King of Spain, and the Duke of Savoy, wou'd have procur'd us the possession of Toulon, and consequently a happy end of the War.

To load his Lordship yet further upon this head of going to Italy, it was the general clamour here, that his Lordship gave an extravagant interest of 20 per cent. for procuring the mony at Genoa (which wou'd have amounted to 20000 l.) whereas not above one thousand was allow'd by his Lordship above the cur-M 3 obtain'd in such difficult circumstances, in so little time, and at so little loss, perhaps is as extraordinary, as any one of those many Services he did in the Spanish War. His Lordship having succeeded beyond expectation, brought the mony safe to Valencia, where he found all the Confederate Forces under the same pressing wants he lest them: and was receiv'd with universal joy, and all imaginable acknowledgments of his good Services.

How serviceable this Voyage was thought of, and how all the views of it were answer'd, can't be more evidently manifested, than by the universal applause of the Spanish Nation, and the esteem and respect paid his Lordship by all the Princes abroad:

and

ful

his

Conduct in Spain. 167

m

7-at X-

fe

a-

ıg

n-

1-le d

ge e

and in particular, how sensible his Catholick Majesty was of the advantages gain'd by it, appears fully by this Instrument under his own hand.

Www. I there a board south stage of a section to

M 4 As

da asamaqui, may no apos no estado

An Instrument of the King of Spain's approving my Lords Conduct with his Opinion in relation to Naples.

The King,

LLustrious Lord, Earl of Peterborow, General of my Troops, confidering that by the Orders you have receiv'd from the most Serene Queen of Great Britain, my most Dear and much Lov'd good Sifter, you are allow'd (without any hindrance by the Command by Sea and Land, which she has put into your Hands) to pass with some Ships of the Fleet, which to you shall seem proper, to the Expeditions most necessary for the publick Good, which you have lately put in Execution in your Voyage to Italy, with my Approbation, and the Opinions of all the Generals and Ministers, which were with me in my City of Guadalaxara, at the time of your departure, obtaining in that Voyage most known Advantages to my Service, and that confidering that in the present State of Affair doi late ing pro upo val pro

inte wil

pul nar is a ons

fundadji Pris

on ing

giv Eve ing

nec the

ag ag

hirs, much greater Benefits may redound to my Crown by the Propositions lately made for your return to Italy, having acquainted me with the Deligns projected, and fetled for the Attempt upon Naples, or what may prove Equivalent, not doubting but that your approved Conduct in this, and all other the intended Services in those Countries will obtain the Execution of what shall be most proper, and favourable to the publick Interests, and those of my Monarchy, continuing in that Vigour which is always found to diftinguish your Actions, and which recommends those Meafores, which your Zeal and Ability hath adjusted with the Duke of Savoy and Prince Eugene, to whom I shall notify by the first Occasion my entire Satisfaction on in all you have transacted. As likewife to the Queen your Mistress, agreeing in Opinion with the Representations you have made for your speedy return to Italy, that your Personal Assistance may give warmth and procure favourable Events, to the important Affairs depending in those parts, considering it highly necessary that you should be near the the Duke of Savoy at this Conjuncture, and believing you will receive from her British et d

ıt

a

71

10

r,

10

ıt y,

ns h

4-

d-

1-

r

British Majesty Orders that may conduce to the accomplishment of those propitious Events, which I promise my self from your Voyage, and known diligence; for the Interest of my Cause and the publick Good; trufting that your Zeal and Love for my Service will engage you with that Sincerity, which you have ever practis'd to procure the most effe-Aual Endeavours, for the Execution of the Designs in Hand. And if leaving them accomplisht, or in a prospect of Success, you think fit to return to these Kingdoms, you shall find in my Royal Prefence all the demonstrations of Satisfaction, you have reason to expect.

At Valencia the 4th of February, 1706, 7.

Ithe KING.

thi

jeff

Vo

tho

ha

dif

bore

Lo

me

the

pre

tha

upo Ref

to fen

and of vail

den

not tool four

14.4

By Order of the King our Lord, thistid is combiling your of a

All anything the search search

Dan Enrique de Gunter.

This

This Royal Testimony, I think, not only shews his Maesty's entire Approbation of this Voyage, but sufficiently confutes those malicious Infinuations, that have been made of the King's displeasure to the Earl of Peterborow. I have often heard my Lord fay, That he never once met with the least difficulty from the King, when he himself was present with his Majesty; but that all measures were agreed upon, all Councils of War and Resolutions drawn up perfectly to his satisfaction. In his absence indeed false suggestions, and the contrivances and cabals of others have too often prevail'd: and during the correspondence with the Portugal Army, not only unfortunate methods took place, but as his Lordship found at his return from Italy, the the King had, by some Artifices, been wrought upon to signific to the Court of England, some kind of dissatisfaction with his Lordship's Conduct. But that Prince has been since pleas'd fully to justifie to the World the proceedings of his Lordship; and how sensible his Majesty was of his Lordship's affection, how well satisfy'd with his services from time to time, I can't better express than in his Majesty's own Words.

L

n

no

Co

ut

W

fe

ft

F

G

fo

fo ti

t

PB

the sheet up perfective abis taken in his abreduced sale fuggetrons, are contributes and calculate are contribute too often the

with the Portugal Array, est only unfortunate methods Leat his return from They,

ciie

Letters of the King of Spain to the o north Earl of Peterborow.

ledes for you, my land, thy fordering maring them, as well that alans as I along My dear Lord, omit and is week on an

A S I have often in fo many occafions experimented your great Zeal and Affection for my Interest, and Person, so in the fatal conjuncture I now find my felf, I place my greatest Confidence in you; hoping that with the utmost resolution and diligence you will endeavour to succour a Prince, and without loss of Time, who (as the prefent hazards I am expos'd to demonfirate) Sacrifices himself for the Publick Interest, rather than abandon his Faithful Subjects, and what you have so Glorioufly contributed to Conquer.

I am in hopes, That as you have with fo much Reputation possest Catalonia, fo I shall likewife owe you the obligation of my Deliverance from the prefent Exigencies. The Enemy is within two Leagues. My Subjects are in a difpolition to fined the last drop of their Blood for me, but wanting Powder and Provisions for a long Defence: It belongs longs to you, my Lord, (by fo glorious an attempt) to relieve a King in such Necessity.

iougs

You may reprefent the condition of my affairs to my Faithful Subjects, animating them, as well Catalans as Valencians, to shew at this time their true Love and Zeal. Endeavour, my dear Lord, as foon as possible to advise Admiral Lake and Wassanger, that they may contribute of their part to may relief, that out of this present danger I may contitique to expose my felf for the Common Cause of I could be content to lay down my Life in this place, if my preservaneral Concernous ms

My hopes then are all in you: and you may concert in every thing as far as possible with the Count de Cifuentes, Prince Henry, and my felf, and with my Lord Donnegall, who is advancing of his fide, as well as the Country People of these parts. Lose no time, my Lord, to come to my affiftance, least it prove too late. We want every thing here, to relift and defend our felves for any Time. Adieu, my Lord, I hope to embrace you in few Days, long Delence : It be-

If

Berc 30tl

111

0.11

1 48

ii.

110

/13 -

Hala

as glorious as possible: Lose no Time. I shall ever remain with the same affectionate Inclination.

rived in the place you deligned to point han hence, out that you w wad there are difficult as in the execution of voge every w Deligite. At my attain Receiona the 30th of March, at Night, 1706.

asks vin to essit our nego ney drive and tever if other things not to be say, is the profent committee on

As the fangeror, my shother, give me to understand in the last Lensis have received, his Recommons of fee. ing the itake of adule as his fimbe rador; A Suppose the faid Duke is a nath now at Good, or will comognic ther in lew Days: Lastelorayou will very much oblige met in a service fan ceffary couche Publick, by taking the proper mealares for his fecure pails apon les arrival at Gener, in care, have not the good for the to come; your Company. I hope to ad Almight will take you tay don't lord this milo may maybe works out vidly Confiam, Do you Speech, and delibrated chous as possible: Lose so Time

Hope this will find you happily arrived in the place you designed for going from hence, and that you will find there no difficulties in the execution of your glorious Designs. At my arrival in this place, your Presence had been very agreeable to me, to have conferr'd with you upon the state of my affairs, and several other things not to be neglected in the present conjuncture.

As the Emperor, my Brother, gives me to understand in the last Letters I have receiv'd, his Resolutions of sending the Duke of Moles as his Embasfador; I suppose the said Duke is actually now at Genoa, or will come thither in few Days: Therefore you will . very much oblige me, in a fervice so necessary to the Publick, by taking the proper measures for his secure passage upon his arrival at Genoa, in case he have not the good fortune to come in your Company. I hope God Almighty will take you, my dear Lord, into his Holy Protection, affuring you of my Constant, Perfect Esteem, and Acknowledgments.

Valen. 11. 02cb. 1706.

CHARLES

to i

Post

hev

zea I

the

Arm

nis'

kem

im f itmo

he Ir

nd wit

is ad

oug

dge

mit

Cou

ritio

e ma e en i

1

11

n

ıl

ď

S,

g.

es

I

d-

af--£

niill nehe

ge he

in nty

his my dg-

ES

His Lordship, after his return to Spain, acted in no publick Polt; yet, upon all occasions, how'd othe Same concern and mal for the publick good, and the prosperity of her Majesty's Arms. And tho' he was disnis'd from the command of the my yet he did not think milelf exempt from using his most endeavours to promote he Interest of the Common Cause: nd wtook the liberty to offer sadvice in such affairs, as he ought his experience and knowdge of the Country enabled in to judge of Therefore, in Council of War held at Valen-Febr. 4. 170%. he gave in riting his opinion, concerning e management and conduct of e enfuing Campaign.

onegal eldavie N an as to The

His Lordship, after his return

The Earl of Peterborow's Opinion declared in a Council of War held at Valencia, Feb. 4th, 170%.

A N Offensive War is of Eclat and Reputation to the Generals and the Troops; but the Defensive is often of most Utility to the Publick.

Our Circumstances require vigorous Efforts in Italy or Spain. In the last, the Defensive secures us the Crown of Arragon; but the Troops in Italy can only give the Mortal Blow; that is, enter France. Neither can it be doubted, if the French desist from their Hopes in Italy, but that the great Force in that Country will be usefully employ'd by the Duke of Savoy and Prince Eugene.

No positive Opinions can be given without knowing the Condition of the Fleet; without the Assistance of the Sea, the best dispositions in Italy are useless. If that were wanting, all must be hazarded in Spain; the War there being of an inconceivable Expence to the apparthe I whole drid, valry The fore to cial y Precipitate to talia, the I

Count
If t wards ceffary Catalon
our Po doubte drid (

tillery

Body

cut of Cataloni are not mies A

the Allies. But the difficulties of subsisting Armies in Castile are sufficiently apparent by the last Campaign; and the Dangers are evident of putting the whole upon the risque of passing to Madrid, before an Army so superior in Cavalry.

n-

1-

nd

nd

of us

ft,

of

ап

n-

d,

in

at

by en

he

he

re

ilt

re

to

he

The Tage must likewise be passed before the Enemy (if Marching by Murii) without Pontoons, or the necessary freparations for such an Attempt. The frecipices of that River are natural Forissidations: If there are Plains near franjues, it is almost equally impossible to pass them before an Army in Batalia, without a great Superiority in Artillery. And nothing is more easie to a Body of Horse so numerous, than to cut off the necessary Provisions in a Country, where they are so scarce.

If the Troops advance into Castile towards Madrid, without taking the necessary Precautions for the Desence of Catalonia, either Madrid must fall into our Power, or all is lost. It is to be doubted, whether the possession of Madrid (without the Deseat of the Enemies Army) be decisive; but the loss of Catalonia is certain, if the Places there are not better Fortissed, and Provided:

N 2 And

And if Forces are not sent into that Province, or those parts of Arragon near that Frontier, which may serve at the same time for the Desence of the Fortify'd places of Catalonia, and towards preventing the Succours from the side of Navarre.

If we hope for a Maritine Force betimes in these Seas, which may be superior to the Enemy, there does not appear the least Necessity for rash Measures: And the least Disgrace, or great Fatigues alone may give our Troops that Inclination to desert, which the Enemy will not fail to improve, when in a proper Situation.

Above all things the Desence of Catalonia, and what we have, is Necessary. Our Intelligences assure us, that great numbers of Troops assemble in Rousslon, and that great Magazines are forming there for Foot and Horse, and all Warlike Necessaries. But to conclude, what better Opinions can be offer'd than those of the Duke of Savoy and Prince Eugene? Who have doubtless communicated them to the Emperor, the Queen, and his Catholick Majesty, where that Duke has Ministers.

Soon

left

the.

fuce

a Le earn

at la

give

111 dool

met

120

Buh

Petil

ann s

-7687

1010

TOV

01 (1)

nous y

at ar

he

ti.

ds of

oe-

ſu-

peaeat ps

he

en

-a-

ry.

eat

fil-

mall

de.

an nce

ıu-

en, nat

on

Soon after this his Lordship left Spain: but carried with him the same concern for the good fuccess of Affairs there, and writ a Letter from Italy, pressing more earnestly, and explaining more at large the same advice, he had given in the Council of War.

Advice tot, tan with a cardidity Reciprotion con Servent I look instruct bus, busys you as not requi on man the Militaries, and Moresifican ons of the Stanfo War; in all places! Hall be a Virel of your Conded and Prodence, and of the Secadifield you have there apon to many extrace dinary Occasions. Model of the free free free from in.

calinels, when I have to been miethly Historia we are to see an or a cost nice by www and A trackin more concerns ed, because of the probability of your coursels continuing in a whitpolition to the Ningalition of the Ningaliana, the contact the contact that the contact the contact that the contact the contact that the contact t only in a Conductor for a D feedfood, and the compositor and Published Cincults

A Letter writ to the Portugal Ambassador from Italy.

Turin April 21st, 1707.

gi

pr

rec

fire

tha

per

ples

Div

tere

brit

cluf

hop

priz

licit

Spai

B

fequ

perh

Flana a Mi

is th tifely

My Lord,

Inclination your Servant. I look upon you as my Friend, and Companion in all the Miseries, and Mortifications of the Spanish War; in all places I shall be a Witness of your Conduct and Prudence, and of the Steadiness you have shewn upon so many extraordinary Occasions.

Would to God you were free from unealiness, when I hope to be in quiet! it feems to me as if Storms were threatning Spain, and I am the more concerned, because of the probability of you Generals continuing in a disposition to rash Measures. It is certain, they are only in a Condition for a Defensive; and that suffices for the Publick, since the pre-

1

ar

ok

ni-

ti-

s I

ual

ress

or un-

eat

ern

/OU

n to

are

the

pre

preparatives against France are so terrible in Italy, and in Flanders. You know my Opinion in the Councils of War held at Valencia; But the Succours which are coming, and the Person of the Duke of Orleans, are certain proofs of the great Efforts the Enemy will make in the beginnings of the next Campagne. If we prevent their first Impetuosity, whilst Naples, Sicily and Sardinia may be fecured, Peace will give us all we can defire. I am obliged to give you notice, that no Endeavours can prevent the Imperialists from Marching towards Naples; if it is impossible to hinder that Diversion of their Troops, it is our Interest to give the necessary help towards bringing that affair to a speedy Conclosion. And methinks, one might hope upon the Success of that Enterprize, that those Troops might be solicited and obtain'd for the Succour of Spain.

But, my Lord, pray confider the Confequences of a tost Battle in the Spring; perhaps a Difgrace were less fatal in Flanders. By a superiority of Horse, such a Missortune may happen to the best Foot in the World, which will be cut off entirely in case of a Deseat, and all Spain at the same time lost, for want of Garrifons in the strong Places we possess If we defend well what we have, their great Number of Horse will consume it self for want of Forrage, or destroy that part of the Country which is ill affected; and be called for by their pressing Necessities elsewhere, since we have in this Country near 70000 effective Men, for the vigorous Measures that are concerted.

N 4

V

in cy

C

pr

fee

vi

liff

011

Qu

Su

and

Bo

the

eaf

For

the Ma ny for pal

equ

I know my Reasons, though good, will have little force with the Generals; they have the last Campaign in their Thoughts, and have not perhaps the fame tranquility of Mind, and quiet, which I thank God I enjoy. Being well content with the beginnings I have made, only wilhing a happy conclusion to this great Affair: affuring your Excellency that nothing Private shall ever mix with my Thoughts for the Publick. But I justly lay a stress on the great Credit you have with every Body, and am well affur'd, that the Interest of your Country requires Measures of the utmost Precaution; fince your best Troops are in Spain, and that a Defeat would expose Portugal before Succours can arrive; fince England has left her felf almost unprovidvided with Troops, and that the Forces in Italy being defign'd for other Services. it will be difficult to obtain any of them. tho' the Circumstances pressingly require it. I therefore entreat your Excellency to think again of the Consequence of a loft Battle. God be praised we are not in a Necessity of a Victory: That is the Circumstance of France.

I told you when I went away, that I would fend you the Measures I had propos'd to the King, which to me feem'd certain of Success; but any division of the Troops would never be listen'd to, which however was the only way possible to secure Madrid. Quick Motions were requifite before the Succours could arrive from France. and those are never taken with great Bodies. My thoughts were to defend the Entrance into Valencia with 2000 Horse and 8000 Foot, which were easie with less Force; and with 11000 Foot and 5000 Horse to have gain'd the Head of the Tage, by a stolen March. We might have had as many Arragonese, as we could desire; who for the Mountains, and defending the passage over that River would have equal'd our best Troops, and have been Mish A

S

d

e

been better for long and speedy Marches. Thus we might have put the Tage betwixt us and the Enemy; Madrid had been found without Defence, and the Duke of Anjou oblig'd to a fecond Journey towards Burgos. This particularly would have hinder'd the junction of any Succours from France: The Troops left in Valencia would have followed the Enemy at a proportionable Distance, when they march towards the Tage; and I affure you fuch Resolutions well purfued would fufficiently have perplext the Enemy. Another time I will explain more distinctly this Project to you, in giving you Answers to all the Objections might be made.

At present I have nothing to propose to your Excellency, nor to wish, but that the Troops might not be satigu'd in the impossible Views of gaining Madrid, half the Army being expos'd to Destruction, by Diseases, and Famine, or in the whole in a very improper time by an unequal Battle. I will neglect nothing in my Power to obtain, in a favourable Opportunity, a Succour of Troops for Spain; that in the after Season we may push our Affairs.

h-

he

Cď 05.

'd m ia

y ſ-

rt -0 11

f

Affairs. I desire you to assure the King of my inviolable Attach to his Interest, which nothing can diminish. Present my Service, &c.

PETERBOROW.

This

This Letter shews how well my Lord judg'd of the posture of affairs; and how reasonable it was to think of nothing else, but a defensive War in the present juncture. My Lord, I dare say, heartily wishes he had been mistaken in his judgment; but in a few days after the writing of this Letter, those who had no regard to what he foretold, took care most punctually to fulfil it.

ic

II

of 0

V

C

And now, that I have shewn how early (before the French befieg'd Barcelona) my Lord Peter-borow was solliciting and contriving for the Earl of Gallway, the opportunity and honour of carrying the King to Madrid: how generously he refus'd 10000 l. from the Castilians, and oblig'd 'em in lieu of that to surnish the whole Consederate Army with Pro-

Provisions for two months: how willingly he run all hazards, and incurr'd the censures and reproaches of fome that should have thank'd him, to procure mony, and support a starving Army now under the command of other Generals: how well he forecast, and how earnestly he propos'd the proper measures for future success, when he was out of fervice himself: Let the World judge whether the Earl of Peterborow acted by a Spirit of refentment, emulation or envy; or whether there are not clear and undeniable proofs of his Lordship's unweary'd Zeal and Labours for the prosperity of her Majesty's Army under the command of the Earl of Gallway.

After this last effort for the publick fervice, his Lordship went went again to Turin, where he was received as before, very kindly and honourably. And I never heard my Lord regret any disappointment, but this only, that he was not permitted to stay a Voluntier with the Duke of Savoy, or his Friend Sir Cloudefly Shovel: but was recall'd home with great importunity, tho' in no good condition for travelling, and oblig'd to leave a very Worthy Son in ill circumstances under his Wounds; the second that has been crippled, and in a manner facrific'd to the publick in this Warloong oldsinishnus bas asols his Lordship's answeary'd a Zeal sed becomes for the professiry or her Vijelty's Army ander the After this last effect for the

mand of the bart of that

TOUR

The Tervice, and don't he

th

m

re

m ha

hi

be

sh

ho

int

So

th

aci

rai Ec

rais'd soainft his Lord bio. he HE account I have here given, has been only a bare Narrative of some part of the Earl of Peterborow's Conduct in Spain, founded upon matter of Fact, and I think clearly made out from original papers! I don't doubt but the Reader, who has observ'd the caution and regularity of his Lordship's management, has been beforehand with me in doing Justice to his Character: and must needs be fatisfy'd, that as his Lorda ship had in all his actions the honour of Her Majesty and the interest of his Country at heart, fo neither was he without all thoughts of providing for his own proper defence, thou'd these actions, through envy or ignorance, be mis-represented at home! For whatever clamours have been contrie rais'd rais'd against his Lordship, he is so well furnished with materials to justifie what he has done, that shou'd he ever be put upon a necessity of producing them, the World will be perhaps as much surprized to see how little his Accusers have to say against him, as He was that he cou'd be accus'd.

I never yet met with any fo hardy as to reflect upon his Lordship's courage and bravery; tho' this quality, so eminent in his Lordship, might with as good reason be call'd in quettion, as his Judgment and Conduct: fince in the whole feries of his fuccessful undertakings, his circumstances oblig'd him to make more use of thought and contrivance, than of force or valour. Most people, I believe, are apt to judge of men's Conduct by the courfe bass.

the den and the wat pro the ftre mak van cho all (gem as,e all Arn the

derf

men to b

Vul

the

wer

n

course of their Actions: when they fee defigns laid with prudence, carry'd on with industry, and executed with vigour; when they see men always upon the watch to lay hold of and improve opportunities, taking all the measures to know the true frength of an Enemy, and to make their own appear to advantage; when they see them choose the proper times of using all Offensive and Defensive Stratagems, and so manage a small force, as, even without fighting, to defeat all the Efforts of a numerous Army; they cannot but think these no ill proofs of a cool understanding, and a wife management: and I must own my self to be so far of the opinion of the Vulgar, as not to like fuch men the worse for success. So that were I of Council to his Lordships ship's Enemies, I would advise them to deny every thing that has been done in Spain: fince unless they will allow of Mi racles in this Catholick Country I know nothing that can account for fuch important and conti mued fuccesses, but his Lord Ship's Sagacity and Conduct And, I believe, rwill readily be bwn'd by all impartial men, that such a Collection of Papers as his Lordship has, (a few of which only I have here produc'd) wou'd hardly have been preferv'd by a Man, that acted at Random, and without much thought, or precau tion. And his Lordship desires no World would judge of his proceedings as the Evidences of them shall appear, whenever or whereever they shall be brought to an Examination.

After

TO CO

Pere

beens

wher

Lord

umg

temp

Adi

base

much

fo in to be gland

CI2 13

the he

acçore

terta:

tema

whick

dinar

care

MAC

t was corried on to extruor. A Free I bad finished the foregoing relation of the Earl of Pererborowik Actions, which bad him mest mistrepresented, and from whence all the objections against his Lordsbip's Conduct bave rifen: baing materials ready at hand, I was impted to give an account of some Actions of his Lordsbip's, which have met with a different, but not much better Fate; and have been fintirely conceal'd, as scarce ever whave been discours'd of in England. The Campagne of Valenin is a subject so new, and so litthe known, that, I hope, upon that wount at least it may give some entertainment to the Reader. reduction of that Kingdom was so temarkable, and the methods by which it was carried on so extraordinary, that, not with standing all the care I shall take to relate what CAM bave

vife

hat

ice.

Mi

ry

unt

iti

rd ict

be

hat his ich 1'd

1 a nd

u no he

0

m

e

an er

9446

which it was carried on so extraordinary, that, not with standing all the care I shall take to relate what pass'd with the utmost veracity and exactness, an account of them will still have more the air of Romance than History. A course of such bappy Temerities (I make use of this term, since 'tis the fashionable word to express the Actions of his Lord Bip) will appear the effect of more Thought and Application, than the burry of War feems to allow of: and a brief relation of them will set the judicious Conduct bis Lordship us'd in a true light, notwithflanding so much affected si lence, and such industrious malice.

that we of their Decidon cons lo-em neiter, and observer boils by aprile it repair coursed out to a for the diang what, not with tension of the 00 went four take torrelars nebut CAM -ma

1

(1977

1129

You I

bri:

7130

boul

nhed

Thin

山北 tion Pete

the:

the

ately

Arra

Majo

798 Companie of Valencia. Schracobach - ere again frastour. was and diminishing the wirdon icry'd with the comole-cashon, fuce they were hardly hefficient to the history and the same to the same to CAMPAGNE ter opinion and its weight, and prevaile : and rocky could handly

m-

be pat

nd

ill

ice

uch bis

ord

rd

ore

ian

070 em bis

ot-

fi

1 ij,

3

6

1

M

undergone Juch hardfalles sur VALEEN CA for prevaile eras to obtain don be refusit to Troops, that had verial confeat to lend a good but A Fter the taking of Barcelana, in the first consultation about the War, the Earl of Peterborow was of opinion, That the Forces should be divided, and the better half march immediately into Valencia, the rest into Arragon. The Dutch and English Major Generals, Connyng barn and Schrattarione Schratenbach, were against fatigueing and diminishing the Troops, which they thought must be preferv'd with the utmost caution, fince they were hardly sufficient to defend the places, we already possess d in Catalonia. The latter opinion had its weight, and prevail'd: and rest cou'd hardly be refus'd to Troops, that had undergone fuch hardships at See, and the fatigues of fuch a Siege. However, my Lord fo far prevail'd, as to obtain universal consent to send a good body to Lerida, and about a 1000 Foot and 200 Horse to Tottofa, the bordering City on the King-dom of Patencia.

Some time mult be allow'd to recruit and repair hatter'd Regiments: but a few days reft, good Diet, and Encouragement, foon recover the Souldier of any fatigue,

Wi

by

me lur

a b

at :

Sp

ha

rol

ter me

in th

pı

to te

bı

W d

fe

I

eos,

e-9

n,

nt

ly

t-

id

d

it

a

o

0

3

d

My Lord most impatiently press'd for leave from the Court to march into Valencia, tho attended with so small a force: but there were some there, who were better pleas'd, that the reduction of that Kingdom shou'd seem to be procur'd by their correspondence and management, O 4 than than that it should be owing to her Majesty's Arms. These artifices wrought fuch delays, as had like to have prov'd fatal. 'Tis true indeed, that in the mean time a revolt had been brought about in the City of Valencia, and a Vice-roy nam'd (the Count Cifuentes, a Person unacceptable enough in that place) before any particulars of the manner of it were known. But the rejoycings upon this occasion were of short continuance; and thefe flow proceedings of the Ministry gave the Enemy time, to bring a confiderable body of disciplind Troops before St. Mattheo, under the command of the Conde de las Torres, who had ferv'd in the War of Italy, a General of known Courage, and of long Service.

200 Campagne of Valencia.

Moli

And the This

A

fo

W

th

in no

ar

to

in

re

n

a

d

le

ie

n iş

13

This news gave great alarms to the Court at Barcelona, and occasion'd the report that all the Militia of Catalonia, Valencia, and some adjoyning places in Arragon had taken up Arms, to the number of 16000 men; that they had secur'd such places and passes, as would make the subsistence of those Troops before St. Mattheo difficult, and their retreat from it impossible: and that there was nothing wanting to their utter destruction, but a few Officers and some of the disciplin'd Troops to encourage and direct this multitude, so conveniently posted.

St. Mattheo was a place of great importance by its fituation, in regard that all communication between Catalonia and Valencia must have been interrupted, had it fallen into the Enemies hands; and all our hopes and expectations

Campagne of Valencia. tions in that Kingdom must have vanish'd with the loss of this Town. In these circumstances the Earl of Peterberow received the following Orders from the King of Spain and que madet bad ber of 16000 men: That they had fecur'd tuch places and paffes, as you'd make the tublicence of hole Thoops before Sti Marcha difficult; and their refer it from it impolibles and that there well nothing wanting so their lateer istinuotion, bures few Origon and forme of the distillin'd Troops to encourage and threst this mil. tirude, to conveniently peffed. Stroffattha was a place of great impostance by its fituation, in fv

W

it

yo

gi

CO

ce

it

yo

impostance by its fituation, in regard that all collamnication per tween Catalonia and Valencia ments off election interrupted, thad it talten into the Enemies hands; and all our hopes and expectations.

s :1 ...

The KING.

in the Eld Town of Tortoft affile and Disposition: Foraccording to the Sitere tion which they all me the Deemy is Llustrious Earl of Peterborow, General and Commander of my Troops, Having this Moment receiv'd Advice. that in the Wood of Vallvana, between Morella and St. Matheo in the Kingdom of Valencia, Tilly who has with him a 1000 Horse, and a 1000 Foot, is surrounded by the Country People, who have possest themselves of all the Passes; and having demanded from the Officer, who is at Tortofa, fome regular Men to animate those of the Country, and being anfwered that he had no Orders, without which he could give no Men; I have refolved, considering the great Advantage it will be to my Royal Service, if fuch a happy Operation could be fuccessfully executed, to write and participate to you this Opportunity, that you may give speedy direction in it, and fend the convenient Orders to the abovefaid Officer, that he may give immediately the Men you shall think sufficient to execute it with Success, which I expect from your great Zeal, Conduct and Prudent Dif-

204 Campagne of Valencia.

Disposition: For according to the Situation, in which they assume the Enemy is, it is impossible that any can escape, if the Troops of the Queen which are at Hand in the said Town of Tortosa assist in time, to animate the Country People, which are got together to that end.

Given in Barcelona the 31st of December, 1705.

"" I've to be with him a 1000 for legand bay and legand from the Officer, who is legal, form regular Men to animate a 100 for legand being an activitation in the 100 orders, without we retained no Orders, without we retained no Orders, without all cities and no Orders, without rived, confidence the great Advantage vill be to my Royal Service. If find Apply Operation could be needed/difference and participated to you that you that you may you that you may verifeed direction in it, and rend the service the pient Orders to the above faid Officials the may give immediately the and you that the may give immediately the and you that the may give immediately the and you that the he may give immediately the and you that Suyces, which I expect from our great Zeal, Conduct and Frudant gretted the lost time too much, to lose one moment more: and instead of sending to a Subaltern the Orders required, he immediately took post; and tho St. Mattheo was above 30 leagues from Barcelona, in about eight days time from his departure, he sound ways to raise that siege. And indeed the methods taken in effecting it were as much out of the common road, as the resolution to attempt it.

-litt

My Lord never rested night or day, till he came to Tortosa; but had sent a Courier before with Orders for Brigadier Killigrew to march, so that the Troops had passed the Ebro, before he arriv'd. As soon as his Lordship came thither, he summon'd the Governour, the Magistrates and Officers, and to his his great aftonishment, was inform'd, chat the Enemy was three times ftronger than was reprefented; and the report of the Countries being up in Ahms was fo intirely false, that not one of those fixteen thousand, wood were order'd to let me Body escape, was in being. The truth of the matter was, that the Enemy was before St. Matheawith between 2000 and 3000 Horfe, and about 4000 Foot; and the Earl of Peterborow had nothing to depend upon, but 1000 Foot, and 200 Dragoons. bt is not hard to guess, what the general popinion was in these circumstances; neither did the Earl of Petenborow endeavour to perfuade the Officers, that it was reasonable to approach such numbers with so inconsiderable a force: his Lordship only made them sensible, that unless he could raise that

ai

in

th

W

te

Ŧ

W

tr

fo

ta

that Siege, our affairs were desperate, and therefore capable only of desperate Remedies. Upon which he desir'd his Officers to be content, to let him try his Fortune, whether he could not by diligence and surprize effect that, which by downright force was utterly impracticable. The considence, that these Gentlemen had in my Lords care and intelligence, made them on all occasions approve of or acquiesce at least in his Designs, whatever Difficulties might seem

It is certain the Conde de las Torres had not the least notice of the approach of any Enemy, till those employ'd by the Earl of Peterborow gave him the account; which was in such a manner contrivid by his Lordship, and perform'd by his Spies, that it obtain'd the desired effect. And it must be be confess'd to his Lordship's great honour, that to such extraordinary Thoughts, and such diligent Executions, were owing all our fuccesses in Spain. A selection of My Lord never made use of any Spaniards, without getting the whole Family in his posession, to be answerable for those he employ'd: and as the People of that Country have very good natural parts, and will run any hazards for mony, it was hard for the General of the other side to avoid being impos'd upon, without renouncing all intelligence, and giving credit to nothing, though never so probable.

by dividing his troops, and by the help of obscurity, his Lordship brought all his men to meet in one night, at a place call'd cal of hav goi En his

ing the pla

quel cou

whi fecu

Pof

Spic

my.

Campagne of Valencia, 209 called Traguera, within fix miles of the Enemies Camp: and there having got them within the Walls, by his diligence and care he prevented any Person from going out of Town to give the Enemy intelligence. He begun his march before day, and having with a small Party view'd the Woods and the Hills, he placed a few Dragoons and Miquelets so conveniently, that they could not be seen but by those they had already pass'd by, which his Lordship took care to fecure: fo that all the soldiers were brought to their respective Posts to appear at an hour prefix'd, foon after his Lordship's Spies had made the intended impressions in the Enemies Army. What this stratagem was, and what influence it was design'd sold a la P to have upon the Enemy, will be best conceived from this Letter his Lordship wrote to Coll. Jones, who was then Governour of St. Mattheo.

gas quett of down to gave the money intelligence, alte begun a march before day, and have any with a finall Party valve de the Woods and the Hulls, the new low longoons and the conveniently, that have not be fear but by, that if it caken

172

10

little

miesI

the T receive to the

it to open and h

who love,

pillag

try is

Deftr

appea disch

with the N

Men.

The Plain

to sell his Lordship took care to have the soldiers were thought to their relocative fitters in appear at an hour preives to appear at an hour preives to appear at an hour preives toon after his Loranip's fitter had made the incented

11

rill

etoll.

ur

To Collonel Jones.

YOU will hardly believe your felf, what this Letter informs you of, i it comes fafe to you; and tho' I have aken the best Precautions, it will do little Prejudice, if it falls into the EnemiesHands: Since they shall See and Feel the Troops, as foon almost as they can receive Intelligence, shou'd it be betray'd The end for which I venture it to you is, that you may prepare to open the furthest Gate towards Valencia, and have your thousand Miquelets ready who will have the Employment they love, and are fit for, the following and pillaging a flying Enemy. The Country is as one can wish for their intire Destruction. Be fure, upon the first appearance of our Troops, and the first licharge of our Artillery, you answer with an English Halloo: And take to the Mountains on the right with all your Men. It is no Matter what becomes of the Town; leave it to your Mistresses. The Conde de las Torres must take the flains; the Hills on the left being al-Pa

I was eight Days ago my felf in Barcelona, and I believe the Conde de las Torres must have so good Intelligence from thence, that he can't be Ignorant of it. What belongs to my own Troops and my own Resolutions I can easily keep from him, tho' nothing elfe. You know the Force I have, and the Multitudes that are gathering from all parts against us; fo that I am forc'd to put the whole upon this Action: Which must be decifive, to give any hopes to out desperate Game. By nine or ten, with in an Hour after you can receive this assure your self you will discover us of the tops of the Hills, not two Cannot Shot from their Camp.

The Advantages of the Sea are inconceivable, and have contributed to brin about what you could never expect the fee, a force almost equal to the Enem in number; and you know less would our Business. Besides never Me were so transported, to be brought with fuch Secrecy so near an Enemy. I have

nea

nea

Ni

do

YOU

and

Wil

Du

and

at 7

and

in C

ble

are

Eng

thou leav

rupt

D

be d

welc

Plun

o por

near six thousand Men lock'd up this Night, within the Walls of Traguera. I do not expect you should believe it, till you fee them.

or le.

blo

to m.

47-

or-om it.

ind eep

ow

inf

the

nus

out

ith

his

0 noi

con rin t t em

oul Me wit

nea

You know we had a thousand Foot and two hundred Dragoons in Tortosa: Will's and a thousand Foot, English and Dutch, came down the Ebro in Boats; and I embark'd a thousand Foot more at Tarragona, which I landed at Vinaros; and the Artillery from thence I brought in Country Carts. It was easie to assemble the Horse: Zinzindorf and Moras are as good as our own, and with our English Dragoons make in all near two thousand. But the whole depends upon leaving them no retreat without interruption.

Dear Jones, prove a true Dragoon, be diligent and alert; and preach this welcome Doctrine to your Miquelets, Plunder without Danger.

Tour Friend,

PETERBOROW.

P 3 This

This Letter was given to two several persons: the one instru-Eted and order'd by fuch an hour in the Morning, topretend the betraying of it into the hands of the Conde de las Torres; the other was to remain hid in the mountains, and agreed with to endeavour to give it in the night to Collonel Jones. This Man was really persuaded, that the number of Troops was as considerable as was pretended; the first was order'd to say nothing of our Force, least he might be expos'd to ill usage, when the truth came to be discover'd. When he had given the Letter, he had direction to inform where the other Spy was hid, upon condition made for the security of his Life. Whether the artificial account of the one, or the fincere confession of the other prevail'd, is not known:

kn foc ore a wi

par ou the the die ing to

of pe joi rar pa Ti lit

bei

ap

known: but 'tis certain that as foon as the Letter was translated, orders were given to prepare for a march: and not long after, when upon a retreat of a small party of the Enemy, some of our Men approached the top of the Hill which overlooks St. Matheway, the whole Army was in the utmost Confusion, the Souldiers striking their Tents, loading their Baggage, and preparing to quit the Siege.

]-

ır

e-

ie

as

s,

0 el

y

of 15

1-11

d

h

n

n E

In a very little time the Troops of the Earl of Peterborow appeared on the top of the adjoining mountain, not above random Cannon that from some part of the Enemies Camp. The Country, which was full of little rising Grounds and Valleys, and cover'd with Olive Trees, being favourable for such an approach, and the Enemies advanced vanc'd party being driven into the Camp before any judgment cou'd be form'd of our Strength, it was easie for my Lord to make a shew of his forces to advantage. This furprize made their fears as great as could be defin'd, and had we had any proportion of Troops, we had a fair opportunity of cut-ting them all off. But we were content to let 7000 Men go off without being attack'd; and thought it enough to raise the Siege with a force so disproportionate, as that of 1200: after his Lordship found not only all the informations, that engag'd him in that Attempt, intirely wrong, but his circumstances so very difficult, as would have deterr'd any other Man from so hazardous an undertaking, will drive broves bee favourable wold the End to the Mow

th

an fee

ni

fer the

the

wi

How important the relief of this place was thought at Court, and how little expected, may be feen by two Letters of Mr. Crow, then acting as the Queen's Minister at Barcelona: which tho fent within two days of one another, are very remarkable for the different air they are writ with.

How important the relief of this place was thought at My Lord,

Do not want to know what your Excellency will think of the Coherence of this with my last Letter. I hope you make no dependence on them, nor any thing that is not immediately under your own Command. There is nothing here but Distrust, Discontent, and Despair.

and nove little expe

Barcelona the 12th of #4-Buary, 1705.

M. Crow.

t

T C

CC

My Lord,

Was as Melancholy as the Weather, our Circumstances, and the thoughts of your Enterprize could make me. durst scarce open your Excellencies of the 10th, because it came from Court: but the first Line dispers'd all those Splenatick Fumes, and I give your Excellency a thousand Embraces and Horabuenas as a Person whose happy Influence and Conduct redeems (with his own) the Fortune of Kings. I went to the Palace, and there receiv'd the Compliments of all the Nobility on the part of your Excellencies happy Success; and I affure you, my Lord, the King exprest an extraordinary Satisfaction in your Excellencies much applauded Conduct, which has not only put new lives into the Ministers, but prolong'd those that were almost expiring at the Altar of St. Cajetano. Messages have so taken up this Morning, that I am afraid the the Express will depart, before I can shut up this.

Ahumadas's Regiment has positive Orders (contrary to the Opinion of a Junto before the King) to return from whereever they are to Lerida, fo I hope Collonel Wills is March'd.

Lour Circumstances, and the thought's oss the first and dispersidant disclaigns henck Farnes, and I give your progileny a chouland Embraces and Friedriches ce Perfor which happy Judeun v and odr (nwo of driw) zandibar flyk od your Haren puze could make me. Barcelona Fan. the M. Crow. miath, 1701, il sures si shound , Ass.

1

vorture of kings. I went of the Paand the walcolved the Complements h be Nobiley on the part of four fix--xo as fing a gall and bed you do. conditions Samuelation in from Franciscoencies much applauded Confich, which ss. not only put new list into the wie almost evolung at the Altar of to digeteno. Lacinges base to called ods blank ma Lists warmoM and The sufficient social insgability along it of a

The Earl of Peterborow pass'd thro' St. Mattheo, having before resolv'd which way to make a shew of pursuing the Enemy, without intirely exposing his little body, if they shou'd be better inform'd, and lay aside their panick fear. So while they march'd thro' a narrow plain which leads to Valencia, my Lord took along the edge of the Hills to a place call'd Albocazer, not far distant from St. Mattheo, and a little to the right of the Enemy.

In this place the Earl of Peterborow receiv'd an Express from the King, with all these dismal accounts at once: That the Duke of Noyailles was entring with near eight thousand men into Catalonia, from the side of Rousillon; That the body under Serclas Tilly in Arragon was 4000 or 5000,

and

and pressing upon all the places near Lerida; That the Duke of Anjou with Mareschal de Tesse was forming a body of 10000 near Madrid; which wou'd foon be in motion, besides the Troops under the Duke of Berwick on the fide of Portugal. After these informations, the King was pleas'd to acquaint his Lordship, that he was oblig'd to countermand the 1000 Foot and 300 Horse which was appointed to joyn him, and were already come almost as far as Tortosa. Letters from Court at the same time represented the necessity of defending Catalonia, but above all things the care and preservation of the King's Person: but however, in this matter my Lord had no politive Orders from the King, tho' he had receiv'd before very pressing ones for passing the

th

co el ni hi wl ftr

to the

ste

Kin tur exp

ger we Mo

fon and the Ebro, and relieving St. Mate

His Lordship finding the Forces, that were to joyn him were countermanded, had nothing else to comfort him but a Plenipotentiary Commission sent him by the King of Spain to do what he thought fit, with a strong reinforcement of Compliments and Authorities, instead of Troops. By which his Lordship was only made liable to be accus'd either of lofing the Kingdom of Valencia, if he re-pais'd the Ebro; or the King's Person, if he did not return to the defence of Catalonia, expos'd to fuch imminent danger. And at this time his Foot were marching in the stony Mountains, and in a Winter-seafon; without Cloaths or Shooes and his few Dragoons were upon on Horses that cou'd hardly go. In these circumstances his Lordship advis'd with his Officers; who were unanimously of opinion, that all endeavours ought to be us'd for the speedy support of Catalonia.

who he thought fit, with a plinearing and Authorities, it.

deal of Troops. By which is for the facust comer of lofting he re-earlist whe Eleo; or the turin to the defence of Catalonia,

Fine de to the inminent dun-laws Pana at this time his loot; were marching in the florly

Myngrains, and In a Winder Ca-ma, willion. Clours on Engles on the season of war still be seen the seen mo Madi

Kin & Person, if he did not re-p

Los insignants only made in.

though reinforcement of Co

Richa Rober

At

and C

0

I

Edwa Thom [a. St.

Jolline Archil Thom

D. Col Charle

Don Jo Thorns ClQ1

S te

that th

At a Council of War, confifting of General and Field-Officers, held at the Town of Albocazer, Jan. 12th, 1706. N.S.

Marchell Regiments, and one of Div.

Richard Gorges. Robert Killegrew. Edward Pearce. Thomas Allen. a.St. Pierre. Tolline Mead. Archibald Hamilton. Thomas Allnutt. ogu valbabab D. Collberg. Charles Steward. Don Joseph Bellver Thomas Phillips.

OOME Spies, Prisoners, and Deferters having been examin'd about the Force of the Enemy, they all agree hat their Horse consisted of three of their

the

HOM

of ch

wel

of A

whie

the st

being with

and d

Cour

kat King

Opini

the P

empt

Luenc

Troop

OFC 3

theten

Ponce

ms r ikow) ore'd

ev et mell

Mosio

repend

van V

to the

their best Regiments, and one of Dragoons, besides two hundred Horse of the Duke of Mujon's Guards: It appears likewife, that the Regiment of Horse of Pozo Blanco was before them ready to join, and a Regiment of Dragoon within three Days March. The Regi ment of Horse, if compleat, consiles o twelve Troops of thirty Men each, at which, when together at the lowes computation, will amount to above two Thousand Horse; and their Foot to about twenty eight hundred. It ap pears to the Council of War, by Advi ces, Letters and Accounts, that a Bod of five hundred Horse and fifteen hun dred Foot, were come near to Valence under Velasco; and by the confession of the Deferters and Prisoners, the Enemy were marching with intention to joil them, depending upon a Correspond ence in Valencia. The Forces, with which the Siege of St. Marther was rail ed, confifted of a thousand Foot and less than two Hundred Drugoons, the Enemy being furprised, who were no inform'd of the March; upon the Re treat of the Enemy the Porces match after them, a long and tedious March over the Mountains to Abocaser; where MEL. the

2

o

1 ly n

31

af

ef

vd

te

p

٧i

di

n

i

ê

n

ril

d

di

ne

h

10

L

570 cl

944

h

the Earl of Peterborop receiving Advices from Court, that the Regular Troops of the Duke of Anjeu were encreased to welve Thousand Men on the Frontiers d Arragon, belides near fix Thouland, which were between him and Valencia, he mine Hundred Foot that remain'd being Fatigu'd, and almost bare Foot with continued Marches over the Rocks and Mountains, his Lordship call'd a Council of War, where the Officers preand those of the King of Spain, were unannimoully of Opinion, not to advance further on the flains towards Valencia, but to st umpt Perificle, Marching towards Kingos; a proper Post to expect the Troops, abet are coming to join: Which Post was not so far from Tortofa, but that this Lordship might employ his Poners to the relief of Catalonia, and ms the Ebro, if occasion requir'd, as ikowies affile Valencie as foon as reinbre'ds his Lord hip marching to for lev the Enemy for forme time with inell pacty of Horfe, to observe their Motion of the fame time, by loter topted Leaters from the Count St. Efter van Vice-Roy of Arragon, it appear to the Council of War, that five Thoufand Q 2 fand Men more were marching under the Duke of Areas, and were within five Leagues of Valencia: So that finding the last Orders from Court we're to give an entire Liberty to the Earl of Peterboron to act in all things as he pleas'd, whereas his former were politive and without any liberty, commanding the relief of St. Martheo, upon Intelligences wholly groundless, which prevented his Lordship in a much more considerable Service, he having it in his Power to pass the Enemy and to get near a Thousand Horfes, and put himfelfw with three Thousand Men into Valencia; And it being left to the Earl of Peterborow's Judgment upon the Intelligence from Court, to act as he pleas'd: The whole Council of War were of Opinion, it might highly reflect an them in point of Judgment, and be lay do their Charge, if they did not advise his Lordship, fo to Post the Troops with him, as not to be cut off from being able to affift the King in Perlong and to pass to the De fence of Caralonia, in the extream Necel fity, which in all probability may be expected out woodens to you sould tion I ovel sads now to bent. Burly.

20

LANG!

thir fence Perify ation com reca delig will difficult to record tions

ces c orde

thefe

opin

few (

a tho

exect

The

inth.

hav

14 io

rt

ne

gs er it to ly

rfs

ee e-

Both a hard to be end x

Mil

The whole Council of War having advis'd his Lordship to think of nothing but the defence of Catalonia, and the King's Person; and his Catholick Maje-My having intimated his expectations, That his Lordship wou'd compleat the Conquest of Valenthe the fame time he recall'd the few Troops, that were delign'd for that Kingdom: it will be easily conceiv'd, how difficult it was, if not impossible, for the Earl of Peterborow to reconcile these different opinions, and to fatisfie the expectations of both. Against these Forces of the Enemy; against these orders from the Court; against thefe: unanimous and reasonable opinions of a Council of War, few Generals wou'd have had fuch a thought, and fewer wou'd have executed such an attempt, as the reduction of a Kingdom with abo Horse and 900 Foot, in the condition afore taken notice of.

Ki

fin

raf

Lo

ne

ou

Ki

ry

M

au;

30

134 ich

40

The Earl of Peterborow fo far comply'd with the opinion of the Council of War, as to give orders to the Foot, with a small Party of Horse, to march back to Vinarus, a little Town on the Sea-fide, fix Leagues distant from Tortofa; where, in case of necesfity, he cou'd embarque the Foot in Boats, and fling them securely into the Ebro. But the Officers were furpriz'd, when they found his Lordship resolved, with a Party of Horse, to pursue such an Army. The parting was very melancholy; and their fears were the greater, when my Lord affur'd them he wou'd yet endeavour however dur circumstanves feem'd desperate, to secure the King-

h

ie

te

ur

ie

Γ+

11 k

ie

m (-)

eyhh yei-

e

Kingdom of Valencia; and, That fince the King thought Conquest possible in the present case, his Majesty cou'd not complain of his Lordship's motions, however rash they might appear. His Lordship therefore was resolv'd never to re-pass the Ebro, without politive orders from the King: and explain'd himself very fully upon that subject to his Majesty, in the following Letter. and to storage a cold liver harm techts.

YOUR WHICH COPULL VERNELIES ON

Alle State of the College of the object of t nomi svilat granavir nem amekon was an a state of the second was were the second of the se

Patrict alternation of a seed to the land of the seed to be a seed to de veres de circumfan water to Q to be

A Letter from the Earl of Peterborow to the King of Spain.

o respans the Ebra, inich.

171536

In your last Letter would give me Courage, had I more Enemies to deal with: you promise me, Sir, to conside in me, and assure me of your Esteem and Friendship. It is too much, the recompence is too great; but I desire your Majesty to believe, that I will do all in my Power, not to be wholly unworthy of your Favours. There is nothing more true, than that I most certainly desire some Credit with your Majesty; but I take God to witness, it is for no private Interest, and I have only wished for it to be able to serve you; it is your Establishment, that I desire above all things.

publication on Fair is

Your

de

de

di If

it

Your Majesty has confer'd particular Honours upon me, which I can't deferve. But, Sir, both the English Minister and my self have apprehended, we have had little share in your Councils. If our Advices had been approv'd; if your Majesty had trusted us in the management of your Troops, they had been now in a condition to have oppos'd your Enemies: If your Majesty had permitted me to have March'd into the Kingdom of Valencia, when I so earnestly desired it, without making me stay under pretence of the March of Imaginary Troops: If your Majesty would have believ'd me upon that occasion, your Majesty probably had not only had at this time a Vice-Roy of Valencia, but the Kingdom.

With what I have, I march strait to Valencia. I can take no other Meafures, leaving the rest to Providence. Your Majesty has made me pass the Ebro, with politive Orders for the relief of this Kingdom; it is but reasonable that your Majesty give me the like Orders to repais that River, when the Succouring of Catalonia requites it. If the Time lost (so much against

234 Campagne of Valencia. against my Inclination exposes me to a Sacrifice, at least I will perish with Honour, and as a Man deserving a better Pate. Conneils, it our rule had heller Akale the arth. Peterboson. For store of the s tyes of Walnutage insectand things HE The Holling discuss for Cof dien by the mine de late of the here are first that say bone so Props to he would flance would have This resolution, taken by the in the Change function of the tower the cheesed of the powers Georgial Contract of the Association of the Contract of the Co io didnoi i an properti astrono kunt on properti de como de constante The Olders to crass that River of the Caralant River of the Caralant River of the Control of the River of the Control of the River of t agaigth

At the same time his Lordthip fent again orders to the thousand Spanish Foot and three hundred Horse to enter into Valencia; and in case his Majesty shou'd again remand them to Larida, after having taken such a march from thence to the borders of Valencia, his Lordship had sent positive orders for Coll. Wills, to march immediately with an equal number of Horse and Foot to his affiftance.

This resolution, taken by the Earl of Peterborow, produc'd the defir'd effect, and orders were fent to the Spanish forces to follow the direction of the English General: fince it appear'd, that his Lordship was retolv'd otherwife to have an equal number of English out of the same place, to which these Spanish Troops were to return. In the mean while, the

my

my With a party of Horse: the word won't be thought improperly us'd; fince the Enemy march'd twenty leagues with the same precipitation, as they fled from St. Mattheo; and were (by the same artifices us'd to make them raise the Siege) persuaded, that they were follow'd by considerable Forces.

It may easily be imagin'd, what rest a Party cou'd have, that was employ'd in such a design, and appear'd now one side, now on the other, to give alarms by day and night to the Enemy: and what satigues a General underwent, who was oblig'd to lead them in Person every step, and was perpetually buse in contriving those artissices and stratagems, by which alone the enterprize cou'd succeed. To enter into all the the particulars of this action, wou'd be to make it almost incredible; I shall only relate one passage, which will give us a just idea of the whole.

After several days march, the Enemies whole Army came to a place call'd Nules, within three days march of Valentia, and one from Castillon de la Plana, which was a Town populous, rich, well affected, the in the Engmies hands, and abounding in Horses, Wales was the most diff affected Town in all the King dom to the Interests of King Charles, and fortify'd with the most regular towers, with the best malls, and in the best repair. Is was necessary to drive the Enemy from this place, and, if possible, to possess Nules, and some other little walled Towns, which coor and arise Hove plan ver'd 238 Campagne of Valencia. ver'd Castillon, Such as Villa Real.

Burriana &c. Similar of School

The Enemy march'd away from Nules, and left a thousand of the Towns-People well armid in it. There was little hopes, that his Lordship should gain admittance there: but the Enemy having the day before, partly by force, partly by treaty, got into Villa Reals and under pretence of their relistance, put them all to the Sword; his Lordship flatterd himself that Terror, might prevail on the inhabitants of Miles, and took a resolution as bold as fortunate. He rode in Person with his Party of Horse pp to the Gates of the Town, under the thot of all their Musquets, and required them immed diately to fend him out their chief Magistrate or a Priest, if they wou'd avoid being put to the 1

H

B

at

A

th

B

A

0

239 the Sword without mercy; as foon as the Artillery or Miners could make a breach Some Prichts, who knew the Earl of Paerberow, came out; my Lord to improve their frights, allowd return with an answer. The Gittes were immediately open d: and here the Earl of Peterborow begun to form that Cavalry, Which fecur'd the Kingdom of Palentia, and contributed to fave Biereclona; taking mear 200 Horse in this place, where the Enemy an hour before had 3000 men After this action, which fore'd the Duke of Anjou's Troops to a Record march the fame day, to get further from fo terrible un Bremy, his Lordship made a Monte turn, und came to Cafillon de Di Plant & Loud w Street & man opqualignia have a rocky rapid

English

In this confiderable Town and some of the adjacent Places, his Lordship procur'd and bought near 800 Horses, under the Enemies nose: persuading the whole Country, that his Army was now following the Fnemy, and driving them out of the Country, and that fome of his Troops would march back to take pofsession of the Horses, he had now provided. The dispatch the perfuations, the arts us'd upon this prection, are not to be conceived the whole had at that very time a Romantick Air, tho' every particular was before adjusted and prepar'd by his Lordship!

No surprize, I believe was equal to that of the Officers and Soldiers of Collegel Pierce's Regiment; who had orders to march from Vinaros, where they were sent with the rest of the 900

English

Oro

fill

by

wer

boro

on hav

plin

wifl

and ther

ract

repult

in

they (hip mon ving the (

the Gen

ing 1

English Infantry, to a place call'd Oropesa, four leagues from Casillon de la Plana. In this place by ten in the morning, they were met by the Earl of Peterborowy in a plain just bordering on the Town. His Lordship having made a review, was complimenting the Regiment, and wishing that he had but Horses and Acoutrements, to try whether a Corps of so good a character would maintain the like reputation upon fuch a change. It is not to be doubted, that they concurr'd with his Lordhip in his wishes; little expecting the execution of them in a moment, But his Lordship has ving order'd his Secretary to give the Commissions already prepar'd, the Officers at last believ'd the General in earnest, when turning to the edge of the Hill, they men faw faw eight bodies of Horse drawn up separately, and found them all ready accourred. thele there were three good Hotfee for each Captain, two for each Lieutenant, and one for the Cornet. My Lord left to the Field-Officers the choice of their Troops, the other Captains drew Lots; and immediately they all mounted and marched to the Quarters, appointed for them.

The like care the Earl of Prterborow had taken for the difmounted English and Spanish Dragoons, having in Barks brought Saddles, Arms and Accourrements to the nearest place on the Sea-side in eight or nine days, when at the same time his Lordship was in continual motion, and had driven the Enemy twenty leagues before him. His Lordthip having by this means from two

two

to a ters

whi

abor

whe

ed 1

non. from prop

mean

and that in th

to I

COMM

force

Cou

Secre

pond

he w

Lord

for 7

teran

Campagne of Valencia. two hundred, encreas'd his Horse to a thousand, left them in quarters in little walled Towns, which were well affected, all about Castillon de la Plana, and where they could not be infulted by the Enemy without Cannon. He gave orders for marches from place to place, with the proper cautions and by means confirm'd the Country, and the Enemy in the belief, that we had a confiderable body in those parts: he writ Letters to Valencia, promising them to come to their relief, and foon to force the Enemy out of the Country. And left orders to his Secretaries to continue a correspondence with that place, as if he were in those parts, tho' his Lordhip immediately took Post for Tertofe leislie Hew to red mon

R 2 The

The reason of his Lordship's going thither, was to see whether the King had been prevail'd with to let the Troops first designed march, or to hear how near Coll. Wills might be come to Tortosa, in case the Spanish Regiments continued under contrary orders. When his Lordship came to Vinares, he found that the Spanish Troops had made a days march into Valencia, and that some of the Militia of Catalonia and Valencia were likewife come to their rendezvouz. With these Troops thus affembled the Earl of Peterborow immediately march'd with a design to relieve Valencia, and secure that Kingdom against an Enemy, who had (after all his Lordship could do) double the number of well-disciplin'd and veteran Ine har my wea tim hav he I of a cho tern ter Fo

who qual if t chie

with intel impo Lord

nera H

forw St. 1

Campagne of Valencia. 245 teran Troops, both in Horse and Foot.

The Earl of Peterborow could hardly expect to deceive an Enemy, and to disguise his own weakness, for so considerable a time, as was necessary; but having nothing else to trust to, he happily succeeded by the help of a few English Dragoons well chosen, and some sober Subalterns well instructed, together with the People of the Country, who, of all Men, are the best qualified for such a purpose. And if the great art of War seems chiefly to confift in gaining true intelligence, and at the same time imposing upon the Enemy, his Lordship had this part of a General in perfection.

e

a

S

d

i,

.

n

He sent at once twenty Spies forwards into the Country from St. Mattheo, knowing the Route R 2 the

t

D

O

tl

S

Pite

an

of

CO

an H

th

In

th

try

the Enemy must take; appointing them the places from whence, and the time when they should bring in to the General the pretended Intelligences. It were too tedious to relate all the feveral pretences and directions, tho' my Lord has them all in writing. The Spies upon the fecond days march of the Enemy were very fuccessful, and oblig'd the Army to a march in the night. The Spaniards employ'd by my Lord inform'd the Conde de las Torres of a confiderable force, that were upon his left, and iomewhat before him; which, as he told him, certainly defigned to take some passes, which might prevent his entrance into the plains which lead to Valencia, and that there were English Troops among them. This the Spanish General thinking impossible, ble, the Spy offer'd to give any two or three Officers he pleas'd to appoint, the fatisfaction of feeing, what he affirm'd. Upon this, two Officers in the Countryhabit, went along with him to a place, where, pretending to alight and refresh themselves, they were fiezed by ten English Dragoons, that were posted there on purpole, and had marched in the Mountains all night with the Spies. The Spaniards thus furpriz'd and feiz'd, the Spy pretended the Guard was drunk; and the Officers seeing a couple of Dragoons lying along in that condition, slipp'd into the Stable, and took three of the Dragoon Horses with their accoutrements; this was enough to confirm the Intelligence, and to gain credit to the Spy; Officers of this Country never failing, to mag-R 4 mine

d

le

d

0

a, be

nifie their dangers and escapes. Sometimes the Dragoons were brought Prisoners, by consent, into their Camp by Country-People, seeming in their Interest. By such artful means, and by such diligent application, a little body of Men, about twelve or thirteen hundred Horse, and two thousand Foot, were brought to join in the neighbourhood of Cassillon de la Plana.

The time necessary to get these Forces together with some of the Militia, gave the Enemy leifure, and the opportunity of hindring Provisions from coming into Valencia: we may easily conceive how the nearness of so powerful an Enemy frighted a People, naturally very fearful: at least we may frame a true notion of their apprehensions, from the following Letters they sent to his Lordship.

Most

fince your Excellency has our Relief on

Most Excellent Sir, shotwoods willing

TX7E acknowledge the highest obli-Vogation, we owe your Excellency, for the great Design you have in Hand, to favour and fuccour us in fuch preffing Circumstances of having the Enemy fo near this City, executing those Hostilities, which we have in other Letters represented and repeated to your Excellency: and that we can only expect our Redemption from your powerful Assistance; which must be afforded with that Diligence, the imminent Danger we are in requires. Wherefore we beg once more, that your Excellency will be pleas'd to haften your Marches, without employing your Troops to any other Services than our Succour, fince it admits of no delay; for the Enemy have cut away the Water which came to our Mills, and this Morning they have prevented, that not one drop of Water comes to the Town, which will reduce us to the utmost Extremities, there being a great want of Meal; we pray therefore with the utmost Respect and Submission, that your Excellency will not fuffer this City to be loft, fince your Excellency has our Relief in your Power alone; which we shall eternally acknowledge, and ever indeavour to promoteyour Excellencies Service, as a Token of our Gratitude and and pun-Aual Obsequiousness.

God preferve your Excellencies Perfon many Years in its greatest Splendor.

aleria: avad sa

Valencia fan: the The Jurats, Racional, & 26th, 1706. Syndich of the City of Valencia.

> Vicent Ramon Secretary. cer we are in recommen. Whereby calcuts of nerdoley; for the Laundy lave out away site water which cares to note Mills, and this Morning they have prevented, the not one earn or

Killion temploving your Troops to all her Levices and hoor Succourt face be pleased to harled your March s.

allegal, ruoverula e erom apported sice comes to the Lower, which applied luce us to the present Exterment.

nominal data arotately p. et and Submission, char vour Exce

AM will not lotterent City to be fall

Moft Excellent Sir,

D Eing to answer two Letters I have receiv'd from your Excellency, of the 21st and 24th Instant in the first place I am to give your Excellency repeated thanks for your Favours, and am always at your Service with all possible Submission: and next I am to acquaint you, that the Enemy have left Moncada, and are remov'd to Torrente, coming nearer to us, and intirely invefting us; yesterday they cut away the Water of a Mill in this Town, and we having no Horse to cover the Country, the Enemy do every thing they please: To this Missortune may be added the cruel Ho-Itilities they commit in the Country: After they have rais'd heavy Contributions, after they have drawn all their Provisions from them, they abuse their Persons, take away their Wives, cut down the Trees, destroy the Fields, and burn their Houses, after having Pillag'd em without any diffinction, even to Churches. These and other execrable Hostilities afflict us not a little, and may shake even the best and most loyal Subjects His Majesty has, apprehending the like usage, if they see those depravations continuing in their Neighbourhood, without being in condition, (as we are not at present) to remove them from us: and as the number of the ill affected increases every Day, and your Excellencies arrival is delay'd, which they have so often believ'd, and as often been deceiv'd in, the common People begin to despair, and the rumour is spread abroad, that your Excellency nor your Troops ever design to come, and that General Ramos and my self have deluded the People.

This mortifies us not a little, who know your Excellencies Inclinations and Defires; but I must venture to say, that if your Excellency was but here in Perfon without your Troops, it would exceedingly animate every Man, who tho' they are now Dispirited by those Cruelties I have mention'd, and the Considerations of their being expos'd to surther Invasions without a sufficient Defence, yet show a Love and Affection to our Monarch, which is not to be express'd, and repose a considence in your Excellency, which is incredible.

For these Reasons I heartily beg of your Excellency with all Submission and

Since-

Sincerity, in my own Name, and that of all thoseaflicted Subjects, be pleas'd to deliver and protect us from these great Tribulations, using all imaginable diligence, that you may at the same time give an universal Consolation, and establish the Preservation of this City and Kingdom, which hath no other nor greater Hopes than in your Excellency, from whose Zeal and Compassion I promife my felf the utmost compliance.

God preserve your Excellency the many Years I defire and have need of.

Al the Officers were of opinion, time his Lordillip must come to way was prictical

Line Deschiftant Valencia fan. the Cardona.

viA on unived tred goft the no Miners, no preparahere, bendes dumerous hibas tes all army and zea one for Dike of Aspe, there was a Los of pillo language boog eight dundred men near half of The en wis 254 Campagna of Valencia.

The Duke of Arcos, who then commanded, kept the main of his Army to the right of Valencia, towards a place call'd Torrente: but fent Brigadier Mahoni with a detachment of Horse to secure the strongest pass in the Country, over a River, which was just under the Walls of Molviedro, the ancient Sagantum, so famous in the Roman History. This place, which is about four Leagues distant from Valencia, my Lord must pals; for no other way was practicable. All the Officers were of opinion, That his Lordship must come to a full stop here, having no Artillery, no Miners, no preparations to take a walled Town; where, besides numerous Inhabitants, all arm'd and zealous for the Duke of Anjou, there was a very good General-Officer, and eight hundred men, near half of them them being Mahoni's Regiment of Irif Dragoons. What made our circumstances the more defperate in appearance, this place was for us most unfortunately situated; because after passing the River, there was a plain of two leagues to a Carthufian Convent, where the Enemy to all advantage might make use of their Horse, which were excellent, and double in number. vd 1100

The Barl of Peterborow gave the Officers hopes, that what he could not do by force, he did not fear but to compais by Art: and told them, That if he could but prevail to get Mahoni to come out to speak with him, he was almost confident of getting immediate possession of the Town, and the opportunity of passing the Plains without opposition. 199 STOWN

- NOTHER

n

ol

fa

po

da

of

W

16

Molviedro lies about a league from the Sea, the greatest part of the Town upon a flat, except, the lide rising towards the Castle, which stands on a high Hill. On the right runs a long ridge of Mountains jobut a little above Cannon-shot from the place, there is, towards the Country, a little round Hill, distinct by it felf: our Troops came towards the Town by a great descent; and the way towards the pass was behind the round rifing ground, turning short on the left to the Riverd shauman of the rest

The place of the interview intended by his Lordship, was on the side of this little rising ground next Molviedro; behind which my Lord had stolen some of his Troops towards the pass, which were come in view of the Town: the rest were at the same time march-marching on purpose to make a shew, and coming down the Hills, the Soldiers edging as it were the Country People on that side, where they could be seen. The sew Field-pieces we had were disposed to the like advantage; and every thing was set in a fort of perspective to the place of the Interview.

The Scene being thus prepard, the Earl of Peterborow sent an Officer and Trumpet into the Town to Mahoni, to let him know, That it should not be his fault, if the Country were exposed to unnecessary hardships and rume, it being the Interest of both sides to prevent it, since each had a chance to be master of it. That, besides, he should be glad to have an interview with a Country-man of so good a Reputation, That such a congestion of the sentence.

ference could have no ill confequence, and might have fome good; and that he was ready to meet him with ten or twelve Horse, in any convenient place betwixt his troops and the Town. My Lord had the more hopes of succeeding in this project, since, that besides in these Conferences every body prefumes to make his own advantage, he thought it might be reasonable enough that Mahani shou'd be glad of a Capitulation, and an opportupity to join his Horse with that of the Duke of Arcas, in order to prevent our passing the Plains towards the Cartbusian Convent.

The Conde do las Torres, the best Officer in Spain, (but by many thought no Enemy to the House of Auftria) was luckily recall'd, upon pretended faults found in his Conduct, in relation to the ference

fiege fiege Ear van

nera Ma Solo

wit WOI Ear Lo ty; any cer mi but in

rel Pe ly,

an

Br F fiege of St. Mattheo: so that the Earl of Peterborow met an advantage he well improved, a General just come to an Army, a Man of great Quality, but no Soldier of service.

Mahoni return'd an Officer with this compliment, That he would immediately wait upon the Earl of Peterborose, upon his Lordship's parole for his security; being desirous to shew him any proper respect, and to concert measures with him that might prevent any disorders, but those which were inevitable in War. This Gentleman being related to the late Countess of Peterborose of the Tomond Family, was the more inclined to pay any civility to his Lordship.

He came, with some of the principal Officers of the Spanish Forces, to the place where his

Dan

S 2 Lord-

Lordship receiv'd him, as the most proper to make an advantagious shew of his strength and after he was entertain'd upon a Subject which had no effect, my Lord's second design was more successful. It was not improper for my Lord to offer the most preffing motives to encline him to take part with King Charles III. and to support them with the greatest offers; which were refus'd upon the Principles of Honour, and the impossibility of leaving a service to which he was engag'd, for any advantages. But as all past with great Com-pliments, the Earl of Peterborow, to shew how fensible he was of his confidence in coming to him , told him, That he was willing to return his marks of Esteem, with what he conceiv'd he would be well pleafed with, and

and with yes

h: ot w

is kı

de ha

m if

cos Pl

vi

fr In

po

ve

and Iwhich might prevent like wife some unavoidable Cruelties very much against his Inclination. The Spaniards, says he, have us'd such severities and cruelties at Villa Real, as will oblige me to retaliate. I am willing to spare a Town, that is under your Protection: I know you cannot pretend to defend it with the Horse you have; which will be so much more useful in another place, 'if join'd with the Duke of Arcos to obstruct my passing the Plains of Valencia. I am confident, you will foon quit Molwiedro; which I can as little prevent, as you can hinder me from taking the Town. Inhabitants then must be expos'd to the utmost Miseries; and I can no otherwise prevent it, but by being ty'd by a Capitulation; which I am willing to give you, if I had the pretence of the immediate furrender of the place this very night. Some cales are so apparent, that I need not diffem-ble: I know you will immediately send to the Duke of Arces to march to the Carthufian Convent, and meet him there with the body of Horse under your Command. My Lord, with a pretended frankness offer'd him, if he pleas'd, to let him fee his Troops, and the Artillery which he had; and besides told him what he could bring from the Sea.

Mahoni feem'd almost to confels, that his part was to strengthen the Duke of Arcos with his Horse, and laughing, said to my Lord, I may say so to your Lordthip; who is sensible of it, but cannot prevent it. The Brigadier how-

o, a

2 a

a

. 0

V

ta f

C

W

d

be

h

ti

W

th

h

however feem'd to be very well pleas'd with my Lord's openness, and told his Lordship, he would go back into the Town, and send an answer in half an hour. The Capitulation was agreed upon, and the answer came by the chief of the Spanish Officers: with whom my Lord had occasion to talk and to feel his Pusse, but finding no probability of prevailing on him to change sides, he contriv'd all he could (and not without success) to give him jealousies of Mahoni.

-

n

y

n

y

n

3.

1+

1-

is

y i-

1

Mahoni, (who of his fide managed this matter with a great deal of Dexterity, and very much like an Officer, had his advices been followed) in his Capitulation had agreed not to quit the place till about one at night, neither was the Earl of Peterborow to pass the River, till that hour. This was to get time for the Duke of Areas to have made the march to the Plains, and the Brigadier allow'd himself the time before day break to have gain'd the same Post. But the Earl of Peterborow fo encreas'd the jealousy betwixt the Spanish Officers and Mahomi, that the latter was forc'd to send to my Lord, to let him know, that his Lordship was oblig'd in honour to the most sincere and punctual compliance with his Capitulation, and confess'd to him that he was in danger from the Spanish Troops, even for his Person, if there were not the greatest affurances and evidences given of the performance of his Wordwoller and

S 4

was

I am fatisfied nothing would have engaged the Earl of Peterborow to the least breach of faith; nor could any consideration have

ju-

Campagne of Valencia. justified his Lordship in going over the pass of the River, till the appointed time; the Enemy upon agreement having withdrawn their Dragoons, which defended the Intrenchments on the other fide. But my Lord having over-heard the neighing of Horses in the night, took it for granted, that some part of the Troops had evacuated the Town; and that if the noise of Firing was heard, it might cause a jealousie, that they were attack'd; and for produce the defir'd effects of his plot upon the Duke of Arcos, if any of the Spanish Officers should arrive in the Énemies Camp, persuaded of an ill defign in Mahoni. Upon this, my Lord order'd a party of Men a little up the River, with directions to make discharges, that might resemble 411

An Engagement of small parties.

Mahom sent immediately to my Lord to let him know, that whatever Umbrage was given, he depended upon his word, and would never believe, there could be of his fide any foul play.

Mahoni was so pressed, that his immediate march, but his aim was not to move till one a Clock, to give time to the Duke of Arcos; and the point my Lord was labouring, was to improve the suspicions and jealousies of the Spaniards. He thought the Message from Maboni gave him a good occasion; and therefore fent back an Officer with this feeming compliment, which succeeded to his wish, and entirely accomplished what he aim'd at. div lunges, ... titat might telephil

STE

My Lord beg'd of Mahoni, to consent, that for his Security from any Accident, he might order a Regiment of Dragoons to pass the River, and wait the hour appointed, under the walls of the town; that his own Officers might accompany them, and send them to the proper place; his Lordship having order'd two thirds of the Officers to come into the town, and put themselves into his hands, as Hostages for the exact and honourable performance of all Articles.

Upon the march of these troops towards the town, most of the Spanish Officers, with the detachments they commanded, marched separately towards the Duke of Arcos; and some lest their men, to give their General an account of what had past.

My

My Lord, as his Officers conceiv'd, had two insuperable difficulties: the one, to get possesfion of Molviedro, and secure the pass on the River; the other, to pass the two leagues of the Plains, which were betwixt Molviedro and Valencia, before so good and so strong a body of Horse. My Lord was in hopes, if he fucceeded in one, to compais the other: and to that end, as foon as he found the treaty in a fair way, he chose two Irish Dragoons out of Zinzendorf's Regiment, which he well instructed and well paid, and fent immediately as Deferters to the Duke of Arcas. He promised to make them Officers, if they succeeded: which was punctually made good to one, who well had deferv'd it; the other dying foon after his an account of what had panutar

They were to discover to the Duke of Arcos, That being hid under the rocks of the hill. where they were drinking a Glass of Wine, they had hear'd all the discourse betwixt the Earl and Mahoni! that they saw five thoufand Piffoles delivered, and, that Mahoni was to be a Major-General upon the English and Spanish Establishment, and to command a body of ten thousand Irish Catholicks, which were raising for the fervice of King Charles. They agreed with the Duke of Arcos to have no reward, if he were not foon made fenfible of the truth of what they said, by Mabom himself. Since they were perfunded that he would doon fend to engage the Duke of Arcos, to march immediately with the whole Army towards the Carthusian Convent, under pretence P, Aout of joining with his Horse, in order to prevent the Earl of Paterborow from passing the Plains of Molviedro: but that, whereas this march must be made in the night, all matters were so agreed and contriv'd betwixt the Earl and Mahoni, and the troops so placed, that he must fall into the ambushes designed, and run great hazards of an entire deseat.

270 Campagne of Valencia.

It fell out, that soon after these Spies had given this account to the Duke of Arcos, Mahoni's Aid de Camp, arriv'd with Proposals exactly to the same purpose; the Spanish General (whose suspicions were confirmed by the jealousies, the Earl of Peterborow had rais'd, in several of the Spanish Officers, that were come from Molviedro, to him) instead of complying with the immediate, march proposed by Mahoni, removed moved his Camp quite the contrary way. Mahoni with his horse expected the whole Army at the Carthusian Convent, till the approach of the Earl of Peterbaroso made him retire to the Duke of Arcos's Camp: as soon as he arriv'd, he was secur'd by that General, and sent to Madrid: I must add here, that when Mahoni came to tell his Story at Court, he was made a Major-General, and the Duke of Arcos was recalled.

Thus you have the account of perhaps as remarkable an Action as ever happen'd; a whole Kingdom gain'd with fuch inferior Forces, almost without any, and without a blow. His Lordship passed the Plains, without the fight of an Enemy, to the Cartbusian Convent; after which he was secure of entring into Valent three

Campaghe of Valencia?

cia, without the possibility of opcontrary way. Mabe. noisiled

What a reception my Lord met with there, may be guess'd by the extremities they were in I will only lay, perhaps nothing was ever equal to this universal joy it was all extravagant tumultuous Transport. Whole bodies of Priests and Fryars, in their feveral habits, were Regimented, and drawn up under Arms to receive him , and his Lordhip never fail'd to return the highest civilities to, and improve his Inteperhaps as unional of the wife first

After this unexpected entry into Valencia, when most were full of thoughts of Triumphand Conquest, thy Lord was very fenfible of his almost desperate condition? diwhich however was to be diffembled to the Valencians. His Lordhip had little above 7 : 630 three fic Ei th th of las wi the gra

Ba

vio

thij

fel,

Sie

Car,

three thousand Men in Walencia, where there was neither provifions for a Siege, nor Powder to make any defence withal; the Enemy were seven thousand near the Town; there were four thousand more Castillians at Frente de Hignera, within it g leagues of it, coming to join the Conde de las Torres, who was now return'd with Maboni to the Command of the Army. At the fame time the Marshal de Tesse was with ten thousand Menat Madrid, with intentions to come to beliege Ve lencia; which must have presently submitted, and sav'd him the didgrace he met with foon after at Barcelona: And my Lord had advice of fixteen 24 Pounders being thip'd at Alicant in a Genoese Velfel, in order to be brought for the Siege of Valencia in militare entit to pais and repuls the River Xu-

ľ

274 Campagne of Valencia.

. (1

To prevent the Storm that threaten'd Valencia, it was necessary, as well to disperse the four thousand Men at Fuente de Higuera, before they could join the main Army, as to take from the Enemy the Artillery and Ammunition, with which they intended to carry on their Siege, and which was wanting to make a defence in Valencia. of The Earl of Paterborounfound the happy methods to disappoint the Enemy, in intercepting the 16 battering pieces of their Brass Cannon with all wartike Stores in proportion. The other attempt was equally requifite, but more difficult: fince the Conde de las Torres was betwixt the Troops, that were come from Caft. ile, and the Earl of Peterborores; and my Lord's Forces, defign'd against this Castilian reinforcement, were to pass and repass the River Xucar, it

23 ır

e-

ie

ie

1-

did

e-

of

e-

in

e-ıll

ne

i-

ne

he

A-

d ılt

re

u-

r, ear near the Enemies Army, However the Valencians were witnesses of his Lordships Zeal, Diligence, and Success: and they hardly knew their Danger, brill they faw fix hundred of the Castilians brought into their City; the whole body of them being beaten beyond the Conde de las Torres's Army at Fuente de Higuera, by four hundred of our Horse and eight hundred Foot, which pass'd in the night near three thouand Horse of the Enemy, and return'd back in fafety with their prisoners to Valencia. -91The Conde de las Torres, after this despairing of any success against Valencia, form'd a defign upon Alcira and Sueca; two Lowns upon the River Xucar, about five leagues from Valencia. Upon taking these places, the bridge over the River at Culles rot

Power, and Valencia would have been deprived of two thirds of the Provisions, with which it used to be supplied. So perfect intelligence the Earl of Peterborow had of the Enemies motions and designs, so that the shing some Men into Succas, and sent an Officer to Alcira, who prevents ed the Enemy only by shalf an hour, so the bound algorithm.

Alerra about five hundred English, and about fix hundred Spanish Foot, and four hundred Spanish Horse; and soon after laid a defign, which must unavoidably have given the Conde de las Torres's Army an entire deseat, had it not fail'd merely by the scandalous Cowardice of the Spaniards. For the Conde, having his body divided for conveniency of Quarters, and not not apprehending to be attackid at five leagues distance from Helencia, by a force so much inferiors My Lord order'd the Spanish detachment of fix hundred Foot and four hundred Horfe, to march in the night to furprize one of their Quarters, and at the fame time march'd with fome Troops himself: they had about two Englifb miles to march, and my Lord tifteen. The march on both fides was perform'd with fo much fecrefie, that the Enemy had not the least notice of it, tillgour Troops were very near; but an accidental party of twenty Horse, frighted all the Spanis body of a thousand, who were put into such disorder, that they killed many of their own men, in running back to the place from whence they came. However, the Earl of Peterberow advanced within a mile sore les capable of leiving him, ce when be the Enemies Army, and retreated five leagues without the least-loss of sorois voluments

My Lord order'd the Spanifo detooTHUS wel have run thro'a Campagne, which perhaps, intregard too the methods that were taken, and the fuccess that attended them, has not its Parallel in any history's LAnd if the World has a mind to be fatished, why his Lordhip was formuch favour'd by Fontune, it was because he never depended on here or upon other people: And ib believe he is the onbuGeneral, who can fay, That in toto Campagnes he scarce ever feat a Party of thirty horse upon anylaction, without going in Perfor with them. Happy was it for himand the publick, that his confithtion could allow him to be fo servineable to himself in a Country, where fometimes his Officers were less capable of serving him, when when there was occasion for the Language, tho' they all made him large amends with their Swords. And I must here do that justice to out Gallant Country-men, as to fay, That perhaps there never was a service, where Officers endur'd more fatigues and hardships, or gave greater proofs of Spirit, Resolution, and Courage, than they did, from the fortunate taking of Barcelona, to the fatal Battle of Almanfa.

The bounds I have fet to my felf in these short Memoirs, won't let me follow his Lordship further in the glorious progress of his Arms: 'tis a scene indeed of such a fruitful and agreeable variety, as wou'd afford great pleasure to me, and no less entertainment to the Reader. Nor cou'd I deny my felf the fatisfaction of dwelling lon280 Campagnelof Valencia.

had I not reason to expect, that some abler Pen will deliver down to Posterity, a History of Revolutions so extraordinary, and so much for the honour of the English Nation.

FINIS.

did, from the fortt

Just Publish'd,

A Journey from Aleppo to Jerusalem at Easter, A. D. 1697. the second Edition. In which the Corrections and Additions which were sent by the Author after the Book was Printed off, are inferred in the Body of the Book, in their proper places. By Hen. Maundrell, D. B. late Fellow of Exeser College, Oxon, and Chaplain to the Factory at Aleppo. Oxford, Printed at the Theater, and for Jonah Bowyer, at the Rose in Ladgate-street near St. Paul's Church, 1708. Price 3 s. 6 d.

Note, There's a small number Printed on large Paper for such Gentlemen as are Curious, Price 5 s.